MacDONALD IS WINNER

Legal Battle Is Being Waged For Mrs. Ruth Judd

COUNSEL WILL DEMAND HEARING

Wounded Alleged Slayer In Hospital Pleads For Lawyers To Do Something

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—A legal battle was in prospect today to prevent, or at least delay, the return of Winnie Ruth Judd to Phoenix, Arizona, where she killed Agnes Leroi and Hedwig Samuelson and stuffed their bodies in two trunks and a suitcase before shipping them to Los Angeles.

While Sheriff J. F. McFadden of Phoenix was speeding to this city today, armed with extradition papers, Mrs. Judd's attorneys made ready to challenge the "legal sufficiency" of the papers signed by Governor James Rolph Jr., in San Francisco.

Will Demand Hearing.

Charles Craddick, associated in Mrs. Judd's defense, announced he will demand a hearing in a California court to test the validity of the extradition papers. Sheriff McFadden was expected to arrive with the documents today.

In the hospital ward of the county jail Mrs. Judd met the news of the issuance of extradition papers with an outbreak of grief. While jail attendants tried to calm her down, the confessed woman-slayer wept and shouted hysterically.

"Oh, isn't there something my lawyers can do?" she sobbed. "Hasn't it been proved that I'm sick with active tuberculosis?"

Officials Active.

Arizona authorities hope to have the woman on the way back to Phoenix within a day or two, but the resistance of her lawyers may defer the return trip.

The extradition papers accuse Mrs. Judd specifically of the murder of Mrs. Leroi, regarded by Arizona officials as a definite case of premeditated killing.

Fall Reunion Of Consistory Starts Today

Many Members And Candidates Coming From Distant Points

With the annual fall reunion of the New Castle Consistory opening this afternoon, a number of visitors, members and candidates are expected present from distant outlying points in the district, Commander-in-Chief Walter S. Reyolds stated this morning.

The Cathedral will be a scene of much activity during the next three days, as the various degress are exemplified and conferred.

Vistors are arriving and registering this morning, the degree work opening this afternoon.

The reunion will culminate in the usual dinner party on Friday evening, which will be the gala social event of the gathering this year and indications point to a large attendance. Two tables will be served, registration closing today by by letter. Registrations will be accepted at the Cathedral tomorrow, however.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Callahan and daughter, Alberta, Fairfield avenue, will leave the city Thursday night for a visit of several days in New York. They spent yesterday in Cleveland.

Butler 'Mystery Man' Quickly Identified As New Castle Resident

After four weeks of mystery as to his identity, the man who has been in the Butler Memorial hospital with a fractured skull following an automobile accident, has been identified as John Jones of 1011 West North street this city. He was identified on Tuesday by his wife and sisters, and later in the evening by two New Castle men who went over to Butler, not knowing that Mrs. Jones had been there.

On October 2, Mr. Jones left home seeking work. On the highway near Butler he was struck by the automobile of Rev. Earl Sample of New Bethlehem and severely injured. Examination at the hospital revealed the fact that his skull was fractured and for days he was unconscious.

Mind Wanders

Upon regaining consciousness he could not give his name but after treatment in the hospital he said his name was Jack Jones of New Castle. Prior to that he had said that he was Jack Jones of Big Run and the postmaster of the village of Big Run came to Butler in an effort to identify him. His mention of Big Run probably came from the fact that he had once lived near the Big Run here.

While he is mending physically, Mr. Jones' mind is not clear yet. He recognized his wife but did not recognize his sisters. He imagines himself to be in New Castle and converses about the places he has been during the day.

The identification came about through the work of the Butler Eagle and the New Castle News. Hospital authorities think that his mind will clear up and it is hoped that he will be removed to New Castle in a short time.

WESTMORELAND PRODUCTS COMPANY PLANT STARTS OPERATION HERE TODAY

Mahoning Avenue Plant Is Placed In Operation —To Run Steady

New Machinery And New Processes Are In Use At Local Plant

After three months of intensive construction and installation of the most modern type of chemical washing, drying and grinding machinery, the plant of the Westmoreland Products Company on Mahoning avenue is being started in operation today.

The company manufactures red iron oxide and iron blues, and is extremely well located to conduct its business economically. Its raw material is obtained from the wastes of the Shenango works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, and the main market for its products are the red rubber manufacturers of Akron and the paint and glass manufacturers of Cleveland and Pittsburgh. The plant is expected to be kept in continuous operation even under present business conditions due to its advantageous geographical location.

As a result of a series of laboratory experiments carried on during the period of plant construction, basic patent applications have been filed in Washington, covering a new and cheaper process for the manufacture of copperas, the plant's raw material. There has also been developed an entirely new use for its finished product which should cre-

Relief Camps To Be Established

Governor Pinchot Announces Establishment Of Relief Camps In Various Sections

WILL BE PUT TO WORK ON ROADS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 28.—Relief camps where unemployed may find food and shelter and also be paid for their work will be established in certain sections of the state, Governor Gifford Pinchot today announced.

The governor said that the camps will be established as soon as it is possible but that until actually in existence it will be needless to make application for such employement.

According to the governor's plan the men at the camps will be engaged in road building work, using little machinery so that the largest possible number may be employed. Cost of operation of the camps and the wages will be paid from the motor fund.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 28.—Well, Tuesday was Navy Day. We celebrated it this year by lopping off its appropriations.

Wake up some morning with a war on our hands, then the mad rush will be on to build ships, give the big companies big bonuses to get 'em done quick, then we will have to go through that silk shirt buying period again.

England is a pretty wise old bird. She relinquished her world's financial supremacy, but she didn't reliquish any ships. Shows which she thinks is most valuable to a country.

Governor White Is Injured When Machine Upsets

Governor Of Ohio Suffers Fractured Collar-Bone Near Findlay, Ohio

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28.—Governor George White of Ohio today was confined to the executive mansion recovering from a fractured collar bone suffered when his automobile skidded off the highway and overturned in a ditch near Findlay, Ohio.

The governor accepted his misfortune calmly. He strolled about the corridors of the hospital at Findlay exhibiting no nervous tension and exchanged pleasantries with the physicians summoned to fit a sling for his arm.

Governor White later telephoned his family in Columbus of the accident and boarded a train for the capital city.

LOCKJAW VICTIM'S CONDITION IS FAIR AT HOSPITAL HERE

A bite on a finger by a raccoon which he had caught alive resulted in blood poisoning and eventually developed into lockjaw for Harry Davidson of Bessemer, a member of Troop F of this city.

Davidson was hunting in the vicinity of Bessemer recently. After the lockjaw developed he was taken to New Castle hospital, where attendants today said his condition was fair.

1000 Bushels Of Corn Are Husked In 120 Minutes

Seventy-Five Farmers Surprise Joseph Burton By Harvesting His Crop

BURTON SUFFERING FROM ACCIDENT

Could Not Husk His Own Corn So Friends And Neighbors Make Him Happy

All records for corn husking in Lawrence county were shattered yesterday when 75 farmers gathered at the home of Joseph Burton in Scott township at noon, and in just two hours and thirty minutes husked 1000 bushels of corn and hauled it into Burton's crib.

It was one of the finest exhibitions of community co-operation and helpfulness ever witnessed in Lawrence county. Mr. Burton's farm is located a short distance from Harlansburg. He has been particularly unfortunate of late. Last spring his barn, machinery and live stock, were destroyed by fire.

College Senior Ranks Highest In Carnegie Tests

Louise Adams, Westminster, One Of Three In Entire State

(Special To The News)

L. ADAMS

Miss Miller of the Carnegie Foundation is making a special study of the three yound ladies who made these high scores, and spent yesterday at Westminster talking with Miss Adams.

The tests upon which three girls in the state scored more than 600 were general culture tests dealing with art, music, philosophy, general science, literature, language, geography and history.

Miss Adams has been on the honor roll at Westminster, is interested in journalism, and has been active as an officer in Theta Upsilon sorority, a member of dramatic casts, a member of the debate team and a member of student committees and of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

RUMORS AGAIN CIRCULATING ON MARRIAGE

Europe is again buzzing with rumors that the Princess Maria, daughter of the king and queen of Italy, and Archduke Otto, claimant to the throne of Hungary, both above, are to wed. Such an alliance, it is pointed out, would strengthen materially Mussolini's position in the Balkans. A denial has been issued from Steenockerzeel castle, where Otto resides.

Premier Laval Will Report To French Council Of Ministers His Results

REFUSES COMMENT ON REPORT DETAILS

Desires To Discuss Agreement With Cabinet Before Making Statement

(International News Service)

ABOARD S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, EN ROUTE TO LE HAVRE, Oct. 28.—Premier Pierre Laval of France, returning to Paris from Washington today began drafting the report he will make to the French council of ministers on his conversations with President Hoover.

The Washington agreement that any further move for revision of German reparations payments or allied war debts to the United States in the form of an extension of the Hoover moratorium would have to be initiated in Europe was expected to be discussed in detail in the premier's report to the cabinet, but he declined today to give any hint as to the nature of his recommendations.

The premier would not add anything, however, to the public statements he made in Washington and New York until he has had an opportunity to discuss the results of the Hoover conference with his cabinet.

It is expected that several days will be required to finish the preliminary examination.

Washington Forsees New British Tariff As Election Result

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The landslide proportions of the conservatives' victory in yesterday's British elections deeply impressed Washington today. News of it was received with mixed feelings.

While there was a feeling of satisfaction over Britain's pronounced swing to the right, there was at the same time some apprehension over the policies, particularly tariff, which the new government probably will proceed to put into effect without delay.

Britain is one of America's best customers, and any British protective policy is bound to affect American trade to considerable extent. That England and her colonies will now proceed to erect tariff barriers to protect home industries, and to stimulate trade within the empire no one here has any doubt.

Cannot Be Gauged

The full effect of such a policy cannot at this time be gauged, officials said. It all depends upon the degree of protection which the new government considers necessary in the present turbulent economic conditions, and the manner of its application as applied to specified articles.

It is considered likely that the

AL CAPONE MAY START SERVING TIME AT ONCE

Denied Liberty On Bail Pending Appeal To Higher Court

May Decide It Is Better To Start Serving His Time At Once

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Al Capone, America's chief gangster, may stipulate to his adversary, the United States government, and willingly go to Leavenworth penitentiary, his lawyers indicated today.

But this capitulation would be only to avoid "wasting time" while his attorneys strive in the higher courts to win a reversal of the jury verdict finding the hoodlum boss guilty of defrauding the government out of his income tax.

The possibility that Capone may shortly ask to be taken to Leavenworth where he is under sentence to serve a ten-year term arose as a consequence of a ruling by the circuit court of appeals, denying the gangster his liberty on bail.

Must Stay In Jail.

The ruling, handed down yesterday, means that Capone must remain in the county jail here until his appeal from his conviction is ultimately disposed of, a matter of nearly two years if customary procedure is followed.

Thus, the appellate court's action in granting Capone's petition for a stay of sentence at the same time denying bail, is of no value to the convicted gangster's cause. Unless a court higher than the appellate orders Capone released on bail, he may voluntarily request to be sent to Leavenworth without further delay in order to receive credit on his sentence, should his appeal be denied.

Stage Set For Powers' Trial At Clarksburg

Opera House Leased By State For Holding Of Trial Of Modern "Bluebeard"

TRIAL WILL START LATE IN NOVEMBER

(International News Service)

CLARKSBURG, W. V., Oct. 28—Locale for the trial of Harry F. Powers, "bluebeard" slayer who plied his gruesome avocation through correspondence clubs, was definitely decided to day with leasing of the Moore Opera House here by Harrison county.

The theatre was leased for the trial because the old county courthouse has been torn down and the new structure is not yet completed. At first, county officials contemplated holding the trial in the federal building, but federal authorities decided press of spectators would be too great and would interfere with postal business.

Trial of Powers, it is indicated, will not get under way until late in November, after most of the pending criminal court cases are heard. The court term opens November 10.

Extortionists Held In Jail At Meadville

(International News Service)

MEADVILLE, Pa., Oct. 28.—Charles Walton, 21, and Albe Smith, also 21, of East Mead Township, were held in $2,000 bond today to await action of the courts in connection with an alleged attempt to extort $1,000 from A. I. Eldred, local merchant.

The youths were arrested by policemen who accompanied Eldred when he drove to a specified point on the Meadville-Titusville road last Monday night, as ordered to do by the extortioners under threat of having his store wrecked.

But instead of dropping a package containing $1,000 in currency, as the pair demanded, Eldred dropped a decoy. When the two youths halted their car at the spot and picked up the package a few moments later, police arrested them.

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Forging to victory on the crest of an anti-Socialist landslide, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald has won his dramatic battle for re-election to Parliament from his old constituency of Seaham Harbor, Durham, for years a rock-ribbed Labor stronghold.

It was a personal triumph for the Premier probably unequalled in his long and colorful career as politician and statesman.

Pittsburgh Depositors To Get Early Payment

Eighty Millions In Frozen Assets Will Be Made Available For Depositors

Efforts Will Be Made To Reopen Some Of Closed Banks In Near Future

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—A considerable part of the approximately eight million dollars in cash deposits, held in 14 closed local banks, will probably be available to depositors in the near future, receivers for the institutions indicated today.

Liquidation of frozen assets of the closed institutions, it was indicated, is proceeding at a favorable pace although no effort is being made to force liquidation of assets which might be adversely affected by sale under pressure.

Efforts to reopen some of the institutions were also reported in progress, with a petition for reopening of the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust company forwarded to Dr. William Gordon, State Secretary of Banking. One-third of the depositors of this institution pledged themselves not to make excessive withdrawals if the bank reopened.

Complete Plans For Hallowe'en

South Siders Arranging Final Plans For Hallowe'en Parade Thursday

MAY HAVE CONCERT FOLLOWING PARADE

According to the committees in charge the Hallowe'en celebration to take place Thursday night down the South Side and which is being sponsored by the South Side merchants will be one of the biggest event of its kind in the history of the city. Ivor V. Davis chairman announced today that final plans for the affair are being completed and will be announced early Thursday morning.

Prizes being awarded through the generosity of the South Side merchants which range from cash to groceries etc., are on display in a merchant's window and judging from the attraction the awards draw the South Side will be packed with mummers who hope to be among the fortunate to win a prize.

The different committees are working hard to complete all the plans so that the event will be a success in every detail. Plans to have a band concert following the parade are being arranged. Three or four bands will be present to add zest to the parade. Anthony Basile's South Side Board of Trade band, the George Washington and Croton school bands will furnish the tunes for the affair. The Ben Franklin junior high band may also be secured. Anthony Basile is in charge of the musical end of the affair.

The parade according to Marshal Pritchard will form on Long and Pollock avenues at 7:15 o'clock and at eight o'clock would start the trek down to Reynolds street.

The judges stand will be located near the corner of Long and Mill and the contestants will be judged upon passing Mill and East Long avenue. D. O. Davies is in charge of the judging. The South Side is anticipated to be the mecca of hundreds of people from all districts of the town who will compete for prizes.

Boys' Pranks Bring Annoyance To Head Of Street Railway

Hallowe'en pranks of boys who ride city street cars, particularly cars on the Highland avenue line, are bringing undue annoyance, T. C. Moore, superintendent of railways here said today. Boys are soaping windows and pulling down trolleys, he said.

The railway, Moore said, will place several special officers on the Highland line to safeguard against rowdyism along the route.

DEWBERRY'S

with a hatchet while driving a nail. The accident came at a particularly bad time of year. It incapacitated him for some kinds of work, particularly corn husking, and there was his big field of corn to be husked.

Things looked gloomy for Mr. Burton. He had been put to so much expense by the burning of his barn, and faced the prospect of having to hire all his corn husked. His friends and neighbors sympathized with him.

Not only did they sympathize, but they decided to express their sympathy in a concrete way. On Monday a few neighbors set quietly to work to marshal a force to husk Mr. Burton's corn. All that was necessary was to mention it to a farmer and there was an enthusiastic response. Everybody wanted to help Mr. Burton.

Complete Surprise

Strange to say no word of the proposition reached Mr. Burton until the farmers began to assemble at his farm yesterday at noon. He didn't know what to make of it as the first delegation drove up, but he wasn't kept long in suspense. As the farmers parked their cars, they got out their trusty husking pegs and started for Mr. Burton's corn field.

Pretty soon seventy-five husky farmers were making the golden ears fly in showers. Three teams and two trucks, which had been brought along, loaded the corn as fast as it was rusked and hauled it to the crib.

Mr. Burton, his injured finger done up in a white bandage looked on in happy amazement. At noon his gaze had rested upon the long rows of corn shocks, and he wondered how he was ever going to get the corn husked. Before 3 o'clock the corn was all husked, the fodder tied, and one thousand bushels of corn in the crib.

A Clean Job

Thomas Cooper, a neighbor, stated to a News reporter today, that it was one of the cleanest jobs of corn husking that he had ever seen. No litter strewn field, but all the fodder gathered up and nicely tied.

It is hardly necessary to add that Mr. and Mrs. Burton were overjoyed at the kindness of their friends and neighbors. They thanked them personally, and wish again to express their gratitude.

Those who took part in the corn husking represented not only friends from Mr. Burton's home township of Scott, but there were huskers from Slippery Rock, Plaingrove, Hickory and Washington township.

List Of Huskers

Those who took part in the big corn husking were as follows:

Robert Armstrong, Roy Alexander, J. O. Brown, Everett Boak, Francis Boak, Perry Book, S. E. Brenneman, T. P. Brown, Jesse Brown, Frank Brown, Victor Bruce, James Burton, J. O. Better Business Bureau To Meet

Important Dinner Meeting Will Be Held By Business Men November 4

Plans have been completed for a meeting of the Better Business Bureau of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, which will be held on Tuesday evening, November 4 with a dinner preceding at 6:30 in the Elks Club.

Several important matters will be brought to the attention of the members at this time, and reports from committees will be presented.

Arrangements have been made to secure the election returns, hear Amos and Andy, and various other radio features so these excuses should not keep anyone away, President Emanuel Shenkan stated today.

WASHINGTON FORESEES NEW BRITISH TARIFF

imperial conference, originally set for Ottawa this year and never held, will now be carried out. Any new British tariff policy, however, will likely affect France more than the United States, for it is not believed here that the British will impose high protective rates on "necessities" which comprise the bulk of American exports to Britain. It is considered, rather, that the British policy will aim more at taxing so-called "luxuries," which she now imports from France in considerable quantities.

As regards broad questions of international policy, the change in British governments is expected to have comparatively little effect. Probably, it was said here today, there will be a "stiffening" of British policy in some respects, but on the whole little change is expected.

Plan To Battle Stream Pollution

Mass Meeting Is Called Here On November 5 On Matter

LIGGETT WILL BE AMONG SPEAKERS

Thoroughly aroused by the reports of the condition of the Slippery Rock creek, which is polluted with sulphuric acid from coal mines along the stream, sportsmen of the county are arranging for a joint mass meeting in City Hall on November 5, at which will be men from New Castle, Ellwood City, Slippery Rock and various towns along the creek.

Thomas Liggett, well-known conservationist of Pittsburgh, who has been interested in the pollution work in the Slippery Rock, will be present, as will K. J. Steiner, another well-known sportsman and conservationist.

An invitation will be issued to the Department of Health of the state to send a man out here to meet with the sportsmen in an effort to get the matter advanced. Tests of the water from the creek and from Wolf creek have been made, and with the analysis made showing definitely pollution and where it comes from, the sportsmen believe that the Department of Health should act.

The meeting here will be sponsored by the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association, but it is in no wise intended to be restricted to that body. Campers who have summer homes along the stream, officials of such camps as the Boy Scouts, Heinz House, Y. M. C. A. and Dick Victor, will be in attendance and invitations are to be issued to the civic bodies of New Castle to attend.

The sportsmen here are determined that the pollution must stop, not so much from the fact that fish cannot live in the stream, but mainly because the health of boys and girls who wish to swim in the Slippery Rock is endangered by the presence of the sulphuric acid.

Rose Point Lime Company Makes Protest On Rates

Contends Rates On Carload Lots On Western Allegheny Too High

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28—Additional testimony was taken today before Public Service Commissioner S. Ray Shelby in the complaint of the Rose Point Stone Company, of Rose Point, Lawrence county, that rates of the Western Allegheny Railroad company for transportation of agricultural lime in carload quantities were unreasonable.

The company ships about 1,000 carloads of lime yearly to points in Western Pennsylvania, west of Bradford and Johnstown. The Public Service Commission some time ago set up rates by which the railroad was to be guided in the lime shipments.

Believe Rates Unfair

The Rose Point Company alleges that the rates were based on the "long haul" rather than certain "short haul" routes which would reduce carrying charges.

Testimony before the commission today was solely technical. The railroad attempted to prove rates were based on the shortest feasible routes to various cities in Pennsylvania.

PRIME MINISTER MacDONALD IS VICTOR AT POLLS

23,027 for Coxon. Lumley came away a poor third with 677 votes.

Latest returns gave MacDonald and his followers a total of 494 seats in the House of Commons against only 49 for the opposition. But this government total included 425 Conservative seats, virtually insuring that Britain's next government would be a Tory ministry in fact if not in name.

Revolt Against Radicals

The fact that the election definitely represented a Conservative "revolution" against the radical elements of the Labor Party could not diminish the glory of MacDonald's personal victory, though it may eventually force him to give way in behalf of a Tory leader, definitely committed to protection and other conservative policies, as prime minister.

Ramsay MacDonld emerges from the conflict the loneliest man in half a century of British politics.

Of those who started with him and worked upward through the years to positions of high regard, only J. H. Thomas and Philip Snowden, he of the venemous tongue but unalterable loyalty, stood by him. So far as the bulk of the Labor party was concerned, MacDonald was an outcast, a pariah. He, his former Socialist friends and supporters charged, had scuttled the Labor party by putting national duty before politics and taking the post of prime minister at the head of a coalition government.

Receives News

MacDonald received news of his victory at 10 Downing street, only an hour or two after returning to the capital from Seaham. Reporters smiled when in the stress of the moment he abandoned his parliamentary address and lapsed into the brogue of his native Scotland.

"Aye, that's grand news," he said.

Premier MacDonald made no secret of the fact that his victory at Seaham was a surprise to him. He was fully prepared, if need be, to run again in a forced bye-election if the Labor party in Seaham deprived him of his right to sit in parliament.

Labor Party Routed

London, Oct. 28.—Crushed under an avalanche of Conservative votes, the British Labor party stood defeated and disorganized today as returns from Tuesday's election continued to roll up an overwhelming parliamentary majority for the National government.

The Conservatives, supported by National Laborites and National Liberals, were swept into power assured of sufficient seats in the House of Commons to enact a protective tariff or any other measures they may deem necessary for the nation's economic rehabilitation.

London, Oct. 28.—David Lloyd George, titular leader of the Liberal party and staunch opponent of the National Coalition government, was re-elected to the House of Commons in his constituency at Carnarvon, Wales, according to complete returns received today.

His daughter, Megan Lloyd George also emerged victorious at Anglesey.

this manner. With only $2,600 needed, this is entirely possible as it is believed that some contributors were missed and would like to help out.

Dr. Williamson praised the workers who have been so faithful and who have stuck to their task this year in spite of great difficulty.

"Most of you people would have done what you have for pay under any circumstances", he said "yet you have willingly gone out and not only given of your own substance but your time as well, and have been rebuffed and openly insulted in many cases. I want you to know how much I have appreciated your efforts, your time, and enthusiasm."

The reports submitted by the various organizations in the campaign today, follow:

Previously reported	$45,136.00
Almira Home	219.00
Red Cross	209.00
Associated Charities	141.00
Boy Scouts	181.50
Margaret Henry Home	371.00
Y. M. C. A.	273.00
Y. W. C. A.	343.00
Total	1,730.50

In addition to the above, there was added $575.00, which is practically certain to be subscribed, making a total of $2,305.50, and bringing the total to date to $47,441.50.

TRINITY PARISH SUPPER TONIGHT

Suggestions Are Made For Relief By State Solons

No Dearth Of Solutions For Unemployment Problem Will Be Offered

SPECIAL SESSION TWO WEEKS AWAY

Spotlight Of Interest Being Turned On Prosperity Bond Issue

By LEO V. DOLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, October 28.—Although the trek of Pennsylvania solons to legislative chambers here has not yet begun, pending formal summons by Gov. Gifford Pinchot to meet in extraordinary session to prescribe for unemployment ills, evidence was not lacking today that there will be no dearth of solutions other than the administration-sponsored "prosperity bond" measure, when the assembly meets Nov. 9.

A survey by International News Service today indicated that while the spotlight of interest is now practically monopolized by the prosperity bond issue, a quiet study of the problem has been under way by senate and house leaders since adjournment of the last session and that the problem will be attacked from many angles, ranging a reforestation and public buildings program to a proposed tax on gasoline.

Opposition Expected.

Most of the unemployment panaceas admittedly are in for a hard battle but, argue their sponsors, the constitutionality of the "prosperity bonds" is certain to be attacked by anti-administration leaders and it is possible one of their measures may be enacted.

One widely discussed plan has been drawn up by Senator George Woodward, Philadelphia under rank of the unemployed would be enlisted in an emergency Pennsylvania National Guard. Whether Senator Woodward plans to draft a legislative measure based on such enlistment for action by the general assembly has not been learned.

Senator Leon C. Prince, Cumberland, while not definitely committed to any solution thus far advanced, leans toward a higher state tax on gasoline, funds so collected to be used for unemployment relief. As an alternative, he is in favor of a reforestation program.

Thrift Certificate.

Perhaps the most interesting measure aside from the prosperity bond proposal, is that drafted by Rep. P. B. Rice, Dauphin, which contemplates a reforestation and public works program, funds for which would be raised through the issuance of thrift certificates in anticipation of a bond issue approval by the 1933 legislature and by the voters in 1933.

Under Rice's plan, $100,000,000 would be raised. Following approval by the legislature and the voters, the certificates would be exchanged for state bonds bearing interest at not more than three per cent. the certificates themselves would be non-interest bearing.

The certificates and a $5 poll tax to be assessed and collected immediately would raise the necessary $100,000,000. He stressed the fact that his proposal does not embrace a building or road program that would cut into employment in future years but that the funds would be confined to construction of public buildings needed at the present time.

Wait For Pinchot.

The Philadelphia group, apparently, has adopted a policy of "watchful waiting" with silence the keynote until the assembly actually is called to order. Senator Samuel Salus observed:

"I shall wait to see what the governor has to offer. We'll go along if possible and all work together to relieve unemployment and provide relief for the needy."

Rep. Clinton A. Sowers, Philadelphia, provided a note of mystery in announcing he was drafting a plan for unemployment relief which he declined to divulge at the present time. He added:

"I am working on a plan now. It isn't ready yet and may not be before the second day of the special session." He concluded by remarking drily:

"I won't say anything further regarding it now until I see what the governor has up his sleeve."

Mrs. Carpenter's Funeral.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Bowman Carpenter were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. P. Hawse of 438 Leasure avenue, with Dr. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in charge. The services were largely attended. The pallbearers were C. L. Hughes, George Weaton, Arthur Carpenter, S. C. Bowman, Edward Madden and Merle McIntosh. Interment was made in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mary C. McIntire

Mary C. McIntire, aged 26, daughter of Mrs. Mary Devlin McIntire, 220 Atlantic avenue, died at 11:40 this morning in the family home.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Nicholas J. D'Amato

Nicholas Joseph D'Amato, aged 51, 409 East Lutton street, died at eight o'clock this morning at the family home following an illness of about a year from heart trouble.

Mr. D'Amato was preceded in death about a year ago by his wife, Mrs. Angeline Barone D'Amato, and also by his mother. He was born in Italy and had been a resident of New Castle the past 15 years, being employed here as a potter.

He was a member of St. Vitus church and of the Sons of Italy.

He is survived by one son, Anthony, and five daughters, Louise, Emma, Nettie, Rose and Emma, all at home; four brothers, Angelo of New York City, Louis, Joseph and Samule, and a sister, Mrs. Katherine Mangiene, in Italy.

Funeral announcements will be made in Thursday's News.

Edwin Rummel.

Edwin Rummel, aged 63, one of the city's best known and highly respected residents, died Tuesday, October 27, 1931 at 3:30 p. m., after an illness of five years due to complications.

Mr. Rummel was born in New Middletown, O., February 7,1869, the son of Jacob and Maria Fitler Rummel. He came here with his parents when but nineteen months old and had been a resident of the city all the rest of his life.

In his earlier life, he was a part owner of the J. Rummel Carriage and Wagon Works, which was located on Shenango street and was one of the city's outstanding industries at the time of its existence. In later years and prior to his last illness, he was for many years shop foreman for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

He was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church. His wife, who was Bessie Parsons, survives him, as does one daughter, Mrs. Miller Henley, one sister, Mrs. Velina Parsons of Painesville, O., also a nephew, George Madtes of Youngstown, O., and a niece Mrs. Rifenberck, also of Youngstown, O.

Funeral services will be held Friday, October 30, 1931, at 2 p. m., at the family residence, 611 Court street, with his pastor, Dr. H. C. Weaver in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park Cemetery.

SCOUT LEADERS ENJOY STRANGE SPOOKY PARTY

Leaders Association Members Have "Corpse" Hunt Tuesday Night

After following clues all the way from the public square to New Wilmington and back again, the Leaders Association of the New Castle Girl Scout organization, proved to have in it some mighty good sleuths, and "Spooky" the "corpse" which they were hunting, was found in the basement of the home of Miss Elizabeth Reis, East street.

The hunting posse was gathered at the Y. W. C. A. building at about 7:30 p. m., and the first clue was found on the Diamond—a pair of bloody finger prints. The hunt continued to the home of Mrs. Harry Wettich. More clues were found there. Then to the Girl Scout "Little House" near Coaltown and from there to New Wilmington. Then back to New Castle and to the Reis home.

After "Spooky" was found, the evening was spent in the grotesquely decorated basement, with games and later refreshments were served. "Murder" was the popular game of the evening.

Leaving for home at midnight the Scout leaders agreed that it was one fine Hallowe'en party.

Gaston Post Meets Tuesday At Legion Home

Make Plans To Attend Armistice Day Celebration At Ellwood City

Meeting of Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, American Legion held last night at the Legion Home was well attended and was presided over by J. Glenn Berry, the commander.

Report of the auditors was received, approved and filed. Much interest was shown in the part that the local post will take in the Armistice Day celebration to be held at Ellwood City.

Reports made showed that at least 125 members of the local post plan to participate in the celebration and every effort will be made to increase this total.

Plans were also made for the annual membership drive of the post which will be made this year under the leadership of James Brice, senior vice-commander. Teams will be selected and the drive will be carried on intensively in the effort to reach the goal of five hundred members for the year.

Three door prizes were awarded and an excellent lunch was served. Invitation to the dance being held at Ellwood City tonight by Randolph Post of that city was accepted and a considerable group will attend.

HADASSAH HEARS OF SHYLOCK'S LAST DAYS

The manner in which Ludwig Lewisohn again brought life to the character Shylock after Shakespeare had left him at the end of "The Merchant of Venice" formed a brilliant review of "The Last Days of Shylock," by Rabbi Elias Charry of Anshe Ameth Temple, Youngstown, before over 100 women attending a meeting of the New Castle chapter of Hadassah, in the Beth Shalom Center, Boyles avenue, last night.

Rabbi Charry, who recently returned with his wife from a tour of Europe, told of incidents, trials and tribulations of Shylock who suffered humiliation in Shakespeare's "finis", but who attained the glory and leadership of a sultan's vast domain when Lewisohn had completed his characterization.

Mrs. L. Kohn, president of the Hadassah, was in charge of the meeting, which was attended by many from the Junior Hadassah. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Marc Levine, program chairman.

During the meeting boxes were distributed for collections to the Jewish national fund, by which land is purchased in Palestine for settlement by Jews of the world.

Present at the gathering was Miss Geraldine Weinberg, representing the Jewish National hospital at Denver, Col. Miss Lillian Fishkin, president of Junior Hadassah, spoke briefly about the progress of the juniors and invited the parents of Hadassah to encourage their daughters to join the younger organization.

Refreshments were served following the talk of Rabbi Charry. The following were hostesses at the affair:

Mrs. H. Waldman, Mrs. William Blau, Mrs. Pearl Broida, Mrs. P. Alpern, Mrs. A. Shapiro, Mrs. J. Safier and Mrs. J. Cobb.

B. D. T. Club

Misses Mildred Rodgers and Gladys Erwin were delightful hostesses on Tuesday evening when they entertained members of the B. D. T. Club in the former's home on Meyer avenue at a masquerade party.

The house was most effectively decorated with autumn leaves and Hallowe'en novelties, which formed a lovely background for the diversified characters represented by the different costumes.

Prizes were awarded Sarah Dandy, Ruby Burdette, Edna Crane, Amanda Dandy, Lucille Milner, Ruth Campbell, Belle Kennedy and Helen Hurst.

Mrs. Harold Barker and daughter Mary Lou, of Bridgewater were special guests.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Roy Erwin and Mrs. Rodgers.

Good Time Club

The Good Time Club members will have a special meeting on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold McCormick on Kathryn street.

CLASS RALLY AT KILDOO RESIDENCE

The annual class rally of the Annetta McKee Class was held at the home of Mrs. Abe Kildoo, on Maryland avenue, Tuesday evening with a large number being present. The house was decorated throughout with fall flowers and decorations in keeping with the season.

After the devotional period, the program arranged for this event was in progress. The following participated: Mrs. Swisher, piano solo; Mrs. J. M. Evans, vocal solo; Martha Coulter, violin solo; accompanied by Mrs. A. B. Coulter; Mrs. J. W. Sampson and Mrs. M. R. Newberry, vocal duet; reading by Mrs. J. W. Sampson. At the conclusion of these presentations, their guest speaker, Miss Florence Brisbine, a returned missionary from Africa, gave a most interesting talk on her many experiences that held the keen attention of everyone.

Tempting refreshments were then served by the committee, namely, Mrs. C. A. Seigfried, Mrs. R. E. Elmore, Mrs. D. R. Bollard, Mrs. F. W. Wehr and Mrs. Abe Kildoo. Tones of the season were used in the appointments.

This marked their closing meeting of the year.

CHAPTER 333 O. E. S. ENTERTAIN AT CARDS

Shenango Chapter No. 333, Order of the Eastern Star entertained at a delightful party Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Marjorie Rhodes on Englewood avenue, with Mrs. Charles Young as associate hostess, marking the third of the series to be given for the benefit of the chapter. A large number participated, twelve tables of cards, both 500 and bridge, being in play. At the conclusion of the contests, Miss Sal McGoun captured the trophy for high honors in bridge and Mrs. Ruth Brest was also presented with a favor for this feature. In 500, Mrs. Harriett Hammond and Mrs. Mae Hamilton were successful in winning the trophies for honors.

At a late hour, a most delectable lunch was served. The menu and table appointments were cleverly carried out in keeping with the season. The hostesses had as their aides, Mrs. Charles E. Allen and the Misses Rhoda Leslie and Margaret Young. Gorgeous bouquets of chrysanthemums decorated the rooms throughout, adding to the beauty of the arrangement.

Linger Longer Club

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Dukes, Park avenue, were hosts to the members of the Linger Longer Club Tuesday evening for the initial meeting of the winter season.

The living room of the home was effectively decorated with lovely fall flowers, chrysanthemums being used in profusion.

The evening hours quickly passed with bridge as the pastime and at conclusion of play, Mrs. Leroy Hughes and S. G. Ligo were awarded prizes for holding high scores and the consolation went to Leroy Hughes.

The small tables were centered with bud vases of vari-colored flowers and the appointments were suggestive of Hallowe'en when the hostess, with Betty Houston and Olive Houk as aides, served refreshments.

November 17, the club will be entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hartland, Boyles avenue.

CLASS MEMBERS HAVE HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Members of Mary Andrews' class of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed the splendid hospitality extended by Miss Viola Dufford on Tuesday evening when she entertained at a Hallowe'en party in her home on North Crawford avenue, marking a special event. Mrs. Carl Lockard was associate hostess at this event.

The house was appropriately decorated in orange and black tones, and the many novelties that go to complete such a spooky setting. Games, stunts and contests of a wide variety kept the evening hours lively, and at the conclusion of the entertainment, prizes were presented to Marian Ramsey and Anna Mae Sheik.

At a suitable hour the hostesses served a tasy collation. The menu and table appointments further expressed the present season.

Before departing for home, election of officers occurred with the following results: President, Viola Dufford; secretary, Marie Moore; treasurer, Charlotte Reynolds; social chairmen, Marian Ramsey and Evelyn Lockard; service chairmen, Ruth Chilton and Anna Mae Sheik.

The group had as a special guest an honorary member, Velma Pratt.

They departed at a late hour, voting the affair a decided success.

Masquerade Party

Mrs. O. J. Davies, Martin street, was hostess Tuesday evening to a group of friends at a masquerade party, and as the guests assembled they were greeted by a strange figure at the door and the "mummers" filed in, each quietly taking a chair in the dimly lighted room, which was appropriately decorated for the event.

Afer a period of identifying the guests card tables were brought out and the evening was spent at 500 to the accompaniment of radio music.

Mrs. E. Sullivan and Mrs. Harley Crowe distinguished themselves at cards and were awarded prizes for holding high scores.

Mrs. A. J. Barnsley assisted the hostess in serving refreshments, which further carried out the Hallowe'en idea.

Club Hallowe'en Party

A Hallowe'en party marked the meeting of the Full-A-Fun Club members when they met with Mrs. Sara Daniel on Carson street Tuesday evening. Games, dancing and cards were enjoyed, with prizes for the latter being won by Kathryn Eve, Mrs. Anna Schessberger and Mrs. Jennie Kotchish. Later, lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. E. McDevitt.

Special guests present included Mrs. Catherine Pauline, Kathryn Eve, Mrs. Hilda Brown, Mrs. Freda Schuster, Mrs. J. Steinmetz, and Mrs. E. McDevitt.

In three weeks, Mrs. Bertha Weinschenk of the Hamilton apartments will be club hostess at their regular meeting.

WEINGARTNER HOME SCENE OF MEN'S PARTY

Not to be outdone by the many parties being held this week as a celebration of Hallowe'en the men of the Weingartner class of the Epworth Methodist church entertained the men of the church and a number of friends at the home of Senator George T. Weingartner on the Butler road.

C. L. Sipe was in charge of the entertainment and he provided all the old fashioned games to keep the men busy during the evening hours. There were some hardly contested games of checkers, chess, dominoes, rook and flinch played by groups in the various rooms of the home.

Miss Florence Thompson was chairman of the committee in charge of the "eats" and a delicious lunch was served.

DELPHIAN SOCIETY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Castle Chapter of the Delphian Society met in regular session at The Castleton on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. An important business session opened the day's activities, and election of the following officers occurred; president, Mrs. Charles T. Metzler; vice-president, Mrs. W. A. Pond; secretary, Mrs. R. L. Boyd; treasurer, Mrs. T. J. McFate; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Harold Harlan, advisory board, Mrs. A. M. Shumaker.

Following, the usual program was given. The subject discussed was "The Art of Illumination" with Mrs. S. M. Matheny acting as leader. Topics reported on included "Development of the Art of Illumination" by Mrs. Carl Wilson; "Methods and Subjects" by Mrs. H. D. Harlan; "Meaning of Form in Art" by Mrs. R. L. Hildebrand; "The Elements of a Work of Art Composition" by Mrs. Luella Brownlee; "Art and the Spirit of its Era" by Mrs. D. T. McConahy. A short discussion closed the afternoon.

The next meeting will be held at the same place on November 10th.

Tureen Dinner

The members of the Virginia Boyer and the Women's Missionary societies of the Bethany Lutheran church had a joint tureen dinner in the church dining room Tuesday evening with Mrs. W. E. McMillen in charge of arrangements.

Miss Evelyn McMillen played two piano numbers, "Prelude" by Mendelssohn and "Through the Silent Forest" by Garth Edmundson of this city.

Mrs. W. E. McMillen gave a splendid talk on 'Porto Rico" and was assisted by a number of the society members.

Mrs. Oscar Woods presided at the business session and a report of the recent convention in Erie was given by Mrs. Charles Thompson.

The "rainy day" bags were brought in at this time and a goodly sum was realized when they were opened.

A Thank offering program has been planned for the November meeting.

O. N. O. Club.

Associates of the O. N. O. club gathered at the home of Mrs. Jack Wilson on North Cedar street Tuesday for another of their regular social sessions. Bridge tables furnished entertainment, and a contest in cards occupied the greater part of the social period. At the conclusion of the game, scores were held by Mrs. Mabel Stump, Mrs. Maurice Boyd and Mrs. C. P. Logan.

A delicious repast was later served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Logan, who with Mrs. Howard Gilmore were special guests of the occasion.

They adjourned to meet again on Tuesday, November 3, with Mrs. Harold Unangst on West Cherry street.

Pittsburgh Club

The Pittsburgh Club members enjoyed their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Thomas Cowels on East North street Monday evening when she acted as hostess. A business period was conducted, and later, 500 and bingo was in play. Prize winners were Mrs. Grace Shook, Mrs. Hazel Hicks, William Ousler, Tom Cowles, Mrs. Travers and Arthur Cowles.

After play, a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her committee. Tones of the season prevailed throughout in the decorations.

On Tuesday evening of the coming week, the club will be received at the home of Mrs. Nora McCann on Neshannock avenue.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Saxton, of John street, Saturday evening in honor of their son Herbert. The event being his birthday.

The evening was spent in games, dancing and music. A prize was won by Jayne Carr.

Toward the end of the evening a delicious spaghetti supper was served by Mrs. Saxton, assisted by Mrs. Henry Wilson.

Those present were Jayne Carr, Helen Saxton, Alberta Davis, Lois Banks, Margaret Jackson, Louise Burt and Harvey Hoover, Earl Warren, Chester Sankey, James Brisbin, Robert Palace, Herbert Saxton, Sr., Henry Wilson and the honor guest.

Leaves For Coast

Miss Elizabeth W. Cunningham who makes her home with her sister Mrs. Ed. S. Syling at "Valley Green" in Energy on the Ellwood-New Castle road, has left for the Pacific coast. She expects to spend the winter at Seattle, Washington.

She went via Canadian Pacific through Winnipeg, Moose Jaw, Barliff, Lake Louise and Vancover and reports a very enjoyable trip. The scenery this time of the year is beautiful.

Attends Meeting

Mrs. Jessie Manning of Hamilton street attended a session of the Loyal Ladies League held at East Palestine, O., Tuesday evening. The meeting was largely attended, and friends from East Liverpool, O., Ellwood City, Beaver Falls and New Castle.

Leave For Florida.

Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, Moody avenue, accompanied by Mrs. G. G. Stitzinger, and son, George Grant, Jr., Lincoln avenue, left this week for Orlando, Fla. They expect to spend the winter months at this place.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA DINNER-BRIDGE EVENT

On Tuesday, the Alpha Gamma Delta Alumni Chapter entertained at a beautifully appointed 6:30 o'clock dinner bridge in honor of the Active Chapter and Mrs. David Richey, the house chaperon, Mrs. Elmer Russell, the sorority patronness and Mrs. Margaret Toy all special visitors, at the home of Mrs. Orville Brown on Lincoln avenue.

A delicious menu was served at individual tables, prettily appointed in the sorority tones of red, buff and green. Red and buff roses graced the centers, and the main table, decorated in the same manner, had tall ivory tapers at either end.

Following this feature, cards were in order and at the conclusion of play, it was discovered the trophies were won by Florence Groth, Kitty Whieldon and Mrs. Margaret Toy. This chronicled the close of a most delightful party marking one of their special social events of the year. Hostesses on this occasion included Mrs. Brown, Mrs. R. J. Robinson, Mrs. A. H. Borland and Mrs. Grant Waddle.

St. John's Society

Miss Anna Leonhardt, Maryland avenue, was a most pleasing hostess Tuesday evening when she entertained the members of St. John's Lutheran Women's Missionary society for the regular monthly session.

Mrs. Lee Lutz, the leader of the evening, prepared an interesting program in the theme "Porto Rico" and much valuable information was presented to the members.

Plans for the remainder of the year were discussed during the business meeting. The November meeting will be the annual Thank Offering program, at which time the entire congregation will be guests. Mrs. Garfield Miquel, the leader, is planning a well arranged program for this affair.

Plans were also made for the various forms of missionary activity in connection with the holiday season.

A nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. John Baer and Mrs. Sarah Stimple, was appointed by the president, Miss Mary Riffer.

Several special guests were present, among whom were the Misses Ellen and Marcia Whittiker, Mrs. Charles Rick, Mrs. Deal and Mrs. George Campbell, who assisted the hostess.

Birthday Party

Honoring her husband on his 23rd birthday, Mrs. H. A. Leighty, 610 South Ray street, entertained a group of relatives Tuesday evening in her home.

Radio music and cards were the diversions of the evening and the honor guest was presented with remembrances of the event.

Dainty refreshments brought the evening to a close and places were marked at a prettily appointed table for Mr. and Mrs. John Leighty, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leighty, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rhodes and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Leighty.

Have Party

Council Jewish Juniors planned a successful affair Tuesday evening when 20 members made merry at Mike Fisher's camp on the Butler road at a Hallowe'en party.

Prizes were awarded to Miss Anne Shifman who wore the most attractive costume. Doris Shenken and Dora Winick were others who were awarded prizes. Delicious refreshments were served at a seasonable hour. The event proved a success in every detail. The committee in charge of the event was Dorothy Fisher and Dora Winick.

West Side Needlecraft Club

The West Side Needlecraft Club members met with Mrs. C. L. Campbell on South Lee avenue, Tuesday evening, in regular session. The hours were spent informally with music, chat, etc., and at the close of the social hours, a lunch was served. The hostess had as her aide, Mrs. George Fix, who was a special guest of the evening.

They adjourned to meet again in two weeks with Mrs. F. Hasson on Carson street.

In Butler.

Mrs. Sarah Campbell, Mrs. Maud Neff, Mrs. Elwilda Darby and Mrs. Hattie Nowling of this city attended the district school of instruction of Women's Benefit Association at the Hotel Nixon, Butler, on Monday.

SISTERHOOD MEETS IN TEMPLE ISRAEL

The Temple Israel Sisterhood members met in vestry room of Temple Israel on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for their regular meeting. Mrs. Norman Ehrlich, president, presided over the session. Reports from the various committees were heard at this time, and plans outlined for activities to take place during the coming months.

The feature of the afternoon was a most interesting account of the conventioin sessions held last week in Altoona, of the Temple Sisterhoods given by Mrs. David Silverman, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, Mrs. M. Rizika and Mrs. N. Ehrlich.

KIDDIES ENTERTAINED BY QUOTA MEMBERS

The Quota club members proved royal entertainers Tuesday evening when they motored to the Crawford Oakridge Home and presented a program of games, stunts, contests and various other forms of amusement for the pleasure of the kiddies who make their home at this residence. Twenty-nine youngsters participated in the activites, and novel prizes were awarded to those successful in the contests. The rooms were fittingly decorated in orange and black tones, with numerous witches, black cats, pumpkins being placed about, adding to the spookiness of the evening. This was done by the Quota members and a most efficient manner.

Before departing, at 9 o'clock, the young ones were served a delicious lunch especially prepared. The same tones prevailed in the appointments.

Preceding this event, the members met in the Y. W. C. A. for supper at 6 o'clock, and held a short session. In two weeks they will meet again for dinner.

Silver Kraft Club

Members of the Silver Kraft club enjoyed a pleasant evening Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McClelland, Dewey avenue, which was decorated beautifully in keeping with the season.

Cards were the principal diversion of the evening and one of the members Mrs. Harper Montgomery, was presented with a gift, the occasion being the anniversary of her birth.

The lunch was served at the small tables and carried out the Hallowe'en suggestion in appointments and menu.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCreary will entertain the club on November 10.

Express Men Dine

Eight members of the R. E. A. 500 club, composed of members of the Railroad Express agency's local branch, gathered last night for their second annual spaghetti and chicken dinner. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Prioletti of Duquesne street.

After a sumptuous dinner was enjoyed, the group occupied the evening hours with their favorite pastime, 500.

Manager J. W. Anderson, also a member, was in attendance.

Committee Meets

The program committee of the Highland King's Daughters, with their advisors, Mrs. C. J. Williamson and Mrs. R. F. Conway, met Tuesday evening in the home of Lucille Kison, Park avenue, to plan work of the society for the coming year.

Many interesting features will mark the program of the next few months, with motion pictures of foreign mission fields as the feature of the November 12 meeting, which will be at the home of Mrs. C. J. Williamson, Sheridan avenue.

Brotherhood Party

Dancing, cards and a costume parade for the children, will be enjoyed by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen 955 and their families and the Mabel Wilson auxiliary and their families, Thursday evening at Malta hall. This annual Hallowe'en party promises to be very enjoyable.

Visit In City

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stevenson, of San Juan, Porto Rico, who arrived in the city this week for a visit, are house guests of Mrs. Ida Robinson, Walnut street.

The Stevensons are making just a short visit in the city this trip, expecting to be here about ten days.

Makers Of Vicks VapoRub Score Another Advance In Home-Control Of Colds

Vick Chemists Develop the Perfect Ally to Vicks VapoRub—Introduces New Idea in Preventing Colds and Makes Possible the Vick Plan to Reduce the Family "Colds-Tax"

FREE TRIAL PACKAGES

Local Druggists Have Free Samples For Users Of Vicks VapoRub

Mothers of two generations have depended on Vicks VapoRub for treating the family's colds. Now, in 26 million homes, they welcome the newly discovered perfect ally to VapoRub—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops—based on a new idea in preventing colds. Together, these two ideal, direct applications provide the new Vick Plan for better "Control of Colds" in the home—and further reduction of the family "Colds-Tax".

Here is the Vick "Colds-Control" Plan:

1.—Before a Cold Starts

On exposure to colds or any of the causes that ordinarily lead to colds—(crowded indoor places—stuffy, poorly ventilated rooms—sudden temperature changes—wet and cold)—that slow down the normal functioning of the nose, Nature's marvelous "first line of defense against colds"—use Vicks Drops promptly. Or, if a cold actually threatens—when you feel that first stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—a few drops up each nostril, and many annoying colds will be avoided.

2.—When a Cold Strikes

During the day—any time, any place—use the convenient Vicks Drops as often as needed. At night rub Vicks VapoRub well over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. Leave bed-clothing loose around the neck so the medicated vapors can be inhaled all night long. This gives you full 24-hour treatment. (If there is a cough, try the new Vicks Cough Drops—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

Trial Package Free

In order that every user of Vicks VapoRub may test the new Vick Plan of better "Control of Colds" in the home, every druggist in the United States has been sent a limited supply of samples. Get yours today. If your druggist's supply is exhausted, send us the top of a Vicks VapoRub carton—or coupon from the VapoRub directions folder—and we will mail you a trial package of Vicks Nose Drops (also a sample of Vicks Medicated Cough Drops) together with a folder on the Vick Plan for "Control of Colds" in the home. Entertains Class

Miss Martha Sankey, Round St., was hostess Tuesday evening to the members of her Sunday school class of the First Methodist church, of which Mrs. L. C. B. Douthett is teacher.

The home was beautifully decorated with Hallowe'en suggestions and the guests came costumned in many intriguing outfits.

Informal games and music were indulged in and at a late hour the hostess' mother served a delicious lunch, with all the trimmings suggestive of the season.

Y. P. C. U. Party

The young people's society of Second United Presbyterian church were delightfully entertained Tuesday evening in the church parlors at a Hallowe'en party, at which event Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Book were hosts.

Varied were the costumes worn by the group as they assembled and the "mummers" parade about the rooms called forth many comments upon the cleverness of the costumes. Games suggesting the old fashioned Hallowe'en parties were enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Beth Shalom Party

Mrs. Marc Levine, who is chairman of arrangements for the Hallowe'en party to be held in Beth Shalom Center Thursday evening, announces that everything is in readiness for a big evening.

Prizes will be given for the best costumes in the grand march and an especially interesting program of amusements has been planned.

FOOD AND LODGING AND THE WOOD PILE

NEW YORK CITY is somewhat concerned over the problem of the unemployed who are drifting there from other parts of the country. It is a difficulty which confronts every municipality.

Practically all cities are—or soon will be—engaged in raising money to care for the needs of those out of work. The plan is to try to help the unemployed over the winter. The aim of the leaders, under the inspiration of the Hoover Committee, is to make sure that no worthy person shall go hungry or homeless during the severest months of the year. It is reasonably certain that this programme will be successful.

But while each community is prepared to care for its own, few are willing to look after the "floaters." In this class are many who are unemployed during the days when there is plenty of work for all of those who want it. New York has decided to give the "work test" to unemployed strangers who apply for aid. The trying-out process will take place in a number of wood yards which are to be established in various parts of the greater city.

The announcement comes from the Commissioner of Public Welfare, who has been looking into the system employed by the Salvation Army. Under this arrangement each applicant will be sent to a central registration bureau operated under the auspices of the several charitable organizations of New York. If it be learned that he is a non-resident, or if he gives a fictitious address, he will be assigned to the wood pile; and if he makes good there will be eligible to help from the city-raised fund.

THE BETTER WAY

It is better to prevent a crime than to punish someone for having committed it. And, on the same principle, it is better to enforce a few basic laws than to pass new and restrictive laws which are unenforcible, and serve only to make law-breakers of otherwise law-abiding citizens.

This is a fact of which we seem to have lost sight in our passion for passing laws. Probably no other civilized people are bound by so many legal restrictions as we are—and it is certain that no other civilized people are plagued by so much crime, or have so conspicuously failed in apprehending and convicting criminals. That is something legislators and voters might take into account when the time for consideration of new laws comes again.

FLAWS IN CO-OPERATIVE SCHEME

Flaws in the co-operative marketing system always appear in times of stress when the system should exert its greatest strength. The California Raisin Growers association comes forward with the old plaint that its members do not remain in line in years of small crops and high prices. In such a time, the growers are inclined to break away from the association and take their chances speculating on the market. The believe that they can get better prices individually than by operating through an organization.

When crops are abundant and prices are low, the members of the association are entirely willing to let the organization market for them and to take what profit accrues from co-operative sales endeavors. Human nature being what it is, producers of foodstuff can always be expected to turn in the direction that promises them the greatest return on their investment. In pursuing such a policy, they are merely behaving like other business men.

The co-operative principle has not proved itself in general application to crops grown over a widespread territory because farmers are not yet imbued with the idea that the individual should put his ability and his native business sense into the common pool. The success of a co-operative association here and there for certain crops does not prove that the principle can be applied for all crops everywhere.

The farm board is organizing associations of growers—or trying to—without consideration of this basic human factor. It concentrates its arguments too much upon the isolated successes of co-operative endeavor and not enough on the failures.—The Yakima Morning Herald.

SPUR-JINGLING NOT CONFINED TO ANY RACE

Jingoism is not essentially an American political phenomenon. It crops out at intervals in the thoughts and speech of Germans, of Frenchmen, of Italians. Now comes a bit of verbal saber-rattling from far Japan. The editor of Tokyo's newspaper Nippon denounced the Geneva negotiations as "the opening skirmish in a conflict between the white and yellow races for world supremacy." It sounds strangely like a reverberation of "yellow peril" discussions of three decades ago. And it was scarcely more than 15 years ago when the emperor of Germany entertained Col. House with grim pictures of what will happen to civilization when Asia overruns Europe.

Utterances like those of far away and long ago, and of yesterday, may be choice morsels for minds of alarmists to feed upon reminds the Birmingham News. But in these times when the international mind is occupied with attempts to bridge differences between peoples, and trying earnestly to lay a predicate for favorable action on disarmament in the February parleys at Geneva, it would be unfortunate if editors the earth around generally proceeded to conjure up phantoms of wars that probably will never be fought.

At least, Nippon's editor should set his mind at rest respecting the obtrusion of any desire on the part of the United States to wrest any power from the Asiatics.

If taxes could be deflated along with everything else, there might be some chance for the ordinary fellow.

A Game to Play With a Child Take a Pack of Cards And Be Surprised

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Take a deck of cards. Shuffle them. Lay them out on a table face down.

Find some children seven years old—eight years old—nine years old—any intelligent children—and show them the game.

It is called "pairs," and it is a memory test. And also very humiliating to grown-ups who play it against children.

* * *

Pick up one card and turn it face up. Pick up a second card. If the two cards are pairs, two tens or two kings, for instance, take them from the board. They are yours. . . . If they are not pairs, put them back where they were, face down, again. . . . Then let the child try his hand at it.

After a few turns apiece, you have each looked at ten or a dozen cards, and you have an idea where they were. You pick up a seven on the fourth turn, and you remember that you turned over a seven on the second turn. . . . Where IS that seven? If you can find it, you'll have a pair of sevens. . . . This is where the humiliation begins. This is when you begin to wonder how a little boy of seven can remember things so much more easily than you can.

A child plays this game easily, without any obvious friction, without pain. He picks up an eight and, most of the time, his hand moves almost automatically to an eight that you have completely forgotten. But YOU can't do it so easily; with intense mental effort, by centering all your remembering functions on the game you can beat the child at this childish game. But only by very hard work.

I know. I've tried It! I've played the game of "pairs" with children and I've beaten them occasionally—but I've been ashamed of the effort it has taken, of the energy it has drawn out of me. . . . My child opponents seemed to have free-wheeling memories, while my own reminded me of an old wornout truck that made the grade, but threatened to go to pieces any moment. . . . I've explained to myself that this is because I have other and more important things to remember, while a child is not hampered at all by thought.

But I don't know. A child seems to do things lightly with a sort of fairy-fitting grace that an adult does only with difficulty. . . . And if you do not believe this, play a game of "pairs" some day with a child.

EDISON AND THE PRESS

If the fame of Thomas Alva Edison was greater than that attained by many men of equal achievement and greater learning, because he knew how to make his ideas work and then induce people to work them, no newspaperman will regret the fact nor the part the press had in the process.

For decades Edison has been good copy. His thousands of experiments, many foredoomed to failure, but all with a practical end in view, lent themselves to newspaper exploitation in terms that the mass of newspaper readers could very easily comprehend.

Without any devious publicity engineering, the simple, direct, imaginative man of Menlo Park was in a lifetime raised by the press to a mythical stature. His views were sought and printed on all subjects. Generally his utterances made good newspaper reading.

Famed chiefly for his perfection of the electric incandescent lamp, he will be remembered by newspapermen for the skill with which he first overcame the general fear of electricity and then organized the manufacture and distribution of the blessing he had made available. It was a master publicity stroke when Edison organized a parade of men through New York, bearing festoons of illuminated electric bulbs, their shoulders draped with the supposedly death-dealing wires that led from a dynamo carried on a truck. That demonstration won public acceptance before the electric light could have been sold by scientific argument.

It was typical and it explains much of the inventor's public esteem. Regardless of the benefits society has derived from the products of his laboratory, he will live in the minds of the multitude as one who spent his life attempting the impossible and searching the unknowable, with success often enough to keep the record interesting. Capone Conviction Declared Only Beginning Of Big Task

Brings Some Satisfaction To Country, Which Fears Long-Drawn-Out Proceedings In Further Efforts To Free Chicago Defendant

Conviction of Alphonse Capone by the Federal Court is found to offer some cause for public congratulation but it is feared that the case is still far from its final stages. Regret is expressed that local authorities have failed to press more serious charges than the income-tax offenses, and it is felt that the present case offers little prospect of crushing Chicago's gangland.

Referring to the murder of a rival "czar" by gunmen on the day following the conviction of Capone, the SPRINGFIELD, (MASS.) UNION declares: "The object lesson of his conviction appears to have failed, at least so far as it applies to activities which fall outside the scope of the Federal income tax law. Coming so soon after the verdict against Capone, it seems to carry a message of defiance to the State and city authorities, if not the Federal government."

Discussing the same incident, the PORT HURON TIMES-HERALD remarks: "Is this perhaps a warning to the Chicago underworld—and the Chicago police—that whatever the United States government does to Capone in that income tax business is not going to interfere with his control and operation of the city's vice and racketeering? It looks like a 'defi.' And the important question is, will Chicago continue to stand for it?"

As to the intended punishment of the Chicago defendant, the SIOUX CITY JOURNAL declares: "This rabbit may have been caught, but he is not going into rabbit stew for some time to come." The SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS advises: "Crime doesn't allow a failure now and then to halt it; justice must not allow a victory to stop its steady work. There are more Capones in the making. There may be reason for some more convictions shortly." The TORONTO DAILY STAR concludes: "One cannot go so far as to say that the case of Al Capone will be pushed to its conclusion. The most one could say as yet is that it could be."

"The jury has vindicated itself in principle," according to the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, "convicting the defendant on five counts. While it is criticised somewhat from the technical standpoint for its acquittal of him on a number of others, the responsibility for passing upon the testimony belonged to it, and it created the impression of devoting itself sincerely to its duty. While, within limitations, the authorities are to be congratulated on a victory, no one more than they should realize that they have but made a beginning."

"When criminals are regularly caught, convicted, promptly sentenced and taken to prison, then there might return some of that almost vanished American quality, respect for law," thinks the COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE, and the MINNEAPOLIS STAR heartily supports the government in its evident intention to "keep its grip on him."

The BALTIMORE SUN feels that now that Uncle Sam has begun the work, it is plainly up to the states to carry it on. "If other cities are really desirous of ridding themselves of gangsters," it says, "and if Chicago is desirous of prosecuting to a conclusion the work which the Federal Government has begun in the Capone case the task will be easier because of the success which has so far attended this particular legal offensive. The procedure at Chicago has proved that legal weapons are available for use against gangsters as against other criminals. The next year ought to show whether the cities have the will to use them."

"Even in this indirect manner, the authorities have accomplished much," asserts the ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS, while the MANCHESTER LEADER points out that "the trouble in the past has been that the police appeared to be helpless in the matter of dealing with the organized gangs. It looked as if gangdom had set up its own code and that rival gunmen constituted the principal menace to gangsters. That made it a precarious life, but the mentality of the recruits would incline them to the belief they were picking the dominant gang, hence it would be comparatively safe. If it finally seeps into the minds of the weaklings that the police are on the job and doing good work in cleaning them up, the gaps in the organizations will not be so easily filled up, because fighting on anything approaching even terms is not to the liking of the class from which gangsters are recruited."

"Perhaps it means the beginning of the end of gang rule in America," state the MERIDIAN STAR. The DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT says: "Conviction at this time is a triumph for the law and the Federal prosecutors, and undoubtedly ends for all time his career as an all-powerful gangster chieftain." The ALTOONA MIRROR makes the appraisal: "This is the first time that the Chicago gangster has ever been convicted of an offense that is punishable with a penitentiary sentence. The verdict was quite what the public expected." Considering the evidence in the case, the OAKLAND TRIBUNE contends: "The court was asked to believe that, in the end, Al Capone profited nothing from his business because he was simple enough to drop his fortune in regular installments into the laps of the race track bookmakers. It is not likely a court would believe anything of the kind."

The DES MOINES TRIBUNE-CAPITAL finds in this case an argument "for more policing by central authority," while the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL feels that the result should be "humiliating to Chicago and Cook County authorities," and the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS avers: "Capone's arraignment, trial and conviction in a Federal court make the impotent attitude of local law-enforcing authorities the more discreditable."

Just Folks

THE GLORY OF ENDEAVOR

They will be better for the test
And stronger for the tasks that irk.
No man is ever at his best
Who does not face the need to work.

The lavish days disaster brought.
With love our little ones we spoiled,
Because we nursed the softening thought
They should not toil as we had toiled.

We smoothed their paths and bade them play.
To snare them pain it pleased us then.
But kindlier had we been to say
That hardship is the fate of men.

And wiser had we been to teach
Our children how to stand to care,
To work for joys beyond their reach
And shoulder burdens they must bear.

Grave days are these and dark, but still They'll give what pleasure never brings—
The pride that's in the battle thrill—
The glory of accomplished things.

ARE YOU A SPONGER?

Are you a human sponge?
Do you absorb everything that comes your way, apparently forgetting to repay your debts of a social nature?
Society has a code which establishes a rule of returning as good as you receive.
If you are unwilling to do this you should not accept any favors.
If you can't entertain as others do, don't participate at other's expense.
There are instances where friends are so good and truly kind that, irrespective of the fact that you cannot disburse social favors, they desire your presence at their affairs.
In such a case you should not hesitate in accepting for there are not many such invitations extended to you.
But in the majority of cases you are expected to do as others do.
You may think such a spirit is contrary to true hospitality and that entertaining should not be done with an idea of return.
Your idea of the spirit of hospitality may be right but it does not absolve you from assuming obligations in proportion to your acceptance.
Some persons deliberately plan to get all they can for nothing.
They have no thought or desire to pay social debts and if you fall into this class you deserve all the censure you will get.

Sheridan Buried At West Point In Military Manner

West Point Academy Is Sorrowful Place As Remains Of Grid Star Are Laid Away

FULL MILITARY HONORS ACCORDED

Football Player Fatally Hurt In Yale Game Will Be Buried Among Heroes

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 28.—West Point awoke this morning to face the saddest day it has ever known.

They were going to blow "taps" late this afternoon over a fresh scar in the sod of West Point Cemetery under which the body of Cadet Richard Sheridan would be buried.

Other army heroes have been buried in this cemetery. General Winfield Scott, who won the Mexican War, lies there. The remains of General George Custer, slain by the tomahawks of the Sioux are there. "Fighting Bob" Anderson, who defended Fort Sumter, sleeps in the West Point cemetery.

Will Join Heroes

Now Cadet Richard Sheridan, who died of injuries received in the Yale-Army football game, will join that immortal trio. "Grip hands with us now though we see not," says the Army song to the dead. This afternoon Cadet Sheridan will grip hands with those three legendary heroes.

Cadet Sheridan now lies in the small Catholic chapel here at West Point with Cadets from his own company standing rigidly at attention as a guard of honor.

This lad needs no guard of honor but it is the only way his class mates can express their feelings toward him.

This morning the flag draped coffin containing the body of the 21-year-old boy who might have been a General was moved from the hospital to the chapel. Later in the morning a requiem mass will be celebrated by the Rev. J. A. Langton, Army chaplain. The "requiscat in pace" of the church will be whispered by Father Langton over the body of Sheridan and then the church will retire to allow the Army to say farewell to its own in the traditional and time honored fashion.

Military Funeral

A short service will follow at four o'clock this afternoon and then will come the procession to the cemetery. The Military Academy band will lead the way, its muffled drums proclaiming that it is escorting a fallen hero to his grave. Then will come the caisson bearing the coffin. In conformance with Army custom a black horse, with turned in boots attached to the saddle stirrups will follow the caisson.

Mrs. Sheridan and her son Gerald who raced from Georgia to New Haven, when news of the boys' injuries were received, will follow the caisson. Mrs. Sheridan spent the night as the guest of Captain and Mrs. L. C. Warner.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Noted Man's Mother Used Strict Rule

John Wesley's Early Training Taught Obedience

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

John Wesley's mother believed in the influence of early training of children and put her beliefs into practice. The readers of this column may be interested in what the mother of this great preacher and founder of Methodism said about rearing children.

Prof. Arnold Gesell of Yale university, in his recent book, "The Guidance of Mental Growth in Infant and Child," quotes from a number of letters of Susannah Wesley: "I thought it my duty to spend some part of the day in reading to and instructing my family: and such time I esteemed spent in a way more acceptable to God, than if I had retired to my own private devotions. . .

"I resolved to begin with my own children; in which I observe the following method: I take such a portion of time as I can spare each night to discourse with each child apart. On Monday, I talk with Molly; on Tuesday, with Hetty; Wednesday, with Nancy; Thursday, with Jacky; Friday, with Patty; Saturday, with Charles, and with Emily and Sukey together on Sunday." Jacky must have been the famous John.

In 1732, the year of George Washington's birth, she wrote to John Wesley:

"Dear Son: According to your desire I have collected the principal rules I observed in educating my family. . . .

"The children were always put into a regular method of living, in such things as they were capable of from their birth; as in dressing, undressing, changing their linen, etc. The first quarter commonly passes in sleep. After that they were, if possible, laid into their cradle awake, and rocked to sleep; and so they were kept rocking until it was time for them to awake. This was done to bring them to a regular course of sleeping; which at first was three hours in the morning, and then in the afternoon; afterwards two hours, till they needed none at all. . . .

"At six o'clock, as soon as family prayers were ended, the children had their supper, at seven the maid washed them, and got them all to bed at eight: at which time she left them in their several rooms awake, for there was no such thing allowed of in our house, as sitting by a child till it fell asleep.

"As soon as they were grown pretty strong, they were confined to three meals a day. At dinner their little tables and chairs were set near ours, where they could be overlooked; and they were suffered to eat and drink (small beer) as much as they would; but not to call for anything. If they wanted aught, they used to whisper to the maid which attended to them, who came and spake to me; and as soon as they could handle a knife and fork, they set to our table. They were never suffered to choose their meat, but always made to eat such things as were provided for the family. . . . Drinking or eating between meals was never allowed, unless in case of sickness, which seldom happened. Nor were they suffered to go into the kitchen to ask anything of the servants, when they were at meat; if it was known they did they were surely beat, and the servants severely reprimanded.

"They were so constantly used to eat and drink what was given them, that when any of them was ill, there was no difficulty in making them take the most unpleasant medicine; for they durst not refuse it though some of them would presently throw it up. This I mentioned to show that a person may be taught to take anything, though it never be so much against his stomach."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Myers may be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelop, to Dr. Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper, or central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Punishments and Rewards" and "Fear."

Social Workers Will Discuss Unemployment

Plans Completed For Putting In Special Features

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Bringing together social workers in public and private agencies and including special group meetings, the New York State Conference on Social Work will be held in Niagara Falls November 9 to 13.

Plans completed include as special features, addresses by Commissioner Charles H. Johnson, of the State Department of Social Welfare and Rev. John C. Carr, Diocesan Director of Buffalo Catholic charities who is President of the Conference; James S. Owens, Director of the State Division of Probation, who is Chairman of the Division on Protective and Correctional Care.

Dr. Charles H. Vincent formerly President of the Rockefeller Foundation will speak at a joint dinner of the Red Cross and the Conference, and others on the program are Stanley P. Davies, Assistant Secretary of the State Charities Aid Association; George W. Davids of Poughkeepsie, President of the State Association of the Boards of Child Welfare; Margaret F. Byington of the New York School of Social Work; Commissioner Walter N. Thayer of the State Department of Correction; David C. Adie, General Secretary of the Buffalo Council of Social Agencies, and Oscar W. Kuolt, Secretary of the Rochester Council of Social Agencies.

As outstanding feature at the conference, will be joint sessions with allied groups in the field of social welfare, including the State Association of Probation Officers; the Parole Officers; the Child Welfare Board Workers; representatives of the Traveler's Aid Association; School Attendance Officers, Visiting Teachers; Superintendents of Children's Institutions; Big Brothers and Big Sisters, and workers from Family Welfare and Health Agencies.

This year a new development has been arranged. There will be a round table discussion of rural social work problems. Special consideration will be given the problems faced by the social worker in meeting the conditions caused by the present unemployment and its effect on all social agencies.

The effect of this situation on character building agencies will be presented in special sessions of the enforced leisure division of the conference of which Glen E. Jackson of the Rochester Y. M. C. A. is chairman. Mental Hygiene and Tuberculosis programs will be considered in meetings of the Health Division under the leadership of Robert W. Osborn, Executive Secretary of the Buffalo Tuberculosis Association.

The Eastern Central District of the American Association of Hospital Workers will also hold its session this year in connection with the State Conference meeting.

Educational activities of various agencies will be reviewed in a series of meetings sponsored by the Committee on Social Work Publicity.

MAN ANTEDATES BASKETS

(International News Service)

CARLSBAD, N. M.—Evidence that man existed further back in antiquity than the basketmakers of the pleistocene era has been revealed here by a party of scientists excavating in the Guadalupe mountains 40 miles northwest of Carlsbad. Evidence of hearths in rock strata lower than the basketmaker burial levels is considered significant by Edgar B. Howard, in charge of an archeological expedition from the University of Pennsylvania, and other scientists who have been studying the excavations.

Restrict Autos For Employes Of State

HARRISBURG, Oct. 28—In a series of orders to all departmen heads Gov. Gifford Pinchot today struck at the constantly mounting cost of operation of state owned automobiles.

In future state cars will be assigned only to employes who are stationed outside of Harrisburg and need them in their daily duties, to institutions and to heads of departments "whose duties include inspection of state work widely scattered throughout the commonwealth."

Additional cars will not be assigned to any individual but will be under control of the department of property and supplies and assigned for specific purposes which may arise.

The governor also directed that in future purchases of state cars be limited to those which carry only two or three passengers.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Masque Parties Being Given In Ward This Week

Many Hallowe'en Parties Are Being Held This Season

This has been a merry week for church organizations, railroad lodges and social clubs of seventh ward. Almost every night, when the moon is high in the heavens, a crowd of local people has gathered around, dressed in grotesque and dainty Hallowe'en costumes.

This is the happy season of masquerade parties and seems to be an extra lively one in this part of the city.

Parties of an important nature promise many joyful hours the rest of this week as follows:

Tonight, members of the McCoy Bible class of the Mahoning Methodist church, are planning to gather at the home of Mrs. Fred Hyde, on North Cedar street. After prayer meeting they will don their masquerade outfits and make merry at the Hyde home.

The senior Christian Endeavor society of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will have a Hallowe'en party Thursday evening from 8:30 to 11:00 at the home of Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Schnebly, Newell avenue.

Then on Thursday comes the Grand International Auxiliary party. The auxiliary (to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers) ladies will be entertained by Mrs. W. M. Curran at her Walmo home. It will be a masquerade event.

Another important Thursday evening Hallowe'en festivity will take place at Malta hall and will be attended by the Mabel Wilson auxiliary lodge No. 567, their families, and members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen lodge No. 955. Fun will begin at 8 o'clock and an able committee is in charge of the arrangements.

Junior Christian Endeavor members of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church are looking forward to their party of the year, which comes on Thursday evening also. Masquerade, of course, and a great crowd of youngsters will be out for it. They will gather at 6:30 in the church and will be given one constant jolly time until the clock strikes 8:30.

The spirit of the season will be manifest at the W. A. G. Club meeting, tomorrow evening, they say. The members will gather at the Sherman home on Leasure avenue.

And perhaps the biggest party of all will be that at the Mahoning Methodist church on Friday night, the Epworth League masquerade party. It will take place in the basement, starting at 8:15. There will be apples, doughnuts, cider, fun, surprises and a presentation that everyone will afterward agree was great.

FROM PITTSBURGH

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Martin and daughters, Betty Ann and Grace, of Pittsburgh, were Tuesday afternoon visitors in seventh ward. The Martins are former residents of this city.

Over Hundred Local Students Attend Program

One hundred thirty-five students of Mahoning school attended the Tuesday afternoon performance of the benefit school play at the New Castle senior high school.

A special car was provided by the P. and O. Company to convey the great crowd of young people to the high school.

Thirty-five students of Mahoning and Lawrence schools took part in the production, presenting one act of "gypsy reveling."

First Card Party Held On Tuesday

The first of a series of Tuesday afternoon card parties took place at Lyceum hall, corner of Second and Clayton streets, yesterday, and was greatly enjoyed by the large group of players.

Prizes for high scores were awarded to Mrs. O'Donnell and Mrs. M. J. Scanlon.

A special prize will be given the persons with the highest score at the end of five parties.

Mrs. John Thomas and Mrs. Roy Merriman are in charge.

PLANE PASSES

Flying high and at a fast clip, a large biplane went over seventh ward Tuesday afternoon. Coming from the east, it headed due west.

AT DAIRY SHOW

Dick Thompson, of the Lingerlight Dairy, is in Atlantic City, attending the national dairy show there. Mr. Thompson left by motor on Monday.

CHANGE RESIDENCE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith have moved from North Ashland avenue to 406 North Cedar street.

LEAVE FROM HERE

Among the passengers leaving the Baltimore and Ohio station on Tuesday were: Mrs. Laura Linton, to Los Angeles, California; Miss Jane Love, of 201 Pine street, to Upton, California.

VISIT HOCKMANS

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Friley and sons, Gene and Jimmy, and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Marsh and daughters, of Painesville, Ohio, spent several days recently with Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Hockman, West Madison avenue.

BACK IN WARD

Thomas Karns has returned to this ward after an absence of many months. Karns, who is staying at a local hotel, became ill and was taken to the New Castle hospital where he laid in a critical condition for weeks. After convalescing out of the city, Karns has returned and is in a fairly good condition.

BACK FROM WEST

William W. McCombs, teller in the Mahoning Trust Company, has returned to his duties after spending the past several months in Hollywood, California, and points in the west. Mr. McCombs and his wife returned from the trip this week and report having a fine time.

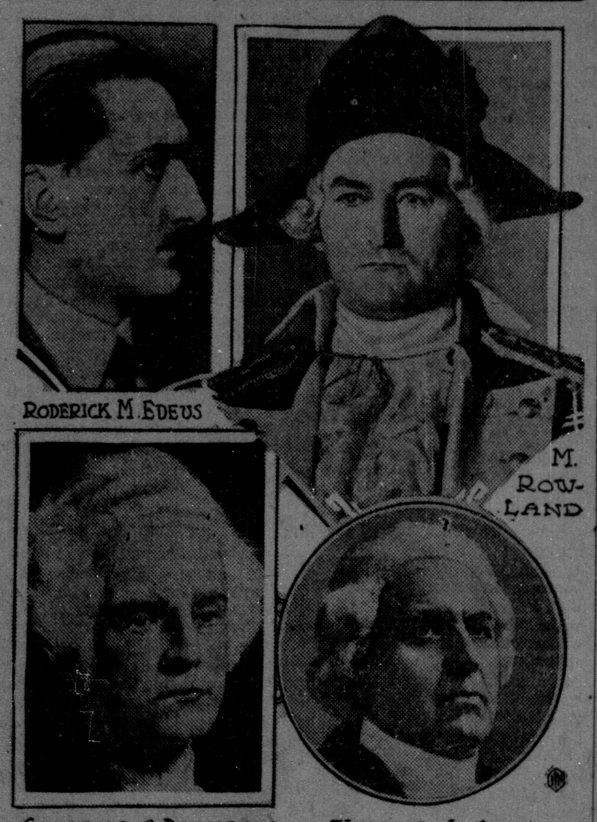
Request for 'Washington' Meets with Big Response

Search for Man to Enact the Part of First President at Bicentennial Celebration Reveals Many Who Aspire to Heroic Role.



In preparation for the bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington, to be held next June in the Capital, the George Washington Bicentennial Commission of the District of Columbia recently sent out a request to all States, seeking a man to play the title role in the pageant. The qualifying conditions are exacting, for, not only must the chosen one bear a twin-like physical resemblance to our first President, but he must also possess some of the Washington spiritual characteristics. Despite the stringent qualifications necessary, many replies have already been received from all over the country. Above are four of the candidates. Roderick M. Edeus, of Marion Station, Pa., has the Washington profile. M. Rowland, of Los Angeles, shown in Colonial uniform, claims to have the military carriage that one expects in a portrayer of General Washington. Sandford G. Donaldson, of Yanktown, S. D., has played a similar role in many local pageants and has many supporters who urge his candidacy. Dr. William L. Sacrey, of Philadelphia, also has enacted the role of the "Father of His Country" and thinks he does it rather well. One application was from a parent who urged the appointment of her son "because he has always wanted to be a general."

Steel Dividend Is Maintained

Impelling Signs Of Progress In Restoring Economic Stability Seen

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Impelling signs of progress in restoring economic stability were seen today in the maintenance of dividends by the United States Steel corporation, the news that the National Credit corporation had been assured of its initial half billion before the end of the week and a brisk advance in the wheat market.

While officials of United States Steel declined to comment on dividends or earnings, it was said in high banking circles that the fact the corporation was willing to make a large inroad into surplus might reasonably be interpreted as indicating that its officials felt that more profitable operations were definitely in sight.

The corporation ordered a quarterly common dividend of $1, as it did in the previous quarter, and the regular preferred payment of $1.75. This meant taking $11,822,371 from undivided surplus, the largest inroad into surplus ever made by the corporation in any quarter to maintain dividend payments.

Jacob Soffel Is Taken By Death

Aged Civil War Veteran And Father Of Judge Sarah Soffel, Dies At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—Jacob Soffel, 89, father of Judge Sara Soffel and for many years court interpreter and crier in common pleas court No. 2 here, died at his Mt. Washington home today after a short illness.

He was a veteran of the civil war and one of the last surviving members of the Col. William Moody Post, G. A. R.

Born in Adenbach, Germany, Soffel came to the United States at the age of 18 and located in Pittsburgh, where he resided since. He was prominent in local political, civic and religious circles for many years.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, two grandsons and one great grandson. Funeral services will be held Friday evening and interment will be made Saturday.

Complete Plans For Dedication Of Paul Memorial, November 5

Arrangements for the dedication of the monument to Corporal Brady Paul have been completed, and on Thursday afternoon, November 5 at three o'clock the granite block on the Butler Road, marking the spot where the courageous highway patrolman lost his life, will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies.

Captain P. E. Doerr of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol will be in charge of the ceremonics as chairman, and Rev. H. C. Weaver, pastor of the First M. E. church will be the speaker. The eulogy to Corporal Paul will be delivered by Captain Doerr. A salute by Troop B of the State Highway Patrol will be fired and Taps blown by Corporal Fulton.

Killed In Service

Corporal Brady Paul was murdered on December 29, 1929, when with Patrolman Ernest Moore he stopped the bandit car of Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague, on the Butler Road. With Tom Crawford the pair had held up a chain store in Butler, Pa., and were fleeing from arrest.

As Irene and Glenn stepped from the automobile stopped by Paul, the woman jumped from behind Dague and covered Paul with a revolver. Backing him down the Butler road she fired point blank into his body and as he sank to the ground mortally wounded, she turned and went back to the car.

In the meantime Tom Crawford had shot Ernest Moore, wounding him and Moore was in the road unconscious. Passing motorists rushed the two officers to the hospital where Paul died within a short time. For their crime Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague paid the penalty in the electric chair early this year.

The monument is erected on the Butler road at approximately the spot where Paul fell. In a dying condition he pulled his gun and fired at the fleeing car and wounded Tom Crawford. Crawford is supposed to have died on the road between Wheeling and Parkersburg, W. Va., according to a confession of Dague made to his wife in the Lawrence County jail.

The public is invited to atend the dedication services on November 5, to pay the last public showing of respect to a man who died in order that the law might be enforced.

Your Vote Will Elect W. J. Eroe, Jr.

With all the controversy over the creation of the new office of county controller and with all the charges and counter charges hurled by the various Republican candidates at each other relative to the Republican nomination for the office, the name of Eroe stands out in bold relief.

He is the Democratic nominee for the office which nomination he received from the county committee without a dessenting vote and twice its nominee for auditor without opposition.

A life long resident of Lawrence Co.

A property owner.

A service man.

Qualified—The right age.

Has the training and experience. Mr. Eroe in his talks to various civic organizations, has shown a thorough knowledge of the duties of this office.

He is honest, uncompromising and fearless for right. If elected he will properly and economically (control) the collection and expenditure of your money.

Language Differences Make For Difficulties In Hoover-Laval Talks

Presence Of Interpreters Causes Many Persons To Know "Secrets" Divulged In Conversations

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—If for no other reason than that neither can express himself so as to make the other understand, it is safe to say that the conference just held between President Hoover and Premier Pierre Laval of France never will prove to have resulted in any such strictly entre nous concord as is said to have existed between Mr. Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England ever since their famous chat on the Rapidan two years ago.

The president and Prime Minister MacDonald have not, it is true, been able to shape all American and British policies in harmony, but the general belief in Washington is that at least they have tried.

No interpreters were necessary to enable them to plan co-operatively, however.

* * *

A conversation between Mr. Hoover and M. Laval was a problem of interpretation word by word. Rendering English into French and vice versa is simple enough where matters of small importance are under discussion but with issues of national safety and welfare at stake the merest shades of meaning may be vital. Simply consulting a dictionary is not enough. Linguistic experts are needed—several of them, for even they frequently disagree.

Translating international state papers is a notoriously ticklish job, and one that is done at leisure. A rapid fire oral exchange of views is materially worse.

Necessarily, then, there unavoidably must be a considerable number of persons who will know henceforward fully as much concerning the details of the Hoover-Laval conference as its two principals know, and while of course it all will remain deeply confidential, nevertheless in numbers there usually sooner or later are leaks.

* * *

It is seldom that a European statesman visits America who cannot, after a fashion, speak the idiom of the country, since education in languages is a part of old world education for public life; but M. Laval is an exception, in being a political accident, and therefore untrained in his profession's technicalities.

Mr. Hoover's French, on the other hand, ends practically at the parly voo stage.

He was described, indeed, in early dispatches, as fluent in the tongue of the visiting premier, but the claim appears to have been made for him by one of his secretaries who took it for granted because of his chief's long residence abroad. Assuredly he never made it for himself.

* * *

Secretary of State Stimson is a tolerably proficient French scholar for ordinary social purposes, but by no means equal to diplomatic negotiations without assistance in any language but his own.

M. Laval's daughter Jose—or Josette, her father's pet name for her—proved on her arrival here to speak unexpectedly good English, but with nothing like the rapidity or profundity of knowledge necessary to act as the premier's interpreter, as cables had forecast.

* * *

The linguistic difficulty has given quite a different character to M. Laval's visit from Premier MacDonald's in other respects. It has largely shut the Frenchman off from interviewers, for one item. Except for a few normal statements he did not wish to talk, and there scarcely was anyone available to cross-question him effectively, as was easy in the Briton's case.

M. Laval has not even a correct Parisian accent, according to critics. A provincial, he is described to retaining more than a trace of the patois of central southern France.

Moreover, the premier looks little like the conventional Frenchman.

He is short and chunky, very dark, with full red lips a bristly mustache and hair almost like an Indian's. His head is round and his face is broad, short and chubby. His expression in repose is stolid, as his pictures indicate, though they do him an injustice, too, for he has a particularly amiable smile which appears as soon as he speaks and changes him entirely.

One naturally looks instantly for his necktie, which is white as per specifications. Not a string tie, but a four-in-hand.

* * *

Jose must take after her mother. She is nearly as tall as the premier, and not only slimmer, which is to be expected from her youth, but has not his structural stockiness. The prettiness attributed to her by the society reporters is of the Gallic type, or something other than the American type, anyway. It would be safe to bet against her in an Atlantic City beauty contest.

Wanted, a Chaperone

Judge Mary M. Bartelme

The return of the chaperone—but in modern guise—is advocated by Judge Mary M. Bartelme, judge of the Chicago juvenile court. Judge Bartelme thinks a chaperone who will join in with the life of the girl would help solve the problem of the young feminine delinquent. With boys the judge says palship between father and son is the safest thing to keep the boy out of mischief.

Four Protests Heard Against Trucking Plan

Commissioner Best Hears Four Protests Against Harmony Short Line Company

Harmony Seeks To Use Trucks And Drivers Of Two Other Companies In Project

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28—Four protests were entered before Examiner W. E. Best of the Public Service Commission today against approval of a contract between the Harmony Short Line Transportation Company, the Lightning Package Express Company and the Beaver Valley Service Company by which the Harmony Company would be permitted to use trucks and drivers of the latter two companies in its operations between Pittsburgh and New Castle.

The protestants were the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania Railroad, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad and R. W. Keis, whose application for a route between Pittsburgh and Greenville via New Castle is pending before the commission.

Under terms of the contract, according to the testimony, the Harmony Company would retain operation of its present certificated routes between Pittsburgh and New Castle by way of Butler, Ellwood City and Beaver Falls, but would make use of the trucks and drivers of the other companies.

On cross examination, Frank Salvatore, president of the Beaver Valley Service Company testified that he had solicited business for the Harmony Company for the New Castle route. He also admitted that he had hauled freight for the Harmony Line between Pittsburgh and Beaver Falls in the same trucks in which his drivers carried packages for the Beaver Valley Service Company, which also holds a certificate between the two cities.

Protestants declared that such operation might not be in accord with the Public Service Commission law. All protestants will file briefs in the case and argue orally before the commission.

Duff Is Named Music Director Of Central Church

Assumes His New Duties This Week—To Direct Church Choir

Robert Duff, supervisor of music in the schools of Union township, has been chosen as the director of music in the Central Presbyterian church.

He succeeds Paul Welsh and will begin his new duties Friday evening when he will meet with the choir. For two years he has been associated with the choir of St. John's Lutheran church.

Mr. Duff is well qualified for his new position. He is a graduate of the College of Wooster and spent two years in the famous Westminster choir school. He was a member of the choir that toured Europe and gave concerts in London, Paris, Vienna, Berlin and many other cities on the continent.

While a student he served as minister of music in the Methodist church of Piqua, O. In his work in Central church he will direct the music in Sabbath school, the church choir which is being enlarged and will will develop a junior choir. He will be ably assisted by Miss Helen Ewing as organist and Miss Elizabeth Brewster as director of the church orchestra.

Capone's Guard Gets Six Months

Philip D'Andrea Found Carrying Gun, Given Six Months In Jail

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Six months in the county jail was the penalty levied today on Phil D'Andrea, Capone bodyguard, for carrying a revolver while attending the gang leader's income tax trial.

In sentencing D'Andrea, Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson took occasion to assail Capone as the leader of "an insurrection against the United States" and attacked the gang leader for forcing defense witnesses to commit perjury at his trial.

The jurist referred to Capone's call for witnesses to attend a meeting at "his camp at the Lexington Hotel", where their testimony was discussed.

Due to the serious illness of his mother, who is suffering from diabetes and has been kept in ignorance of her son's difficulties, D'Andrea pleaded for a stay of execution. Judge Wilkerson consented, delaying the beginning of D'Andrea's jail term for two weeks so that he could visit his mother.

The annual Hallowe'en masquerade party at the Mahoning Valley Grange has been arranged for Friday evening, October 30, by the social committee composed of Fred Martin, R. D. Walter and Harold Hoye. An interesting time is assured.

COMMUNITY NOTES

Miss Elma Robinson spent Saturday in Pittsburgh.

Charles Robinson and family spent Sunday afternoon at Mercer.

Howard and Walter Aiken of Portersville were Sunday guests of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Walter.

Joseph Douglas, of Mahoningtown, spent Sunday with his niece, Mrs. William N. Robison.

Vera Cover and Howard Kelso, members of the senior class of Union high school were among those who motored to Pittsburgh on Saturday to attend the international art exhibit.

Beaver Presbytery Ordains Minister

Beaver Valley Presbytery Holds Conference In Portersville Church Tuesday

Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, Dr. A. J. Randles of the Second church, Rev. S. B. Copeland of the Third church; Dr. C. J. Williamson of the Highland church and elders R. A. Eckles of Highland and Thomas Hopkins of the Third church represented the local United Presbyterian churches at the conference of the Beaver Valley Presbytery, held Tuesday afternoon in the Portersville United Presbyterian church.

Featuring the afternoon program was the ordination and installation of Rev. Charles Smith as pastor of the Mountville and Portersville charge. Rev. W. E. Minteer of Ellwood City, moderator of the presbytery, was in charge of the ceremony and Rev. E. V. Condron of Springdale gave the charge to the pastor and the charge to the people was given by Rev. F. C. Black, pastor of the Oak Grove United Presbyterian church.

G. Meyers, a student in the Pittsburgh Seminary, and a member of the Oak Grove church, preached a trial sermon before the presbytery.

Many matters of routine business was taken up at the business session and the matter of pastors' settlement came in for a long discussion.

Merry Circle Has Big Party

Institute Organization Members Enjoy Hallowe'en Party Tuesday

One of the biggest events of the year for the Merry Circle of the Institute of the Y. W. C. A. on Pennsylvania avenue was the Hallowe'en party held Tuesday night. The members were all attired in attractive costumes for the occasion.

Games and music formed the deversions for the evening after which delicious refreshments were served. Prizes were awarded the following, Mrs. Helen Darzinkrewicz, Mrs. Josephine Magusiak and Mrs. Mary Zajac. All present had an enjoyable evening. Miss Emma B. Moore was the special guest. Miss W. J. N. Sroczynska is head of this organization.

JUNIOR HI-Y HOLDS HALLOWE'EN FROLIC

A Hallowe'en frolic will be held by members of the Ben Franklin Junior Hi-Y. in the Y. M. C. A. this evening. Karl Kursh will be director of events. The affair, which will end with a theater party, will start at 6:30 p. m.

Unemployed Are Digging Vegetables

Receive Share Of Crops For Work Done For Farmers

Through the work of J. K. McQuiddy of the Trades and Labor Assembly a number of unemployed men have been going out into the country districts and digging vegetables which have been shared by the farmer and the men working. The share given to the men has been divided between them and the mayor's relief committee and in this way many bushels of vegetables have been placed in storage for the winter relief work.

It is thought that there may be other unemployed men who would like to share in the work, and that there are other farmers who would be glad to have such work done on shares.

If there are, it is suggested that John Connery be called at 3504-R or at the Sporting Goods Store, 407.

Pittsburgh Worker Has Back Broken

Find Workman Badly Injured At Bottom Of Water-Logged Pit

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—A workman suffering a broken back lay for more than six hours at the bottom of the water-logged pit into which he had fallen before he was discovered early today by fellow workers.

Thomas McBride, 25, of the South Side, the victim, was removed to the hospital in a serious condition. He was believed to have toppled into the pit just as the day crew ceased work late yesterday afternoon. Police and workmen using ropes removed him from the pit and rushed him to the hospital.

McBride was employed by the construction company now engaged in sinking foundations for the land pier of the new west end-north side bridge.

Penna. Railroad Declares Dividend

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Directors of the Pennsylvania railroad today declared a dividend of 1 per cent, which is equal to fifty cents per share, payable November 30 to stockholders of record of November 2.

Declaration of the one per cent dividend today makes a total of six and a half per cent paid this year to stockholders compared with eight per cent last year.

Previous dividends were declared at three other meetings this year, two per cent being declared at the quarterly meetings in February and May and one and one-half per cent at the August meeting.

Franklin Girls Have Masquerade

Large Crowd Of Girl Reserves Of Junior High Have Party At "Y"

Their annual Hallowe'en party, better attended and more delightful than ever before, was given by the Benjamin Franklin Girl Reserve Club in the gymnasium of the Y. W C. A., Tuesday evening.

Decorated with orange and black crepe, the gym was a fine setting for the party. The guests were attired in masquerade costumes.

A program of songs, tap and Spanish dances, games and music was presented. Marilyn Blank was chairman of the affair and was helped by Agnes Webster, an advisor. A reading and piano selections were also features of the program.

Later sandwiches, hot chocolate, cup cakes and peanuts were served, prizes presented and the evening came to a close shortly after 9 o'clock.

NEW CLUB WILL BE FORMED THIS EVENING AT Y. W.

Continuation school girls, of George Washington Junior high school, will gather at the Y. W. C. A. at 7 o'clock tonight for an organization meeting. The Girl Reserve department of the "Y" under the direction of Miss Marian Wilson, plans to formulate a club of these girls, to meet regularly throughout the winter.

Woman Fights Lone-Handed To Save Famous Gold Mine

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Ruth S. Graves, a woman with determined, flashing blue eyes, is making a fight almost lone handed over a famous gold mine in the Mojave desert.

Litigation and deputy United States marshals have figured in it, and there was a mile-a-minute ride with an injunction to halt the sale of the mine under a sheriff's hammer.

The late John Hays Hammond and Chauncey M. Depew were stockholders in the mine, the Pacific, and had a part in its early development. It has produced fore than $7,000,000 in gold, silver and copper. Tom Carmack, who discovered it in 1899, claims other millions are waiting to be mined.

More than a million dollars was spent in developing the Pacific. The main ore bodies then known were worked. Maneuvers among stockholders for control led to a gradual shutdown.

New companies were formed, new and allegedly illegal leases were made, taxes became delinquent and the title was snarled. The mine finally was ordered sold at San Bernardino, Cal., to satisfy a $6,037 judgment obtained by Martin Taylor.

Sheriff Ernest T. Shay prepared to auction it to the highest bidder at 2 p. m. At 1:58 his telephone rang. The United States marshal was called from Los Angeles. He told Shay that Mrs. Graves, trustee for her two children who owned 16,000 shares in the original Pacific corporation, had convinced the court there was evidence of collusion between Taylor and John H. Hobbs, president of the corporation, to gain control of the mine and deprive stockholders of their rights.

Armed with a federal injunction, Mrs. Graves and a deputy marshal drove the 62 miles to San Bernardino in an hour and 15 minutes.

A Letter to the Public—Think It Over

From certain statements gleaned from the columns of the New Castle News under Political advertisement, it would appear that, in the opinion of some, public offices are no longer the gift of the American People, but of some political organizations instead.

It is true that a process of elimination has been provided through the primaries, with laws and rules to govern, but while certain honorable citizens appeal to the voters after the manner prescribed, others resort to such methods as the buying of votes, paying of taxes, hiring of workers, and promising of rewards. Meanwhile the organization manipulates the candidates, bringing them out here and there, so as to weaken any that might prove too formidable to those loyal to the organization. When the dirty work is done, they have the audacity to call them "our" candidates.

As long as we see loafing politicians and their appointees during the short hours they are on duty content with keeping their feet on the desk, talking politics, and building political fences, we will challenge their right to dictate as to who shall hold public office.

The fact is that Lawrence County is in need of several independent candidates who are willing to take Public Office seriously and to put the feet of idle appointees on the floor and their hands to work, or remove them.

Victories at neither Yorktown nor Appomattox, with or without free lances, would not have been won had the soldiers employed the same cut throat teamwork and selfish indifference to duty that characterizes the efforts of many of our politicians and their appointees; neither did Calvin Coolidge have in mind such public charges when he uttered the statement recently quoted.

The intelligent voters will not be deluded by cries of "team work", and "stick to the party", but will recognize them as a political smoke screen to hide their unethical tactics from the public. When voters insist on high grade nominees the organization will furnish them—not until then. Meanwhile cast your votes for the men qualified even if not endorsed by the machine.

Yours for clean politics,

Rescuers Work Feverishly To Liberate Men

Two Rescue Crews Are Racing To Aid Of Six Trapped Miners

CHANCE THAT MEN ARE STILL ALIVE

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 28.—Two rescue crews vied today in cutting passages through tons of coal and rock to reach six entombed men in the Mocanaqua mine of the West End Coal Company, near here.

A second crew was added and is drilling a new passage through solid coal. The first squad of workmen continued to clear the main manway of hundreds of tons of debris which piled up from fresh slides almost as fast as it was removed.

May Be Alive.

Joseph J. Walsh, of Wilkes-Barre, chief deputy of the state bureau of mines, expressed the belief that the men might still be alive, but that their rescue depends on whether the crews can get to them within the next twenty-four hours.

No signal came from the imprisoned men since a huge fall, caused by an explosion, trapped them.

'Four Hundred' Figures

Social Leaders Of New York And Nation As Seen By Ethelda Bedford, New Castle News Staff Writer

MRS. CORNELIUS VANDERBILT WHITNEY

By ETHELDA BEDFORD

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—No figure in society has had greater influence over What The Smart Sports Woman Should Wear than the stunning and yes, beautiful, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.

Yet a mannekin in a Paris shop could not wear street and party attire more fetchingly.

Tall, with dark brown hair, with a natural wave, large wistful eyes, full shapely lips and finely designed features, Mrs. Whitney never goes unnoticed whether she is in a crowded ball room or at a roaring race track.

Familiar Track Figure

She has long been one of the most familiar figures at fashionable race tracks, being one of the outstanding horsewomen of social circles, and a member of the Radnor Hunt club, of Philadelphia.

Few have received the attention that Mrs. Whitney was given as the beautiful Gwladys Crosby Hopkins, daughter of Mrs. Stevens Heckscher, of Philadelphia and Stratford, Pa., and the late Mark Hopkins, Jr., of Boston.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. L. G. Crosby of New York and a niece of the Marquis de Polignac of Paris so well remembered as Nina Crosby.

In 1927 she was presented at the Court of St. James.

She always has had an individual wardrobe. Her riding habits have ever been the last gallop in fabric and design. And even before you knew tilted hats were to be worn on bridal paths, the lovely Mrs. Whitney was wearing one.

Her husband, known to his numerous friends as "Sonny" an internationally known follower of the turf inherited one of the finest racing stables in the country from his late father, Harry Payne Whitney. It was this mutual love of the turf which helped bring about the romance between "Sonny" and the lovely Miss Hopkins.

She surprised the few close friends and relatives who were fortunate enough to be invited to their wedding by wearing a pale seafoam panne velvet, cut on simple lines, sheath-like, close over the hips and trailing the floor, instead of the conventional white.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney

The ceremony took place in the luxurious estate of her mother, "Greenwood Farm." It might have been one of the most pretentious, but everyone was surprised by its simplicity

Mrs. Whitney presides as one of New York's great ladies with the grace and utter ease which only comes with generations of cultural environment.

She never seems to try to play the part of a "great lady." She has the admirable confidence of knowing she is, a great lady, and therefore does not feel obliged to make a point of it either in word or manner.

Hogue Gets Help For Permit Task

A steady line of applicants filed into County Poor Director M. B. Hogue's headquarters this morning to receive permits for digging county coal. Permits are given out only on Wednesdays.

The number applying made it necessary to seek the help of County Commissioner T. J. McCullough and a court house stenographer.

GOSPEL SONGS SUBJECT OF TALK

The Wednesday evening service in the First Presbyterian church will be of an unusually interesting character as the old time hymns and gospel songs will be sung and Dr. W. E. McClure, pastor of the church will give a brief history and interesting facts about how they were written and why.

Erie Man Dies In Dentists' Chair

Fright And Shock Blamed By Coroner For Death Of Man Having Tooth Pulled

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 28.—Fright and shock today were blamed by Coroner Dan Hanley for the death of John F. Reynolds, 60, of Erie, who died in a dentist's chair.

Reynolds had gone to the dentist to have a tooth extracted. The dentist administered gas and a short time later Reynolds fell from the chair dead.

Firemen were unsuccessful in their attempts to resusitate Reynolds through the use of oxygen.

Intensive Hunt For Pair Begins

Monongahela Valley Is Being Combed For Young Girl And Her Alleged Abductor

MOTHER OF GIRL SENT TO HOSPITAL

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 28.—Mary Laskota, pretty 19-year old store clerk, thought kidnaped by her jealous suitor, Joseph Valencia, 24, was believed today by police to be held a prisoner in some remote hideout where State troopers and posses have been unable to find the pair.

Mrs. Peter Laskota, the girl's mother, hurled from the running board of Valencia's car as he sped away with her daughter, was ordered removed to the Monongahela Memorial hospital suffering a fractured left shoulder. Physicians said her condition was aggravated because of the disappearance of her daughter.

Hideouts Hunted

Police Chief Charles Young, of Monongahela, declared his force had searched "through every hang-out of Valencia's in Monongahela and Forward township, Allegheny county. The girl and man seems to have been swallowed up by the earth," he declared.

Valencia was said by police to have gone to a store in Donora where the girl was employed and offered to drive her home. He stopped before the Laskota home, sounded the horn of his automobile, and then sped away when Mrs. Laskota stepped to the running board of the car to remove her daughter.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—It has been widely said that the stranger in New York sees aspects of the town hidden from the calloused eyes of natives. I believe this is true. Still, there are certain odd, small discoveries which only pop up after you have been looking around awhile.

For example: Only recently came realization that the residents of some districts of the city talk louder, longer and more heatedly than the inhabitants of other sections. It you don't believe this, prowl around the avenues roofed by elevated lines. You won't notice the astonishingly high-pitched and vociferous tones of people who live in the constant roar of steel clanging steel unless you pick a quiet Sunday morning for your investigation.

Then, with the racket suddenly shut off, the folk about scream at each other in a manner that approaches the comic. They have been competing with the bedlam of traffic six days a week. On the seventh they can't gear themselves down.

WHITEWASHED

Every trip up Riverside drive brings a smile passing No. 103—the residence of the late Amelia Bingham, the actress. Strewn about the grounds are specimens of white statuary of all kinds, the largest gathering of its type in the world. William Collier, one of Amelia's friends, once said:

"When I die I hope they will whitewash men and put me beside Shakespeare above Amelia's door."

LOVE STORY

This is the sort of yarn that makes editors sniff suspiciously for the lurking press agent, but in this case I can vouch for authenticity. After all, only the milder Manhattan fantasies are imaginary; the most bizarre are real.

Mr. Walter Wanger was awakened, in his fortieth-floor suite at the Waldorf Astoria, the other morning, by the brisk heat of wings. Mr. Wagner is a movie director and therefore used to the incredible, but even he was startled by noise of what seemed to be a whole covey of birds in rapid flight about him.

He squinted at the ceiling and made out the source of the commotion—a single bird about the size of an overgrown canary, but possessed of demoniacal desire to get out. How it got in was a question, for the window was open only a few inches and protected by a glass ventilator.

But in it was—and not liking it. Wanger telephoned to Louis Adlon—son of the famed Berlin hotelman—who happened to be on duty at the desk. Adlon rushed upstairs to find the movie mogul hopping about in his pajamas, trying to entrap his guest in a shoe box.

Together they made a capture, but meanwhile, believe it or not, the bird's mate had wiggled through the window aperture—in the best movie tradition of heroes to the rescue of maidens, as Mr. Wanger ought to know—and was whisking indignantly around.

Later, at a Lexington avenue pet store, the birds were identified as juncos, or snowbirds. Mr. Wanger departed with his wife and the two love-birds, cooing happily in the shoebox, just like a fadeout.

After all, for $100 a day, the management ought to throw in a couple of juncos.

VARIETY

Here are pomgranates glistening under vivid calcium flares. Egg plants in shiny black profusion. Oyster stands where the bivalves are split before your eyes to be gobbled with a set-up of horseradish and ketchup. Fresh caught snails and eels. A stand which sells nothing but dill pickles as large as small melons, and fiery red peppers pickled.

Grapefruit, three for 11 cents. A shop of strange spices and condiments; puma seed, dried mushrooms Italiano, cinnamon by the ounce, aromatic barks from trees on the other side of the world. . . . Here, indeed, is the real New York. Here the milling mob lacks the pallor, the night-eyes to be seen along Broadway. Here even the bums seem to be having a good time—what with morsels of fruit to be filched from unwary shopkeepers and one thing and another.

CREDIT

At luncheon the other day I heard a spirited argument over who was responsible for the introduction of the Empress Eugenie hat vogue. A well-known fashion arbiter was present, along with two illustrators and a society woman.

The fashion man pointed, as might be expected, to Paris. The illustrators thought Russell Patterson's drawings in the magazines had started the thing. The dowager said: "Why, don't you know how it happened? Women wanted to wear veils and a Eugenie hat is the only sort of contraption that looks well above them."

Which sums up, of course, too, a perfectly adequate solution of the problem.

Wife Unaware Of Husband's Death

Mrs. George Patterson Seriously Ill In Uniontown Hospital —May Not Live

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 28.—Unaware that her husband, George Patterson, prominent Fayette county attorney, is dead, Mrs. Lola Patterson today remained in a critical condition in a hospital here with physicians fearing she too may die.

Mrs. Patterson has been in the hospital for several days. Her husband was stricken suddenly at his home yesterday and was hurried to the hospital, where he succumbed a short time later.

Patterson, who began life as a miner and entered the law practice when an accident incapacitated him for his first occupation, had taken an active part in politics and was one of the best known attorneys in this section.

Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby, the attending physician, expressed satisfaction over the improvement in Beamish's condition, declaring there would now be no need of an operation.

JAPS DO NOT TRUST COURT

Japan Will Not Permit World Court To Interpret Manchurian Dispute

(International News Service)

GENEVA, Oct. 28.—The League of Nations was notified today that Japan will not permit the World Court to interpret existing treaties between herself and China in connection with the Manchurian dispute.

Tokyo does not trust the court, it was said by a person close to the Japanese delegation, because its decision in the Austro-German customs union proposal was purely political. Tokyo fears that having been outvoted when the league council called for evacuation of Manchuria by Nov. 16 it would suffer a similar fate at The Hague.

Grove City Legion Selects Officers

Colonel Fred McCoy Is Named Commander For Ensuing Year

GROVE CITY, Pa., Oct. 28.—Colonel Fred McCoy was elected commander of the local post, American Legion, at the meeting of the post Monday evening to be one of the best held here.

McCoy with the other officers elected are installed by District Commander Charles H. Strubel of Warren. The legion accepted the invitation of the Sharon post to take part in their Armistice Day celebration and parade. Other officers elected include John Gursky fire vice-commander adjutant Major W. G. Smith, finance officer P. C. Hassler.

GIVE TO HOMES

The ladies of the five missionary societies of the United Presbyterian church and the members of the junior society combined here this evening in contributions of food and clothing displayed at the church for the church home for aged at Wilkinsburg and the orphanage at Valencia.

USE VACATED BUILDINGS

With the opening and use of the two new buildings at Grove City College the trustees are not forgetting the remodeling of the building vacated that can be put to other uses.

For the first time since the enlarged enrollment which extends back to war-days there is enough room at the college to properly conduct the work.

The old science building will be all revamped as will be the wing of the administration building where the laboratory work and classes in chemistry were conducted.

To what use these rooms will be put cannot be definitely stated as yet as a program is being worked out. With the present equipment and completion of the new boys dormitory now in building Grove City College will be amply provided with buildings for some years to come.

WAITING LIST GROWS

The depression is increasing the waiting list at the Wayside Inn here states E. G. Eichholtz the superintendent today.

The Inn is the Western Pennsylvania home for aged and infirm members of the I. O. O. F. Lodge in the state. At present the list totals 42 expectant guests. This list has totaled 48 says Eichholtz.

Only 122 can be housed at the home. The number now resident is 119 with three guests arriving this week. Men reaching 60 and better in age unable to get work are increasing in number say the officials. The home has just been visited by Grand Lodge officials of Philadelphia. During the past summer and fall approximately 10,000 members of the order and their families visited.

WALTERS SPEAK

R. G. Walters of the college personnel bureau is in demand as a speaker. The educator just returned from Indianapolis where he attended a state educational meeting left the first of this week for Altoona where he represented Grove City College at a meeting of high school students there.

State Farmers Fare Better Than Those Of Nation

Pennsylvania Farmers Do Not Feel Depression As Bad As Others

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Pennsylvania farmers are not going to feel the depression as much during the present fiscal year as such producers in the country as a whole, it is indicated by estimates made public today by the Commerce Department.

During the year ended June 30, last, the total cash farm income of Pennsylvania was placed at $240,500,000. According to estimates for the year ending June 30, 1932, this income will fall to $222,300,000, a drop of eight per cent. In the country as a whole, on the other hand, a drop of 12 per cent is predicted.

Upon the basis of the last five years as an average, the cash farm income of Pennsylvania during the present year is expected to be 22 per cent below normal. This income in the country as a whole, however, is expected to be 32 per cent below normal.

The Pennsylvania average for the five year period was $285,400,000.

The total cash farm income of the Nation was $7,666,000,000 during the past fiscal year, average $9,879,000,000 during the five year period but is expected to amount to only $6,710,000,000 during the present year.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

The first attempt made in the Croton district to enlarge its manufacturing activities about the time of the advent of the glass factory was a pottery for the manufacture of common earthenware. This was put in operation by Isaac Rose on a piece of land purchased of George Crow. Mr. Rose carried on the business for several years. There was also at an early day a small stoneware manufactory. It was operated by Ferdman Aye, a German, who operated it for some eight or ten years. Bricks were manufactured by William Crow, David Shaffer and John Tidball and later by John Hammett and John G. Ray. A grocery store was opened by David Emery as early as 1846. Among the earliest physicians of the district were Doctors Searles and Fish. Iron ore was quite abundant in the vicinity and stone for building purposes was quarried quite extensively in the district for many years. One of the industries of the earlier days was the nursery and greenhouses of Butz Brothers, which has been continued until the present time.

In 1930 the net income of the Panama canal from tolls, taxes, licenses, fees, fines, postal receipts, etc., was $18,082,452, and the net profit on auxiliary business operations was $760,972.

Cider Adds To Police Worries

Mercer County Officers Find Hard Cider Around Dance Halls

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 28.—During this season of the year police say that the menu of drinks found at public places generally lists hard cider.

This year more than just the average is being found due to the abnormal crop of apples and the thousands of gallons of the beverage that have been made in this county.

The kick from hard cider is all that could be asked from the home made beverages that are the popular drink with the masses.

Constables who have been investigating the public dance halls of the county under instructions from Judge J. A. McLaughry say that they find much of the liquor being used right now hard cider. The police add when they say it is hard they don't mean maybe.

The drink is seasonable and only makes this appearance in the fall of the year. Unless in great quantity by the first of the year the boys should be back on moonshine.

PLAN RED CROSS DRIVE

Twenty-six local chairman of that number of districts in Mercer county will assist W. S. McKay of Greenville president of the First National there in putting on the enrollment drive of the Red Cross starting Armistice Day.

Under each chairman will be enrolled the solicitors.

The goal of the county organization is $6,000 which at the rate of one dollar each would be 6000 members.

PLAN HONEY DEMONSTRATION

How to extract honey from the comb will be demonstrated at Greenfield on November 12th, by E. J. Anderson of State College, bee specialist.

The demonstration is among the few of its kind ever held in Mercer county. Bee raising once a pursuit of some magnitude is no longer so profitable, it is said.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

HAS SUGGESTION

New Castle, Pa.,
October 28, 1931.

Editor of The News.
Dear Sir:

If I had the power, I would like to state what I would do to relieve the present economic situation, and I would not wait until next summer to do it, but would get started right away.

In the recent article in The News, on how to remedy conditions by government action, is contained some of the best ideas that I have yet seen expressed on the subject. I say 'Amen' to every word of that.

Congressman Hamilton Fish is the man speaking in this article, and he states that the government must act if the charities fail. Congressman Fish urges a billion dollar bond issue to aid in the present crisis.

We are in the midst of a world wide depression which affects millions of American wage earners and is causing distress and dread throughout the land. It is an appalling condition.

Congressman Fish says we are the richest nation in the land and have an overabundance of wheat, coal, and lumber, and the Federal government does not propose to let any American citizen starve or freeze to death during this world-wide depression.

He says that every citizen has a clearcut duty to give according to his means, and to give until it hurts, if necessary, to relieve the distress and starvation among our own people. Charity begins at home.

With this idea of Congressman Fish's that charity begins at home, I would have the viaduct built at the top of Croton hill, which has been the talk of the county for forty years. I would also build a new court house, make new playgrounds and parks and beautify New Castle and that would open the brickyards, cement plant, and open up some work for the unemployed. Let us as a government not kid ourselves and think everything will come out all right without doing something.

Respectfully yours,
Annie M. Williams,
707 Croton Avenue.

WILL HUNT FOR WHITE RHINOCEROS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28—Some people hunt ducks, some hunt tigers, but George Bistany, San Francisco zoo manager, is going out for a white rhinocerous.

Bistany promised Dr. William Hornday, Bronx Park curator in New York, that he would get him one of the rare animals. That was 15 years ago.

Now Bistany will go to British Sudan, in Central Africa, to keep his promise. White rhinos are found near the hearquarters of the Blue Nile, deep in the Sudan, and are exceedingly rare. Their near extinction by hunters has led the British government to place a ban on hunting them, but Bistany is reported to have bargained with the British authorities, and to have obtained permission to seek one of the animals.

An American sportsman was the last permitted to shoot one of the rhinos, after paying $75,000 for the privilege.

Can Physical Condition Of Body Cause Crime?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Dr. Walter Timme was interviewed on his return from Europe this year and stated that, in his opinion, as the result of research, crime was due to an increase of calcium in the blood of criminals.

So ridiculous is such a pronouncement that one would like to think that Dr. Timme had been misunderstood, or misquoted by a busy reporter with an exaggerated new sense. But Dr. Timme's habit for such pronouncements rather inclines one to a less charitable view.

As a matter of authentic record Dr. Timme stated a few years ago that criminals were caused by lack of pituitary secretions in the blood. He stated it in print under his own name in an article in the magazine section of one of the New York papers.

At that time before calcium had swum into his ken, Dr. Timme had found a young boy who had too little pituitrin in the blood, and the boy was a bad boy, running hither and yon in the neighborhood, going so far as to do a little stealing. His parents were annoyed at this, and took him to a physician to be examined. Thus it was found that he was suffering from lowered secretion of the pituitary gland.

So he was given some pituitary secretion hypodermically and, lo and behold, he stopped running hither and yon and ceased stealing. All went merry as a marriage bell until one day they ran of pituitary secretion to give him so he did not get his daily dose, and he broke into a house and recommenced his stealing. Which proved apparently that it really was the low pituitary secretion that made him a criminal.

There is a large school of thought which believes the general theory of which this is one example, that peculiar conduct, whether actually criminal or of a less troublesome variety, is due to some physical condition of the body—whether lack of an essential chemical agent or, as is the more popular idea, a small bone pressing on some part of the brain. Unfortunately such ideas cannot be accepted in any whole-hearted spirit for the very good reason that many peolpe have these peculiar chemical deficiencies or pressure on the brain without being criminals, and also because people are criminals with perfectly normal blood chemistry and without bones pressing on the brain.

On would have a little more confidence in the ideas if Dr. Timme would make up his mind exactly what it is that is the cause of crime. When it is calcium one year and pituitary deficiency another it causes a natural confusion and prevents one from going out and doing battle for the cause. If it is calcium, there is much work to be done.

Throat Sore? Don't Gargle

It is no longer necessary to gargle and choke and take chances with patent medicines for sore throat. You can now get quicker and better relief with Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles. Its special action relieves the throat soreness with the very first swallow. Its internal action removes the cause which otherwise might develop into a serious illness.

Most coughs, especially night coughs, are caused by an irritated throat. Thoxine will stop this kind of cough at once. Safe—children like it. Remember Thoxine will relieve sore throat or coughs within 15 minutes or your money back. 35c, 60c, $1.00 bottles. Souvenir Hunters Continue Vandalism At Milan, Ohio, Home Of Late Inventor

(International News Service)

MILAN, O., Oct. 28—Civilian guards probably will be stationed at the birthplace of Thomas A. Edison here for the first time next Sunday to prevent a continuation of the vandalism by souvenir hunters which began after the noted inventor's death.

Hundreds of motorists, many of them from distant points, have visited the "little brick house on the Hogback" since Edison's death and many have cut pieces of bark from the trees or have chipped bits of brick from the walls, according to Miss Marietta Wadsworth, present occupant of the dwelling.

Game Board Wants To Buy Abandoned Farming Land

W. Gard Conklin, chief of the bureau of refuges and land of the state game commission, has sent the following self-explanatory letter to all members of the state games forces:

So-called abandoned farms constitute the best small game territory in the state. According to the 1920 census there were then 172,000 in this state, and in 1930 they had increased to 200,000. The game commission is interested in purchasing lands made up partly of abandoned farms and partly timber or brush. A few such areas have been acquired, but there are many other sections of the state where they should be available. Unfortunately, it has been difficult to obtain a thousand acres or more in a contiguous area at reasonable prices.

Hoping to acquire additional areas of combined woodland and abandoned farms, the board at their meeting October 2 agreed to purchase as small an area as 500 acres anywhere in the state. Attention is invited, also, to the fact that the board will purchase as small an area as 500 acres of timber and brush land in the southeast corner of the state (Adams, York, Dauphin, Berks, Schuylkill, Lehigh, Northampton, Lebanon, Lancaster, Chester, Montgomery, Bucks and Delaware counties) and in the western tier of counties (Indiana, Armstrong, Erie, Crawford, Mercer, Butler, Lawrence, Beaver, Allegheny, Washington and Greene.)

All available funds for the purchase of lands during the present fiscal year, that is to June 1, 1932, are now obligated. Whatever options are submitted now must be good until after that date to July 15, 1932, anticipating that funds will be available as of June 1, 1932. The board will probably meet during the first half of July, which would give them an opportunity of acting on options prior to the 15th of that month.

Co-operation of our entire field force is requested in trying to locate abandoned farm lands which the owners are anxious to sell. Such lands, in some instances, can be acquired at as little as $2 an acre, and usually range up to about $5 per acre. If you know of suitable sites which you are certain the owners wish to sell, please give us their names and addresses, the number of acres involved and the townships and counties in which located. It is not often that one owner will have 500 acres or more, but if two or more adjoiners owning at least 500 acres want to sell, please pass on the information to us. Remember that 500 acres in a contiguous area is the minimum the board will be interested in.

NEW YORK GUNMAN IS FOUND SLAIN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Vannie Higgins, Brooklyn beer baron, and two aides were sought by police on Tuesday for questioning in a sensational murder in the heart of New York.

Robert Benson was shot down by a gunman who fired three bullets into his head. As he lay dying on the sidewalk, the slayer "broke" his revolver and emptied its cylinder of the three undischarged bullets into his fallen foe.

Benson had been Higgins' chief lieutenant at one time. He was accused by police recently of stabbing Higgins in a night club.

BODY OF SLAIN WOMAN IS FOUND

(International News Service)

MATTOON, Wis., Oct. 28.—The nude and mutilated body of a young woman was found near here today on the edge of the Menominee Reservation, north of Shawano.

The woman's mutilated head was enclosed in a gunny sack. Bert Lane, a farmer, found the girl in a field. She weighed about 140 pounds, had a ruddy complexion and black hair.

Authorities believe she was dragged into the field last night.

Need Physician's Advice On Reduction Program

"If magazine and newspaper articles and advertisements are any indication of the number of people in the United States today who are overweight, it must be admitted that of the mature population a vast number are in that condition. And, on the other hand, one has but to observe the people on the street, to realize that a great many of them are too thin. Indeed, normalcy is the exception," states Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"It goes without saying that if one has foolishly allowed himself to become too heavy, serious consideration should be given to the problem of regaining normal weight. But the difficulty in this connection is that many persons who realize the folly of their overindulgence, 'fall' for diet fads and harmful reduction methods.

"And indeed there is no doubt that semi-starvation of one type or another will do the trick but such an imposition upon nature is exceedingly dangerous and most certainly should be avoided. 'Eighteen pounds in eighteen days' and similar seductive slogans sound very dramatic, but such drastic measures involve for most persons a real risk.

"No one should embark on a reduction program without first having obtained a physician's advice. But it is equally important that the man or woman who is underweight seeks medical advice. And the sooner the better. Barring disease, bad habits such as the excessive use of stimulants and improper food habits are usually at the bottom of this condition.

"It should be understood that whether fat or thin, everyone has a normal weight standard. To attain it through scientifically approved methods and then maintain it should mean added years of life—a worth while effort indeed."

ROSE POINT

The Young Ladies Bible class of the Presbyterian church had a masquerade party at the home of their teacher, Miss Mary Ramsey on Friday evening, October 23.

The ladies came masked and a very enjoyable evening was had in playing games and in Hallowe'en stunts, closing the evening of fun with a hamburg fry. The ladies attending were Cora Mershimer, Lucille Shaffer, Rosabelle Shaffer, Mrs. Lula Shaffer, Helen Weise, Mrs. Cole Beatrice Shealer, Leona Eckert, Pauline Whiteman, Alice Gettings, Martha Hazlett, Eleanor Turner, Elizabeth Turner and the hostess.

The Young Ladies Missionary society of the Presbyterian church had an all day meeting on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Book. The day was spent in quilting. STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets brings no griping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

New Evidence In "Trunk Murders"

Get New Evidence At Phoenix, Arizona, Against Ruth Judd —Husband Surrenders

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—The jigsaw puzzle of the "trunk murder" case showed signs Tuesday of fitting together into a comprehensible pattern.

Pieces in the jagged puzzle were supplied by Phoenix, Ariz., and Los Angeles investigators of the slaying of Hedwig Samuelson, red haired invalid school teacher, and Agnes Leroi, pleasant-faced nurse, by Mrs. Ruth Judd.

From Phoenix came word that Lucille Moore, nurse friend of the slain women, was found at the home of friends where she sought refuge from a spotlight turned on her because she was believed to be an important witness. New evidence was also said to have been discovered there that filled in several "blind spots" in the story told by Mrs. Judd.

Dr. Judd Surrenders.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—Dr. William C. Judd, portly husband of Mrs. Ruth Judd, the Arizona "tiger woman" accused of a double murder, Tuesday surrendered to Under-sheriff Eugene Biscailuz on a warrant charging that Dr. Judd violated the California medical act.

Dr. Judd was accused of treating patients at a clinic from October 9 to October 19, without a California certificate to practice medicine.

Bail was fixed at $500.

BLIND STUDENT'S GENIUS

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col.—Oddly perforated strips of paper are making it possible for Charles Falconi, blind student in Denver university, to acquire an education. Falconi, blind since his ninth year, expects to become a lawyer soon. While listening to lectures Falconi is busy perforating sheets of paper with a peculiar contrivance which he operates. Then he passes his sensitive fingers over the perforated paper and can repeat the lectures.

SOLDIER PSYCHOANALYZED

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass.—The American soldier is a poor routine worker, but always a good fighter today just as at the time of Cornwallis' defeat at Yorktown, according to Professor Robert E. Moody of the history department at Boston university's college of liberal arts. "Individualism is the cause of the American's good soldiery," says Professor Moore. "General Greene at Yorktown expressed the feeling when he said of his men, 'we fight, get beaten, rise and fight again'."

UNIVERSITY BEQUEATHED RARE FIRST EDITIONS

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The University of Chicago has been left 1,000 volumes of Russian revolutionary materials, largely the memoirs, argument and propaganda of exiled anarchists and terrorists, the greatest collection of its kind, by Jacob J. Cohan, late Chicago pharmacist.

The collection contains 650 works in Russian. The very rare and valuable first editions of "Byloe"—"The Past" — published in Switzerland from 1897 on by exiles are listed in the collection.

It is estimated that each of America's poor would have three frocks two coats and four pair of shoes if housewives could be persuaded to clean out their closets.

REPORTS ENCOURAGING FOR STEEL INDUSTRY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Reports from metal consuming industries are a trifle more encouraging this week, but there are contrary trends in the demands for various forms of steel, the weekly Iron Age summary to be released tomorrow points out. It is accordingly difficult to determine whether a uniformly upward movement in steel bookings and operations can be expected within the near future.

Moderate gains in orders for bars, sheets, wire products, tin plate, rails and track supplies are offset by declining requirements in structural steel, plates and pipe with the net result slightly favorable for some mills and districts. The review goes on to say that steel operations have expanded a little at Pittsburgh, Youngstown, and Birmingham, but are virtually stationary at Chicago, Cleveland and elsewhere. For the country as a whole, the ingot production rate may be measured at 29 per cent of capacity, compared with 28 per cent a week ago, the smallness of the gain reflecting the continued curb on buying.

The automobile industry has been going forward on its new production schedules more slowly than expected, and some steel orders looked for this month will not be placed until November.

New low levels for pig iron and steel scrap are recorded in the Iron Age composite prices, pig iron having declined to $15, the lowest level since October, 1915.

WHAT NEW CASTLE SCHOOLS ARE DOING

MODERN GEOGRAPHY

By NANNIE L. MITCHELTREE

What is "modern" geography? Is not the science of geography as old as the world itself? It is quite true that the geographic facts which we learned yesterday were just as accurate as they are today; but the revolution has come, not in the facts themselves, but in the interpretation of those facts in their relation to human activity, as well as in their method of presentation. An older generation learned to sing to the "tune of a hickory stick" as often as not.

"The capital of Maine, Augusta,
On the Kennebec River;"

This song together with the mere mention of the fact that manufacturing was the principal industry of New England completed their knowlege of that group of states. But the grandchildren of that older generation today learn to understand that the development of manufacturing in New England is due to a combination of such factors as the presence of power, nearness to raw materials, ease of transportation and an early start in the industry. Thus they learn to understand a fundamental geographic principle—that people learn to make their work and their ways of living fit the kind of country in which they dwell. It is the human relationships which are so significant in modern geography and the interpretation of these relationships is the peculiar function of present day geography.

It is within comparatively few years that geography has become a humanized science. The older geography textbooks contained an almost infinite amount of so-called geographic materials: there were unrelated facts of zoology, of botany, of geology pure and simple; of hostory, with no attempt made to show how geography had influenced it. Geography textbooks became almost encyclopedic in content. "Now" says J. Russell Smith, "each year sees a deepening realization that the science of geography is really a study of cause and effect, an explanation of things, a basis of understanding a subject valuable in finance, manufacturing and trade as well as in the higher citizenship—the good relations of the nations with each other as nations."

The following quotations from textbooks of three different dates illustrate this development of geography from a mere collection of unrelated facts to the science of cause and effect that it is today. The first is taken from a geography text published about 1875 and covers the entire subject of Switzerland; "Switzerland is a very mountainous country, and celebrated for its magnificent scenery. The Alps cover a large part of its surface. There are also many beautiful lakes. Cattle-raising is the chief farming pursuit. The principal manufacturers are those of watches, jewelry and silks. The inhabitants are noted for their simple manners, bravery and patriotism."

Nor do the next forty years see much improvement in our text; the following from a textbook of 1915 adds no more meat to the dry bones of facts; "The Swiss people live in a highland home. Their country is shut in on all sides and does not reach the sea. The people speak the language of other nations close by. The climate of the land is cool and cattle graze in the cool valleys. But ter and cheese are made in this little country. The people of Switzerland also make fine laces and sell many of them in our country."

Now note the change of viewpoint in the following from a textbook published within the last five years. This quotation covers only one phase of the problem of how the Swiss use their land to make a living. "The men and boys of the village have taken the cattle to the high mountains pasture called 'alps' early in the spring. The day on which they started for the alps was a holiday, and Gerda and the other children followed the herders part way up the mountain side. Since that day Gerda's father has returned to the village once to cary down some cheeses and to take back bread and vegetables. As long as the cattle grazed in the lower pastures the herders lived in little huts near the waterfall. How can you tell that these in the picture have been built merely for summer shelter? (These questions refer the pupil to the accompanying picture which thus becomes an integral part of the text.) "Of what are the houses built? From where do you think the material came? What has been used instead of nails? Why not make the roofs perfectly flat so it would be even easier for the poles and stones to stay on? After staying two or three weeks in this pasture the cattle are driven still higher up the mountain where, as summer days grow longer the grass becomes green. Every day each man milks his cows and makes the milk into cheese. During the four or five months that the herders spend in the high pastures they commonly make more than one hundred pounds of cheese from the milk of a single cow. They move again and again. The last move is made in July. The herders now bring the cattle back to the lower pastures, where they eat what is called the aftergrass. By the middle of October the herders, the cattle and the goats will be back in the village."

Thus the new geography, in seeking to show the adjustment the Swiss people make to their environment, points out to the child that this seasonal migration is not a mere whim of the Swiss who, perchance, like moving better than staying in one place, but is the adjustment in their mode of living to an environment in whch the pasturage of any one locality becomes exhausted and the herders and their flocks must move to pastures new.

Thus the child is led to a wholesome attitude toward the activities of other people, a sympathetic understanding of their peculiar problems. He learns that the Eskimo's diet of blubber, meat and fish is an adjustment to a cold climate in which he must make use of the scanty resources of his environment to provide heat for his body: the Arab's entire life is an adjustment to one great fact—scarcity of water; his lack of a permanent home, the constant moving in search of pasturage for his flocks, even his ideas about property are directly related to this factor of his environment.. As the child advances he learns that even the economic and political problems of many people are influenced by geography; for example, the need of Japan to find new homes for her people is the result of an overcrowded condition on the small islands where it is possible to cultivate only one-sixth of the land.

Today, because the world has been made small by improved means of transportation and communication, isolation is the thing of the past. We realize more than ever before the interdependence of the people of all nations. In our children must be developed a world-mindedness, an ability to see social, economic and political problems of our own and other nations. Geography contributes more to this development of world citizenship than any other subject of the curriculum.

Along with the revolution in geography textbooks has come a change in the methodis of teaching; we have had to reorganize the methods of presentation as well as the subject matter. Since the older texts contained little but a collection of unrelated facts geography teaching interested itself largely in the deadly memorization of these facts with no more attempt to interpret them through cause and effect than there was to explain the multiplication tables. Geography learning was merely a memory exercise. If you were "long" in memory you had little difficulty in committing names of capes and mountains of products and cities and reciting these glibly. But most of these facts have faded into an indistinct haze leaving the learner no mental attitude of sympathy and understanding.

One is not to understand that modern geography teaching ignores the need for a knowledge of certain locational facts; a lack of such knowledge is a serious handicap. But, whereas, the learning of these facts yesterday was a matter of memorization, today they are tied up with related ideas and the learning of them is thus made purposeful; a map becomes a source of information, an integral part of the text, and the pupil is referred to the map for help in solving his problems or in reaching conclusions. Association and reasoning thus help the memory.

Carefully planned excursions bring the child into direct contact with his environment and lead to an appreciation of the contribution people about us make to our welfare. If trips cannot be taken in reality, make-believe trips with stories and pictures are useful. An appreciation of conditions in other parts of the world which contribute to his needs is thus developed in the child.

Picture study is also a very definite part of the modern teaching technique. In lieu of the actual landscapes, well chosen pictures help to develop a skill in interpreting the relationships between man's activities and their physical setting.

Children must be trained to form the mental picture of a region through this picture study or through the medium of concrete, vivid imagery which they find in well chosen textual and supplementary reading material. Much of the vividness and value of supplementary reading is due to the fact that the books interpret life rather than catalogue it. Through such stories as Grenfell's "Adrift on an Ice-pan" or Mukerji's "Hari the Jungle Lad" children will extend their interests and sympathies.

Worth while knowledge, attitudes and skills are acquired through means of modeling, sand table representations, dramatizations, the making of booklets and posters, the interpretation of graphs and various types of map making.

Through the newer viewpoint of interpretation, geography becomes a vital part of the childs life. The geography text is no longer a screen to hide behind, a convenient shield for surreptitious activities.

Wealthy Girl Is Robbed Of Gems

Daring Robbers Holdup Young Girl And Take Gems Valued At $5,000

MACHINE SPEEDS TO PHILADELPHIA

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Miss Mildred Feely, 21-year old main line debutante, was held up and stripped of jewelry worth $5,000 by two armed bandits in Bala, Pa., early today as she was returning home. The pretty society girl had been to a dance in Philadelphia and was driving to her parents home in Merion Park when her car was forced off the road.

One gunman pulled open the door of her car and demanded money. As Miss Feely handed out her purse he caught sight of a $3,000 diamond solitaire. Brushing aside the proferred bag he snatched the ring from her hand.

"Now give me the rest of your jewelry, sister," he demanded.

Miss Feely handed him a dinner ring containing 15 diamonds valued at $1,000, and a diamond breastpin worth $1,000.

The bandits sped away in their car towards Philadelphia.

Couple Paroled; Warned To Forget Chicken Business

Man And Woman Paroled On False Pretense Charge By Blair County Judge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28. — With definite instructions that they were not to engage in chicken farming or "big business" ventures during the next two years, Fred D. Kerr, former Pittsburgher and now a resident of Akron, O., and his wife, Laura, today began a two years parole period.

The parole and the instructions were both administered by Judge Marion D. Patterson, of Blair county, before whom the pair was arraigned here on charges of false pretense.

Charges against the couple were that they had advertised a new method of hatching and maturing chickens under artificial light which would produce broilers in 60 days. And that they had accepted $25,000 from G. A. Geyer and $5,000 from J. H. Nilson as investments in their proposition.

The chicken hatching business, Geyer and Nilson claimed, didn't work out and they filed the charges against Kerr and his wife.

Harvard Will Aid Unemployed By Use Of Football Games

Plan To Take Up Collections At Three Big Games, Dartmouth, Holy Cross And Yale

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 28. — Harvard University today swung into line with other colleges and universities in providing a means to aid unemployment.

A proposal whereby collections will be taken up at the Crimson's three major games—Dartmouth, Holy Cross and Yale—was placed by the student council before university authorities for final sanction. The money gathered was expected to surpass the proceeds of a post-season charity game as fully 160,000 persons attend these games.

Pittsburgh Police Nab Two Men And Quantity Of Punch-Board Material

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—Believed to have been preparing to flood the city with punchboards in preparation for the holidays, Albert Sarett, 26, and Max Penn, both of Brooklyn, were held by police here today.

The pair was taken into custody by detectives who said they found several thousand punchboards and an assortment of prizes in their automobile. Records found in the car, police said, indicated the two had already disposed of numerous punchboards in central and eastern Pennsylvania.

Ward Residents At Pittsburgh Reveal Tax Receipts Were Handed To Them

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28. — The October grand jury, investigating election frauds, today heard fifty-second ward residents, said to have obtained tax receipts through Pat O'Malley, "Strip" district politician, testify.

It was reported that they were being questioned as to whether they authorized O'Malley to pay their taxes and whether they had registered on the receipts and later voted.

After all other witnesses have been examined, O'Malley will be called before the grand jury.

Boy Scout News

Stress "Lone Scouts"

A vigorous effort to expand the Lone Scout division program of the Lawrence County Boy Scout council during the remaining months of 1931 and throughout 1932 will be made by Scout Executive Herbert G. Horton and his staff, headquarters announced this morning.

"Lone Scouts" are really Boy Scouts who live on farms or in other regions where troops cannot be organized. They do similar test work under the guidance of some adult who they designate as their leader.

Any farm youth from 12 to 18 years may join the ranks by writing the Boy Scout office, Greer building, for details. Application blanks can be furnished there.

Boys living where Boy Scout troops are already functioning, who desire to enroll as "Lone Scouts," should submit their application to local authorities. Membership does not call a boy away from home, does not compel him to buy any fishing goods, does not make him an agent for any magazine, and does not in any way make him liable to military service at any time. He must pass his tenderfoot requirements before he can receive his certificate.

All "Lone Scouts" receive a copy of the "Lone Scout" magazine, mailed monthly. It keeps him fully informed of activities of brother scouts.

NEIMAN'S

Going Around In Washington

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Behind the scenes in great capitals of the world portentous secret negotiations are daily going on over Japan's aggression in Manchuria. In Nanking, Tokyo, Geneva, Washington, foreign offices and diplomats are astir over the grave imperilment to world peace. In each vital center of activity Japan has one of its master diplomats, all uniformly suave, inscrutable, and unyielding in furthering the territorial ambitions of their government.

Katsuji Debuchi, Japanese ambassador to the United States, is the most skilled and perfected of Japan's statesmen. Tiny and chubby of physique, he is a giant in urbane self-possession and deft diplomacy. He is never at loss for a smile or an unruffled answer.

* * *

The day the story became known that the Japanese government was aroused over certain expressions used by Secretary Stimson in his note to the League of Nations on the Manchurian situation newspaper reporters encountered Debuchi leaving Stimson's office. The international atmosphere was tense. Japan had made it clear it resented Stimson's language. The correspondents inquired of Debuchi if he had come to protest against the note.

"The Japanese government is deeply appreciative of the kind and considerate treatment of Mr. Stimson," he said pleasantly, with his bland, mild little smile. The reporters blinked and the ambassador was gone.

* * *

Another time the French ambassador, the poet-statesman, Paul Claudel, was calling at the state department on some matter pertaining to the then impending visit of Premier Laval. As he strode down one of the long corridors he suddenly saw a large crowd of newspapermen thronged excitedly about someone he could not observe.

"But . . . what is it, then," Claudel said in astonishment to a state department aide accompanying him. They hastened over to the gathering and by standing on their toes and peering down they saw little Ambassador Debuchi grinning jokingly with the reporters.

* * *

When far eastern affairs are dormant the Japanese ambassador leads a very private life. Other foreign representatives are frequently prominent in the social news of the capital, but the Japanese keep very much to themselves. When they do entertain, no mission does it more lavishly. Newspapermen who covered the Washington disarmament conference a decade ago still talk in awed tones of the repasts and liquors furnished by the Japanese delegation at their receptions.

The Japanese staff in Washington is the largest of any foreign mission in the capital. This is due to the difficulties of transcribing the English language into Japanese. The intricacies of Japanese make it impossible to use the typewriter, so large a number of secretaries are necessary to paint the many communications that go to the home office in Tokyo.

Ambassador Debuchi has had considerable experience in the United States. He served in Washington as counselor of the embassy in his youth. Later, as a mature statesman, he returned as one of his country's delegates to the historic Washington disarmament conference. After several years service in the foreign office in Tokyo he returned as ambassador.

* * *

His unfailing courtesy, friendliness, and modesty have won him a wide popularity in official circles in the capital. He is highly respected at the state department. He speaks English fluently and is genuinely fond of American ways and people. Madame Debuchi is a beautiful Japanese woman and no less popular than her distinguished husband.

The Japanese government is completing a new and stately embassy in Washington. Its furnishing is being supervised by Madame Debuchi. Many beautiful art treasures are being brought from Japan for the new building.

RASKOB-DU PONT CONTRIBUTE TO DEMOCRAT FUND

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Loans totalling $20,000 made by John J. Raskob, national chairman, and $12,500 from Pierre S. DuPont of New York, comprised the bulk of the receipts of the Democratic national committee between Sept. 1 and Oct. 21, the committee reported to the clerk of the house today.

The Raskob loans were made in three installments between Sept. 16 and Oct. 21 to the Washington headquarters. They brought the committee's total indebtedness to him to $345,250.

Ambridge Secured For Final Game

Negotiations For Contest Completed Monday, Will Fill Date Of Cancelled Game

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28—Ellwood City High will end its grid season on November 21 as originally planned, but will have Moe Rubenstein's strong Ambridge warriors as an opponent instead of Bridgeville. The game will be played at Ambridge.

This announcement came this morning from Faculty Manager, P. L. Uber of the local high school who has been endeavoring to schedule Ambridge for sometime. Early in the season Bridgeville High School cancelled its scheduled contest with the local school because of inadequate material. Since that time both Ellwood and Ambridge have been trying to get a home game with the latter finally succeeding.

The Ellwood High Gridders are enthused over this announcement and are determined to work harder and win their remaining games, so as to be a worthy opponent with the Rubenstein machine. Ambridge has an enviable record, having tied one game in 17 starts. They would probably have been serious contenders for the W. P. I. A. L. crown last season had it not been for an ineligible player on the team. Ellwood has yet three games to play before the Ambridge contest and it is the general opinion that the team will win these and be at their prime before the November 21 game.

For the past two games Ellwood has won what is known as a "Warner victory" that is having more first downs and more yards through scrimmage than the opponent, but the score was against them which is the matter that counts.

Ellwood High is earnestly preparing for the invasion of Monaca on Saturday and for the past two days has been formulating a pass defense, brushing up on its weak points, and developing a clicking offense. The mentors placed the boys through the usual routine and which ended up with a scrimmage session. The varsity's offensive drive functioned satisfactorily against the third stringers, but the latter still proved that they were susceptible to an aerial attack. The third string backfield worked a forward pass and then a lateral on five different occasions for a big gain. The play worked everytime it was attempted. Drills for passes will be held all week announced Coaches Gills and Lloyd.

Mike Paal, varsity guard who was injured in the Beaver game reported for practice yesterday after an absence of two weeks. Paal had strained some mucles in his back and had been in pain for a while. He feels that he is in condition to play again but it is doubtful whether the coaches will permit him to do so this week. He was a very capable guard on the team and his return to the practice field brightens prospects. Gorzcowski or Navolio will probably fill the position on Saturday.

Every man of the four teams was out in uniforms Tuesday afternoon, with the exception of "Spungo" Vanderillo who received an injury in the Aliquippa game and was excused by the coach. Luxenburg, varsity fullback is having trouble with a bruised ankle that may keep him out of Saturday's game. The remainder of the squad is in fine condition.

The locals are taking no chances with Lee Berkman's boys who like Ellwood have not had a very successful season, but manage to always give them plenty of trouble. Like Ellwood, Monaca has lost four games, but has two victories to the Tuber's one. Their record to date is: 14-0 for East Liverpool, 6-0 for Ambridge, 20-0 for Beaver, 32-0 for Midland, 7-0 for Aliquippa, and a 6-0 victory over Freedom.

They have four veterans from last last year left, two tackles, a guard, and a halfback. Carey, halfback and Youtes, tackle have not been used in recent games and the other pair, Cotter, tackle and Faber guard are varsity members.

Womens Club Has Masquerade Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The Women's Service club of Wurtemburg held a fine masquerade party last night in the community rooms of the Wurtemburg school. A splendid crowd in clever Hallowe'en costumes featured the meeting. Miss Bessie Hill won the prize for having the best costume.

The evening was enjoyed with various games and contests of which Mrs. Neva Koach, Mrs. Amanda Duncan and Mrs. Grace Cousian were in charge. The rooms were appropriately decorated for the occasion.

At a later hour Mrs. Clara Ketler and her committee served some delicious refreshments as a closing event of the evening.

The club will meet again in four weeks at a place to be later designated.

MISSION CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Class No. 2 of the Bell Memorial church held its regular meeting last night at the home of Perry McKee on Orchard avenue. Following the customary business meeting a study hour was held with an interesting discussion. Plans to raise money were discussed at the time also. This was followed by a social hour and a luncheon.

Leadership Course To Start Here Soon

Dr. Geo. W. Wellburn To Conduct Training Course Beginning November 9

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—As in former years Ellwood City citizens will again be given an opportunity to take the leadership training courses which have proved to be instructive. The course is of the type being held in New Castle at present.

The Rev. George W. Wellburn D. D., and secretary of the Religious Education of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, has been secured to conduct the various courses which will begin on November 9 and will be held three nights out of a week for two weeks. The course is for Sunday school and Bible Class teachers and any interested persons.

The teachers and the various courses are announced as follows: Mrs. Ida Cooper, beginners work; Rev. Arthur M. Stevenson, Story Telling In Religious Education; and Rev. Robert H. Little, Studies in the Prophets.

The courses have proved to be very successful in New Castle and New Wilmington and is expected to draw the attention of local people. The courses aside of their religious value should be of interest to parents of young children.

The Leadership Training School is under the auspices of the Bible School and churches of the Ellwood City district. V. V. Johnson is dean of the school and M. Birchfield is treasurer and Lowell W. Monroe is chairman of promotion. The course will end on November 20.

Miss Irene Ross Is Club Hostess

Members Of Klee Jut Klub Have Pleasant Session Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Miss Irene Ross delightfully entertained the members of the Klee Jut Klub at their semi-monthly meeting last evening at her home on Glenn avenue. Miss Marie McDeavitt was a special guest on the occasion and Miss Jean Hill was a newly admitted member.

Hallowe'en appointments cleverly distributed about the home presented a lively atmosphere. Bridge was the principal pastime of the evening with two tables being in play. Miss Alyce Dumm was presented the high score favor for club members at the conclusion of the games, while Miss McDeavitt received the guest prize.

An added pleasure was the serving of a dainty luncheon by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Ross, and Miss Dumm.

Miss Mary Ellen Steir invited the club to meet at her home in Ewing Park in two weeks for the next regular meeting.

Miss Eisenman Club Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Miss Florence Eisenman was a charming hostess to the members of her club last night at her home on Pittsburgh Circle.

Bridge was the principal pastime of the evening with tables being in play, at the conclusion of which Miss Grace Anderson and Miss Hazel Kelley received the first and second club favors.

A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess at an appointed hour as the closing event of the meeting.

The club will be the guests of Miss Mary Hemmerly on Fourth street in two weeks.

Past Matrons Have Meeting On Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The Beaver Valley Past Matrons association met in the Masonic Temple last night for their regular monthly meeting. The officers of the Eastern Star inaugurated the events of the evening by serving a delicious 6:30 o'clock dinner which was followed by the usual business meeting and then an evening of cards. The place had been appointedly decorated with fall flowers which received the appreciation of the thirty people present.

Mrs. L. Thompson Dies Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Laura Thompson, aged 65, of the Ellwood-New Brighton road passed away suddenly last evening at eight o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Morris Blazier, of Byron avenue, Baden, Pa. The remains will be brought here for burial, which will be announced later.

CLASS NO. 17

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Class No. 17 of the First Baptist church assembled in the Sunday school rooms of the church last night for their regular meeting. There were nine members present on the occasion and Miss Hazel Wehman, the president and Miss Carrie Hazen, the captain presided at the business meeting. This followed by a period of games and contests, and a luncheon.

Ellwood Boys To Compete In Cross Country Event

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Two former Ellwood high track stars will compete against each other in a cross country run when the Pitt freshmen will invade Penn State on Saturday for their annual contest.

The boys are Paul MacMurdo, holder of the W. P. I. A. L. record in the half-mile and who is a member of the Pitt freshman cross country team, and Frank Gross, one of the best milers turned out at Ellwood high. Gross is a member of the Penn State varsity team. Both boys are expected to be heard from when the track season is on its way.

Fine Crowd At Party Tuesday

Miss Loretta King Is Hostess To Society Of Church Of God

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Last evening a Hallowe'en party was given for the Young People's Christian Training society No. 2 of the First Church of God at the home of Loretta King, their leader. The house was well decorated for the occasion. Prizes were given to the boy best masked like a girl, and for the girl best masked like a boy, and for the one hardest to identify. The costumes were of every shade and kind. Many games were enjoyed by the group, having been planned by Loretta King. Refreshments were served under the direction and plans of Mrs. Anna King, hostess to the group.

Fifty-nine were present: Alice Miller, Virginia Waldorf, Frank Arket, Eddie Bookamer, Alice Hutchison, Virginia Hutchison, Paul Klein, Violet Graham, Viola Graham, Edna Williams, Dorthea Woodling, Lavern Welsh, Lloyd Welsh, Donald Welsh, Neal Purdy, Paul McCaslin, Mervin Cunningham, Rhea Meehan, Marie Wehman, Clara Oczkowske, Alfred Tirre, Tommy Gartley, Ralph Tritt, Elanor Lefever, Dorothy Sias, Charles Tirre, Andrew Funk, Howard Miller, Alvin Miller, Clyde Lewis, Leland Hertzog, George Lefever, Alfred Bookamer, Kenneth Tritt, Gerald Miller, Raymond Lefever, William Androlia, Ida Mae VanEman, Pauline Crothers, Leora Austin, Mary Forney, Velma Gillespie, Ruth Fehl, Mary Ann Fehl, Gladys Austin, Marie Hertzog, Minnie Schramn, Mae Lewis, Arlo Boyer, Frank Cortez, Ralph King, Mildred King, Loretta King, Mrs. John King, Catherine Meehan and Rev. and Mrs. L. Earl Slacum.

This society was begun in May and has grown to its amazing number in those few months.

Faculty Bridge Members Meet

Miss Helen McNitt Is Hostess To Club Last Night At Fine Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Miss Helen McNitt pleasantly entertained the members of the Faculty Bridge Club last night at the home of Dr. H. H. Davis of Fifth street. Besides the eight members present there were four special guests, who were the Misses Iva Jackson, Helen Cooper, Clarabelle Lyle and Gail Cresswell.

Three tables of bridge were in vogue during the evening, as a result of which Miss Helen Matthews and Miss Cresswell received the club and guest awards respectively. The home was lovely in its Hallowe'en colors.

An added feature was the serving of a delectable menu by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Davis and daughter Leona.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Braham will entertain the club in two weeks.

American Legion Sets Hat Styles

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The J. Wilbur Randolph Post, American Legion No. 157, is responsible for a new vogue in head gear.

The new hats appeared on the streets of Ellwood City recently and owing to their smartness and bright colors and the fact that they are being used to advertise the forth coming Armistice Day Celebration is sufficient proof that these hats will go over big.

The hats are made up in the overseas style and they come in a great variety of colors: the Legion colors, the colors of the 40 and 8, as well as assorted colors in red white and blue.

Each hat bears a little cockade of red white and blue feathers, and this cockade proclaims to the world that Armistice Day is being celebrated in a big way in Ellwood City, November 11.

HOSPITAL NOTES

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Admitted Tuesday: Mrs. Thomas Flannagan of Franklin avenue, Mrs. Davis O'Connors of New Castle.

Discharged: Mrs. George Alleman and baby, Mrs. Clytus Steinberger and baby, and Mrs. Joseph Yhelka and baby, and Mrs. James Decaria and baby, all of Ellwood City.

Local Conditions Described Last Night To Kiwanis

Doctors H. E. Helling And C. M. Iseman Are Principal Speakers

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The Kiwanis meeting last night in the Trinity Lutheran church was devoted to a study of local conditions. The speakers were Drs. H. E. Helling and C. M. Iseman.

Dr. Helling suggested the club send a communication to Governor Pinchot asking him to consider an increase in the state appropriation for smaller hospitals during this winter. The financial conditions of some of these need a good boost. The local hospital could very readily use an increase. It has had an increase in the number of charity cases and its funds are rather depleted.

Dr. Iseman spoke on the conservation of fish and game and placed special emphasis on stream pollution. He reported that the streams here have been loaded with brown and brook trout and it would be shameful if they would be killed by stream pollution, which has been traced to the operated and abandoned coal mines. He urged that the club cooperate with the various sports organizations in disposing of this evil.

Mission Society Meets Tuesday

Interesting Program Heard At Monthly Meeting Of Society Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Mrs. George B. Wilson was in charge of the program at the monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church last night.

The program featured a play entitled, "Why a Missionary Society is a Failure". Those participating in the play were Mrs. Grace Benford, Rebecca McConahy, Lydia Douds, and Mrs. Roy Wilson, Mrs. Esther Griffiths read some letters from her son Warren, who is a missionary in Skagway, Alaska, and also some pictures on India were shown. Mrs. John Brenemen gave a report of a missionary meeting at Chatauqua Lake and Mrs. Thomas told of the Missionary convention at Wampum. Routine business matters were transacted later.

Sunday School Class Enjoys Fine Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—In the merry surroundings of Hallowe'en decorations a Sunday school class of the United Presbyterian church held a fine party in the church basement Tuesday evening. A fine attendance was present and the evening was featured with various games and contests in which all participated. Later in the evening a committee composed of Dorothy Lowry, Bessie Burrows and Helen Kissick, served delicious refreshments. Agnes Wilson, Catherine Wilson and Virginia McGlincy were responsible for the decorations.

CLASS PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—In celebration of the Hallowe'en season, Miss Irene Falen entertained the members of her Sunday school class last evening at her home in Wurtemburg.

After the girls had been identified and masks laid aside, the hours were kept lively with Hallowe'en pranks, stunts and appropriate games. The rooms were most complete in decorations of autumn leaves, corn stalks placed about the rooms interspersed with dimly lighted pumpkin faces, which all added to the spookiness of the affair.

Before departing for home, a tempting lunch, with appointments carried out in the same tones was served by the hostess, assisted by Maize and Ora Falen. Attending were Elizabeth Caughey, Vera Teece, Twila Wimer, Ruth Burnett, Thelma Rupert, Thelma Falen and one special guest, Esther Kirker.

BIBLE CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The Allison Memorial Bible class of the Bell Memorial church will hold its monthly meeting this evening at the home of H. W. Tribby in Ewing Park. A business meeting and study period will be held. Also the mid-week prayer service will be held this evening at 7:30.

PRAYER MEETING

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The mid-week prayer service of the Slippery Rock Presbyterain church will be held this evening at the home of Conord Houk in Moravia Stop. The choir of the church held a rehearsal on Monday evening.

ATTEND FUNERAL

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—R. D. and T. A. Gartley and C. C. Allec of Ellport left this morning to attend the funeral services for Katherine Boose in Mamont, Pa., who was an aunt of the Gartleys and had passed away at the age of 95 on Monday evening.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The young people of the Knox Presbyterian church will hold a Hallowe'en party this evening at the church following their business meeting. Choir practice will also be held a little earlier.

Atlantic Air Service Still Distant Prospect

Sir Arthur Witten Brown, First Man to Fly Ocean with Sir John Alcock, Says Trans-Atlantic Flights Are Still Stunts.

DRAMATIC END OF FIRST ATLANTIC FLIGHT.

Asserting that trans-Atlantic air crossings will never become practicable until a new type—in design and construction—of aircraft is developed, Sir Arthur Witten Brown, who flew the Atlantic in 1919 with Sir John Alcock, has admitted that he was wrong in his predictions of 12 years ago. At that time Sir Arthur prophesied that by 1930 trans-Atlantic flying would be but a routine matter. However, on landing at New York the other day, for a visit, the pioneer airman declared that ocean flying is still a gamble, notwithstanding the rapid strides made by aviation in the last few years. Sir Arthur believes that with the present design and construction regular air service across the Atlantic will never be possible. The orthodox type of airplane has been developed to its highest point of efficiency and still it is not good enough, he declares.

Ellwood-New Castle Game Is Considered

Rumored Negotiations Under Way For Post Season Charity Game December 4

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Ellwood City is discussing a rumor that Ellwood high and New Castle may meet in a post season game at Taggart stadium, on December 4 for charity. Both schools have been seriously approached to consider the matter, it is said.

No definite statement has been received from Faculty Manager, P. L. Uber of Ellwood City or R. F. Gardner of New Castle. Faculty Manager Uber announced that New Castle may appear on Ellwood's schedule next season.

Travel League Club Has Meeting Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The members of the Travel League Club held their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sharp Jackson on the North Sewickley road.

The club continued its study of France at this time and some interesting reports were given. Mrs. Arthur Stevenosn gave a report on "Riecheliu" and Mrs. Lloyd Randolph on Louis XIV and Mrs. Thomas Haines gave an interesting account on the life of Lafayette. Following a general discussion on the various subjects, a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess.

The club will meet again on next Tuesday for a further study of France at the home of Mrs. Thomas Haines on Park avenue.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—A delightful social affair of Monday evening was the birthday surprise party held for John Eichenberger, well-known resident of Burnstown, when a number of his friends gathered at his home to celebrate the happy occasion.

The evening was spent very pleasantly with cards, music and games as a source of entertainment, after which the honor guest was presented a number of beautiful birthday remembrances.

The Eichenberger home was beautified by the addition of fall flowers and Hallowe'en novelties thruout the rooms and the present season's appointments were further expressed when a delicious luncheon was served to the guests.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Tonight the young peoples class of the Knox Presbyterain church taught by Mrs. Robert Bell are holding a Hallowe'en masquerade party in the church rooms.

MASQUERADE SOCIAL

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—The Young Peoples club of the Magyar Presbyterian church of Ellport will hold its annual masquerade social in the church Friday evening. In connection with this the club will hold a tea party.

ATTEND PRESBYTERY

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—R. H. Young and Rev. W. E. Minteer of the U. P. church and James Newton and Rev. J. E. Caughey of the Wurtemburg U. P. church were the delegates from their churches attending the Beaver Valley Presbytery at Portersville on Tuesday evening.

Blessed are the nobodies. They never crucify their country to keep from losing the support of undesirables.

Mrs. Jack Dunlap Hostess To N. E. W.

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Jack Dunlap entertained the members of the N. E. W. Club last night at her home on Court street, New Castle. The home was cleverly decorated in a green and white color scheme and enlivened the occasion.

Bridge at two tables was in vogue for the greater part of the evening with the awards going to Mrs. Edward Christley of Ellwood City and Mrs. Bessie Pitzer of New Castle. Luncheon was served at a later hour by the hostess.

The club will be the guests of Mrs. Pitzer in Leasure avenue, New Castle in two weeks.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. James Shallenberger of Line avenue are spending a week in Chicago with the latter's brother, James Morrison and family.

Mrs. Zena Stevenson of this city is spending the week with two cousins, Mrs. Elsie Burnside and Mrs. Maud Challis in New Castle.

Mrs. W. E. Manning of the fourth ward spent Tuesday in Pittsburgh.

Willard Deemer of Ellport, who underwent an operation for the removal of tonsils at the Jameson Memorial hospital in New Castle yesterday, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home.

David Bradford of Camp Run has recovered from an infected foot and is able to resume his studies at the Zelienople high school.

James and Dan McKelvy of Knox, who have been spending several days in South Bend, Ind., have returned to their home. While there they attended the Pitt-Notre Dame football game.

Miss Marie Rubley of Ninth street and Miss Martha Wehman of Ellport, accompanied by Dan Wehman, motored to Pittsburgh today where they will be the guests of relatives.

Orville Harper of Harlansburg spent yesterday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harper in this city.

Brakeman Thrown Under Cars Makes Miraculous Escape

The painful split seconds during which he had found himself on the tracks under a westbound freight on the B. & O. in the darkness of early morning never left the mind of L. G. Waldron, 517 North Mercer street, a brakeman of the Akron division, as he told of his hair-raising experience from his bed today.

The mishap took place in the fog at three a. m. Tuesday morning while the train was at Warwick, O. Waldron operated a brake which released prematurely, throwing him under the moving cars.

How he managed to escape from being ground by the wheels and got on the caboose of the train, which had stopped after his cries had been heard, he will never know, he said. He sustained a badly sprained left ankle and had his body bruised.

At Willard O., the next stop, Waldron received medical treatment and was sent to his home, where he will be bedridden for about a week before he will recover from his injuries.

Most of the wrecked planes get into trouble because they aren't up high enough. This is also true of liquor dealers.

WAMPUM

WOMAN'S CLUB

October meeting of the Woman's club will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Presbyterian church with Mrs. Ella Cochran leader and Mrs. C. F. Morrow hostess.

Several Teams Seeking To Play Charity Game

No Arrangements Made By New Castle Athletic Council However

While no dates have as yet been accepted, several overtures have been made to the athletic council of the senior high school for a post-season football game to be played for charity. The council is not averse to such a game but first wants to consider a number of angles connected with it.

Beaver Falls has already made some overtures for a post-season game and it is understood that the Ellwood City high school team would like to engage in such a contest. To date nothing has been done by the athletic council.

A Daring Dash

A remarkable photograph showing the speedboat "Miss America IX" bounding over the Harlem River, at New York, at a speed of 104 miles an hour. Gar Wood, veteran speedboat pilot, was at the wheel as this picture was snapped from the high bridge spanning the river. Wood raced his powerful craft over the course in an effort to set a new world's record during a water carnival staged for charity.

Joan "Manicures" the Decks

For the first time in its history, a woman has been permitted to live aboard a Coast Guard cutter while it performed its dangerous work many miles at sea. Joan Lowell, famous authoress of the "Cradle of the Deep," was that woman. Miss Lowell spent eight days aboard the "Mojave" and experienced enough thrills in that time to last most people a lifetime. Some things she did, however, were not so thrilling. As, for instance, scrubbing decks. Here's Joan "manicuring" the deck with male assistance.

Two Beauties in One Family

Although Marlene Dietrich, famous German and American film star, has undisputed claims to beauty, she hasn't any exclusive right to it in her own family. Out of hundreds of portraits that have been made of her, the vampish actress likes this one, in which she shares honors with her daughter, Maria Seiber, as the best. It is the latest one taken too, and doesn't leave much for which to ask.

Football Plays Are Matters Of Opinion

One Team Uses Over 100 Different Plays—Another Has But Twenty Good Plays

Fans Kick At Quarterbacks When They Really Should Not Blame Signal Barkers

By EDDIE CASEY
Former All-American Halfback and Now Head Football Coach at Harvard.
(Written for and copyrighted, 1931, by International News Service.)

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—We often hear the comment at football games about the number and variety of plays that a team may be using. Fans ask why their pet team does not show more plays or new plays, or when they see a quarterback make a mistake they are apt to jump to the conclusion that the quarterback has too many plays. Coaches, players and everyone connected with football differ as to the number of plays a team should have during a season.

Years ago and in the smaller schools today many coaches are found who think they are smart if they have numerous plays and varied formations that will dazzle their opponents. But most sound football thinkers agree that it is better to have too few plays than too many. Of course, such a question, like any dispute in football, cannot be answered without reference to the type of player that a coach may have.

No General Rule.

No general rule is possible, but most coaches will agree that two or three formations are all that any team need use and about all that they can learn well enough to play effectively. Out of each of these formations about 12 plays are all that are possible.

Usually one of the formations will have much less than this number of plays. In general, then, a team can easily get along on 30 to 40 plays and have a well-rounded, varied offense that the boys can learn.

No one can deny the gospel that almost all coaches preach, that it is better to know a few plays well than a lot of plays poorly. Even within this limit of 30 or 40 plays, a coach is always trying to figure out ways to simplify the offense for his players.

Dr. Williams of Minnesota, inventor of the famous "Minnesota shift", used to have more than a hundred plays which his men were required to master. Before a game he would tell his team that they were to use only certain plays in that game and no others. Many coaches tell their teams some plays that will be of no use against certain teams and thereby cut down the offense somewhat each week, but as often they will invent a new special play for the same team and thus keep the same number of plays.

Have Many Plays.

Some of the famous coaches of today follow the example of Dr. Williams. Knute Rockne at Notre Dame was said to have had over a hundred plays, possibly much more. These plays are mastered in spring practice and learned all summer so that the men have them down pat when fall practice begins. Then each week they are told to stress certain plays as best figured to gain against he defense used by that opponent.

On the other hand, there are coaches who are said to go through the season with less than 20 plays. Stagg of Chicago has long been regarded as a coach who uses a very simple offense. Dobie at Cornell long used a few simple but powerful plays, and drilled on the details of these so thoroughly that he could tell his opponents just what his plays would be and still make them gain ground.

School Band Trip To Turtle Creek Termed Uncertain

Car Transportation Needed For Twenty Players, High School Says

It is the hope of every Ne-Ca-Hi fan that Turtle Creek and vicinity be given a chance to hear the martial musical strains of the Senior high school band next Saturday as well as to watch our football team perform on the gridiron.

Turtle Creek Union plays the locals at Turtle Creek, but transportation for 20 musicians must be provided if the band will be able to go along.

The band is entitled to this trip above all, explained Principal Frank L. Orth. I want to see them go to Turtle Creek. He feels that New Castle's boosters who plan to motor there will make room for the players.

The New Castle-Turtle Creek game looms as one of the most interesting on the present card, and Mr. Orth, in asking motorists to furnish transportation, feels the significance of having Director Joseph Replogle and his band along the sidelines.

Already certain motorists have guaranteed the transportation of a part of the group. You may call 630 if you can donate room.

Dempsey Must Be In Shape

Jack Dempsey Will Not Consider Bout Until He Is In Physical Shape

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 28.—Jack Dempsey will satisfy himself that he is in perfect physical condition before he accepts a bout with Primo Carnera or any other first-rate fighter.

Dempsey, who entered a 12-day training campaign at the Elite Club here today, told International News Service that he had not been advised of the offer reported to have been made by James J. Johnston, newly appointed promoter for Madison Square Garden, for a bout at Miami with the winner of the Campolo-Carnera fight. Dempsey said, however, that he would not accept even if Johnston wired him, unless he was in shape for the bout.

On his return from a moose hunt in the Jackson Hole country of Wyoming, Dempsey plunged into a rigid training schedule. He will resume his exhibition tour on November 9.

Franklin Drills For Hillsville

Following its impressive triumph over George Washington junior high, the Benjamin Franklin high football team now drills in preparation for Friday afternoon, when Coach Emmett Gillaspie takes his warriors to Hillsville high for a contest there.

In disposing of George Washington minus the services of many of the varsity crew, the secondary defense of the Franklin team showed that it has plenty of strength. The varsity eleven has already demonstrated its wares by keeping a clean slate.

Waynesburg Gets Ready For Battle With Titan Team

Waynesburg Team Resumes Training For Game With Westminster This Week

YELLOW JACKETS FEAR TITANS

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 28.—A battered and bruised, but highly elated Waynesburg college football squad returned to the monotony of practice sessions this afternoon in preparation for their final home game of the season next Saturday when they meet the Westminster Titans at College field.

The New River game of last Saturday, in which a light but determined Yellow Jacket team tamed the giant West Virginia outfit, highly touted and most formidable in appearance, gave Waynesburg fans the thrill of their lives, and furnished a football spectacle which will be long remembered. The Golden Bears from New River were top-heavy favorites to win over the Yellow Jackets, and sent a team on the field which, for size and action, was as fine a looking football team as has appeared here. The line, averaging 196 pounds, dwarfed the Waynesburg line, and the back were as lively as anyone could wish. In view of the havoc which sickness has wrought in the Waynesburg squad, keeping three dependable first string men and six of the second string out of uniform, the Jackets' chances were anything but promising. But before the game was five minutes old the fighting Jackets stole the show. They out-charged, out-ran, out-passed and out-kicked New River, threatened three times to score, and in a thrilling garrison finish took the ball to within one foot of the goal line where the final whistle stopped them. It was the greatest football game Waynesburg has yet seen and a magnificent display of fire and spirit. It was one game in which the line stole the show from the backfield.

Although the game ended in a scoreless tie, the Waynesburg rooters looked upon it as a decided victory. New River produced a line which would warm the heart of any coach and a big backfield with plenty of speed and drive. Rade, especially, stood out, a real football player, who passed accurately and ran like nobody's business. Everhart, too, was a back who did plenty of execution. As a secondary defnse man and as a ball carrier he looked good enough for any man's team. Speed in the line, however, and the Jacket's fighting heart stopped the New River offense before it got started.

Titans Feared.

While Waynesburg had no particular hero, Ross, Porter, Ambrose and Holland furnished the thrills. Ross was compelled to bear double burden in the absence of Rollason, the kicker. He called the plays, passed and punted, and did a fine job of each. Tom Holland, freshman end, substituting for Lufrane, held his territory safe and furnished one bit of excitement when he took one of Ross' passes beautifully. Jake Porter and Ambrose each got away for long gains on passes, one caught by Ambrose being of the Dick Merriwell variety. Jim Conroy, playing his first game in the backfield, showed enough drive to assure himself of a starting position in the future.

The Westminster game brings another heavy team to Waynesburg Saturday. But the Jackets have seen New River and are sure they don't grow them any bigger. They are dreaming dreams of an undefeated season in Waynesburg but they have four more games to win. Wolf does not intend to let overconfidence rob him of any of them.

VANCE AND LUQUE WILL BE TRADED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Dazzy Vance and Adolfo Luque, veteran pitchers of the Brooklyn Dodgers, are expected to be put on the trading block by Max Carey, new manager of the club, when he arrives in Brooklyn next week. Carey favors young blood on the pitching staff.

Sacred Hearts To Play Croton

Croton A. C. Eleven Will Oppose League Leaders Saturday Afternoon

One of the best games so far in the Independent football league is expected to be played Saturday afternoon on the Lee avenue grounds when the Sacred Hearts, leaders of the circuit, will oppose the Croton A. C. team.

Annually the Croton team is a contender for the title and this season the Crotonites have another smooth grid combination. The Hearts have captured four straight games this season and have tallied 90 points. The Hearts' goal line is untouched. To date Croton has won over the West Pittsburg eleven and lost a close one to the DeHart team.

The following players are requested to report for blackboard drill Thursday night at the clubrooms of the Sacred Hearts: Richards, Leonard, F. Marcella, DiMuccio, Chill, DiThomas, Y. Marcella, Russo, Lemer, Ferro, Mooney, Delone, P. Ross, Ambrosia, Fornataro, Millione, Champ, D. Ross, Casimi, Perrett, A. Augustine, Bongivengo and Mastern.

South Benders Rate Gridiron Avalanche

(International News Service)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 28.—If Notre Dame has not made a world's record for high scores in football, it has, at least, given the other colleges something to shoot at. The new football book published by the South Bend University discloses the following high score victories: In 1896, Highland Views, 82-0; in 1905, American Medical, 142-0; 1904, Chicago Physicians and Surgeons, 88-0; 1911, Loyola, 80-0; in 1912, St. Viator, 116-7; in 1913, Ohio Northern, 87-0; in 1923, Kalamazoo, 71-0; in 1925, Lombard, 69-0; in 1926, Beloit, 77-0.

DATES SET FOR HOCKEY LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.— The National Hockey League season will open November 12, according to the league scheduled released today. The season will extend to March 22 with each team playing 48 games.

The New York rangers will oppose the world champion Canadiens in Montreal on the opening, while the New York Americans will meet the Falcons in Detroit. Chicago's Blackhawks will play Toronto in the Canadian city and the Boston Bruins will engage the Montreal Maroons in Montreal.

Locals Invade Foreign Soil

New Castle High Hopes To Hand Turtle Creek Second Defeat In Two Years

TURTLE CREEK WILL BE SCENE OF CONTEST

Invading foreign soil for the first time this season the New Castle high football eleven will make a daring attempt to hand Turtle Creek high a second defeat in two years when the two elevens battle next Saturday at Turtle Creek. Last season the schoolboy machines in question staged a spectacular gruelling game at Taggart stadium.

Another contest replete with action is predicted. Turtle Creek suffered a severe blow when New Castle dealt it a 6-0 defeat last fall. It was this upset that wrecked the Turtle Creek boys' chances of winning the cup. It will be remembered that it was this club that defeated Washington and Washington in turn took the measure of New Castle. This spoiled all three schools' chances of winning the urn.

Turtle Creek this season has a fair team, according to reports. The teams are about evenly matched in strength, with New Castle having a slight edge due to its performance in the past two games against Woodward and Altoona. Turtle Creek has been looking forward to this game all season. It's a victory over Coach Bridenbaugh's proteges that the Creek boys yearn for.

Last Of Rowes Lost To Turf

Death Of "Jimmy" Rowe, Jr., Takes Final One Of Famous Horse Trainers

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The last of the great "Training Rowes" was lost to the American turf when Jimmy Rowe died in Baltimore.

"Jimmy Junior," as he was known to horsemen far and wide, was a college man and, like the learned gentlemen of real class, was the most human of humans. As the stable boys say:

"Mr. Jimmy was a regular guy."

No finer tribute could be paid any man, for it is the stable man and the stable boy, the lowly swipe and the chief of the exercise lad, who see their chief as he really is.

Educated at Fordham and at Cornell, Jimmy Rowe turned his knowledge to account on the turf as assistant to his father. The Senior Rowe was reputed one of the greatest and most successful trainers of any time in America or abroad. It was the Senior Rowe who trained the golden gleaners of the American turf for the late James R. Keene. It was the Senior Rowe who trained the golden gleaners of the turf for the late Harry Payne Whitney. Where the Senior Mr. Rowe left off, the Junior Rowe took up the work of sweeping all before him with the horses in his charge.

Trained Twenty Grand.

It was in the handling last fall of the great Twenty Grand of the Greentree Stable that Young Jimmy proved his ability. When he saddled Twenty Grand for the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes at Churchill Downs, he informed his jockey, Charlie Kurtsinger, that he had one of the swiftest horses in the land under saddle. Kurtsinger followed orders to the letter. When the race was over, Twenty Grand had done something no other horse in the world history of racing had done: A two-year-old, he had ripped off a mile in 1:36. That was precedent in fact. Another precedent in fact was in the hands of destiny awaiting Young Jimmy when Twenty Grand ran in the Kentucky Derby last spring. He tore off the mile and one-quarter in 2:01 4-5, smashing the mark of 2:03 1-5 that had stood as a Derby record since that bright May afternoon in 1913 when Old Rosebud won the same stake.

Basketball Men Will Register

Practices For Church League Season Start Nov. 9; Begin Playing Nov. 23

The registration of players in the Church basketball leagues will take place Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. players lists and players contracts will be handed in by managers or representatives at this meeting.

There are nine teams so far registered in the B league and eight in the A league, making one vacancy in the B league which will be filled at the meeting.

Practices which are to start November 9 will also be scheduled for the different teams in the leagues at the gathering on Thursday. Already some players are going thru workouts for the coming season and it is expected that competition will be close.

All managers who have registered their teams in eigther the A or B league are asked to be at this meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30 sharp.

Time is drawning near for the start of the season which opens on November 23, only four weeks away.

Gridiron Announcers' Troubles Multiplied

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—One of the reasons why telegraphers and linotype operators are growing grayer and grayer is that football of this year has become all-International.

Here are a few sample names of some of the gridiron stars of 1931:

Union Preparing For Freedom High

Coach "Morg" Boyd Hopes To Continue Fine Success With Union Team

FIRST TEAM IS GIVEN REST

Union high school football team will tackle Freedom high Saturday afternoon at Taggart field. Union hopes to continue their string of victories. Freedom will bring a strong team here. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

For the past two weeks the Union high varsity has had a rest. There was no game for last week, and this gave the boys a needed vacation from training. The second and third string men were kept busy, with the regulars taking things very lightly.

Every member of the squad is in excellent shape. Practice in earnest was resumed on Tuesday. The team showed more speed than ever yesterday.

Shifts Are Made.

In the scrimmage session held Tuesday every member of the squad had a chance to show his stuff. There were continual shifts in the varsity lineup with Ammons and Augustyn both calling signals at various times. Denney has been replaced at fullback by Georgacz. Denney will move over to halfback to be a running mate for Jaworski.

Jones, Stockman and Davidson are showing up well for the second team and may see service Saturday.

Freedom will bring a heavy team to New Castle. The Freedom season has not been so successful, but they will come here to try and stop the Union high team.

Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech Game Holds Spotlight At Pitt Stadium

PITT-PENN STATE AT STATE COLLEGE

By VICTOR JACOBS
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 28.—Although victory over Notre Dame next Saturday is beyond even the fondest hopes of their staunchest followers, Carnegie Tech went through the paces today with the lineup used in last weeks game against Purdue practically intact.

Notre Dame lost no time in loosing a barrage of passes against Pitt last week, and Tech expects a similar attack. While the Panthers were next to defenseless against the aerial attack Tech was breaking up a lot of Purdue passes.

Expert Passers

The Boilermakers, of course, cannot be compared with the Irish as exponents of the art of scoring touchdowns via the aerial route. They attempted only four passes against Tech, so the latter did not get much of a workout in breaking them up.

On the other hand, against Purdue the Tech line did not hold nearly as well as the Pitt line held against Notre Dame. In its practice sessions for the big game Tech has to concentrate on better line play and also learn a few things about tackling that did not show against the Boilermakers.

Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, who will be in Pittsburgh Saturday for a political conference will be a spectator.

Pitt-Penn State

Up at State College Penn State seemed to be in for another walloping from the Panthers. State's showing thus far this year has been anything but creditable, and already having lost to much weaker teams than Pitt this season, they were conceded little chance to win.

Added to its general weaknesses was the fact that three of the regulars, including Captain Lasich, may be unable to play Saturday. Lasich was hurt in the Syracuse game, Colbaugh has been called home and Curry has been on the sidelines for a week with an injured neck.

Over at Duquesne Coach Joe Bach, handling the duties in the absence of Elmer Layden, who is ill, is brushing the boys up on forward passing in anticipation of a tough battle against the strong Catholic University aggregation.

Thus far this season Duquesne has shown very little in the way of winning football, and as Coach Bach says, unless they get better fast, the Dukes appear to be in for a lacing in their last game under the lights at Forbes field.

WOMEN OUTCLASS MEN
(International News Service)

BOSTON—Don't try to convince co-eds at Boston University of the truth of the old-age theory that men are more intelligent than women. Official ratings of fraternities and sororities at the back bay institution show that out of a mixed list of 39 Greek letter societies there were six sororities at the head of the list. The best showing that the mere men students could make was the capture of seventh place in the rankings, and this position was held by a professional fraternity at the school of education.

County League Fete Tonight

Charles Berry And Robert Thorn Of Grove City To Attend Banquet

As a closing event to a successful baseball season the Lawrence County League managers, baseball players, press and many others will enjoy the eighth annual fete of this circuit tonight at the Elks Club. The dinner commences at seven o'clock.

Among those who will be present are Charles Berry, Grove City football coach, former all-American from Lafayette and a member of the Boston Red Sox baseball team of the American League, and Robert Thorn, coach of basketball at Grove City. They will deliver addresses. Following the dinner President Alec Samuels will turn the program over to Ralph H. Gardner, faculty manager of athletics at the high school, who will act as toastmaster.

The manager will also deliver short talks. It is anticipated that a big crowd will be present.

Chicago Stars Will Be Traded

Trade Wind Blowing Harder Than Ever Around Chicago Cubs Ball Park

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The Chicago Cubs' announcement that they intend to rebuild their ball team is furnishing fuel aplenty for the early winter season of the "hot stove league".

While the Cubs are not especially rich in trading material, they have several players of the first magnitude who have worn out their welcome with the management.

The Bruins' established stars, Hack Wilson and Pat Malone, are slated for the trading block.

Baseball gossipers at the world series had it that the Cubs were willing to part with players and cash for Chuck Klein of the Phillies.

Pat Malone, recently nicknamed "Slug" probably will command a high price in the trade marts. The bulky right-hander had an ordinary season during 1931 but fans believe friction with Rogers Hornsby had much to do with his record. Pat earned 22 victories in 1930.

Lester Bell, veteran infielder who has followed Rogers Hornsby thru three major league clubs, will go to San Francisco of the Pacific Coast, in part payment for Stanley Hack, scintillating rookie third baseman, according to reliable reports here.

HIS LOTTERY COSTLY
(International News Service)

HAVANA—Is business bad? Ask Mr. Manuel Sanchez of Havana. He just gave away $13,500 cash on a $27 purchase. It happened this way: Sanchez thought he should do a little business promotion to pep up sales. So he gave away a lottery ticket with each dollar purchase. In checking up after the lottery drawing this week he found he had given away 27 tickets for the grand prize each worth $500.

"Boy Editors" To Be Curbed, Profs At Harvard Say

Recent Editorials Draw Faculty Wrath, Especially One Regarding Army

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 28.—A faculty curb is likely to be placed henceforth on the editorial activities of the quaint young minds which operate the Harvard "Crimson" and the Harvard "Lampoon," the college papers.

The recent attack made by the "Crimson" on the continuance of football relations with Army not only has aroused the student body, which sent a vigorous condemnation to the "Crimson's" editors, but it has focused the faculty's attention upon the danger involved in permitting callow undergraduate editors to run amuck with their fantastic views.

An editorial which appeared in one of the Harvard student papers some years ago is regarded as the cause for the severance of the Princeton-Harvard athletic friendship. This assault by the "Crimson" upon Army, and its statement that "Harvard and Army have no common interests" not only has angered the students but aroused the faculty and it seems certain the latter will muzzle the "Crimson's" typewriters before further damage is done to Harvard's status in sportsmanship.

Benny Leonard Kayos Opponent

Former Lightweight Champion Not So Impressive In Comeback Fight

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Benny Leonard will have to show a great deal more ability than he did against Vittorio Livan, at the arena, before his comeback can be given any serious consideration, boxing fans held today.

True, Leonard was credited with a knockout over Livan in three rounds last night, but the former champion's victory was not impressive. Livan did not furnish serious opposition. He folded up like a tent after Leonard had scored with a few hefty belts to the body.

Leonard Off Stride.

A youngster like Lou Brouillard wouldn't have any trouble in defeating Leonard in his present form.

Livan appeared stampeded by Leonard's reputation. In the first round Benny scored with numerous left jabs. He tried to count with right-hand punches to the jaw, but his judgment of distance was very poor. He was quite wide of his mark.

In the second frame Leonard shifted his attack to the body. He doubled Livan up several times with solid right hand smashes to the body.

Leonard continued his body attack in the third round. In a mixup at close quarters Leonard dropped a short right hand punch to the jaw and Livan fell to the canvas. The crowd started to boo. Livan got up at nine and started to stagger around the ring. A right to the jaw dropped him again. He rolled over and the crowd booed loudly.

Long Island Athletes Make Good At Westminster College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 28. Five Long Island high school products are making good on the Westminster College football team. These five men, four from Freeport and one from Baldwin are all playing their first season for the Titans.

In Saturday's game with Juniata, the starting lineup for Westminster saw all five men from the Island. Walter Young, captain of the championship Freeport high school team last year, started at left halfback. Henry "Swede" Hunneke, star at Baldwin high school last year, started at left end.

Irving Franklin, a fullback last year at Freeport, started at center. Robert Rose, a lineman at Freeport, played left guard. George Hollander, another Freeport high product, was at right guard.

In addition to these five football players, three other Island boys, two of them basketball stars, are at Westminster. They are Southard and Healey of last year's championship Freeport high cage team.

Sixteen Games On Titan Basketball Card For '32

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 28.—Sixteen games are on the regular schedule for the Westminster College basketball team for the 1932 season, Graduate Manager Andy McDonald announces. In addition to these contests, it is likely that seven or eight pre-season games will be played by the Titans.

In addition to district rivals, John Carroll University of Cleveland will be met in home and home contests on the court this winter. The regular season opens January 2 with Youngstown Y. M. C. A. College at Youngstown, and closes with Grove City at home March 8.

The schedule: Jan. 2, Youngstown Y at Youngstown; Jan. 8, Grove City at Grove City; Jan. 15, Youngstown Y at home; Jan. 19, Geneva at home; Jan. 22, Thiel at Greenville; Jan. 23, John Carroll at Cleveland, O.; Jan. 30, Waynesburg at Waynesburg.

Feb. 6, Waynesburg at home; Feb. 9, Allegheny at home; Feb. 13, John Carroll at home; Feb. 16, Bethany at Bethany, W. Va.; Feb. 20, Thiel at home; Feb. 22, Geneva at Beaver Falls; Feb. 25, Allegheny at Meadville; March 3, Bethany at home; March 8, Grove City at home.

Coach John Lawther will be faced by the loss of Fisher, guard; Arthurs, center; Douglass, forward; Considine, forward; and Bobby, forward, from last year's squad.

JOBLESS PLAY SKAT
(International News Service)

BERLIN—"Card-gambling as an amusement for jobless" is the slogan which induced the borough of Kreuzberg in Berlin to place tables and chairs on the grass of the "Kreuzberg" a hill 250 feet high. Hundreds of jobless are gathering there, trying to forget their sorrows by playing "Skat" the German national card-game. An unusually warm fall supports these meetings.

Grove Selected Most Valuable

Robert Moses Grove, Athletics Pitcher Rated Most Valuable In American League

LOU GEHRIG IS SECOND CHOICE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Robt. Moses, southpaw of the Athletics, was the most valuable player in the American League during 1931. This was the verdict of eight writers, one from each league city. The poll was conducted by the baseball writers' association of America.

Grove received a total of 78 points of a possible 80. Lou Gehrig of the Yankees was second, with 59 points. Al Simmons of the Athletics was third, with 51 points.

Gehrig Is Second

The vote was conducted along the same lines as that long used in the National League. Each of the writers voted for ten players in the order of comparative value to their respective clubs. Players placed first scored 10 points, second, nine points, and so on down the line. The tenth player listed being accorded one point.

Grove rated first in value by six writers. He was ranked second by the other two. One of the writers chose Gehrig and the other Simmons.

Grove and Gehrig were the only players to score points on every ballot. Grove is the second pitcher to be named for this honor in the American League. Walter Johnson was named in 1924, and also was named in the days of the Chalmers trophy award.

Ball Players To Get Wage Slices

No Indication That Terrific Big Salaries Will Be Paid In 1932

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A lot of things—and none really pleasant—are scheduled to happen to diamond athletes before next April's "play ball" sounds through the land.

There will be sales and trades aplenty during the winter months. And a great number of releases of existing major league talent. Wages will come down—at least 25 per cent. It is quite possible that the moguls, now insisting upon rigid economy, will decide to reduce the playing staff.

Each club now totes around about 30 men, except during the closed season, when the maximum limit is 25. The magnates may decide that 20 or 21 ball players is a big enough crew to man a club and, if this transpires, it means that about 80 men, who would have been certain of major berths in normal times, will be pushed out of National and American league circulation.

Rockne's Best Plays

By COACH EDWARD (SLIP) MADIGAN

Written Exclusively for Central Press and New Castle News
NUMBER EIGHT

It was my good fortune to hear the first locker room speech made by Knute Rockne and his last.

The effect of the two talks—15 years apart—was the same! Notre Dame went out and crushed a formidable foe on each occasion.

Rockne had that certain something which enabled him to fire his players into a relentless force that could not be beaten.

On that first occasion, I was a Notre Dame player. On the second I was there as a friend of Rock's. But in 1930 I felt the same thrill at Rockne's words, that I had experienced in 1916 when just a boy.

* * *

The first time was the morning before the Nebraska game in Lincoln late in 1916.

Notre Dame wasn't so sure about beating Nebraska before Rock, who then only as assistant coach (Jess Harper was head football man then) had his little say.

Space is too short here to detail that first speech, but when Rockne finished so electrified were his players that, well—read this:

On the way out of the room—Rockne made his talk in a hotel banquet hall—the boys were so fired up that we kicked down the door! Harper had to pay the hotel damages but he didn't mind doing it for Notre Dame won that game—20-0.

* * *

It was my pleasure to also be in the dressing room for Rockne's last talk before the game against the Trojans of Southern California last December at Los Angeles.

He started out in a low tone and as he went his voice increased in volume until the "go." Go. GO" windup, which the boys must have heard echoing in their ears throughout the game.

"I think I know just about how much you fellows know about football. I think I know what technical knowledge each of my boys possesses. I think I know just how much football you are capable of executing "I think I know what physical condition you are all in. I think I know the bruises and bumps of every one of you. I think I know the mental and physical possibilities of all of you.

"But one thing I don't know, is what is in your hearts!"

* * *

"You are meeting one of the greatest teams in the United States today," Rockne continued. "But you, too, are a great team.

"I want you to go out there, and when you get that ball, every man do his job. Move down the field!" and Rock's voice fairly boomed that "move down the field."

"When you lose the ball very man do his job on defense. When you get it back in your possession, keep it. Start down the field again. You guards, tackles and ends, take your men out. You ball carriers, find your interference and stay with it. And when you get started I want you to go. Go. GO!"

Bucky O'Connor, who ran wild in the game and was the outstanding individual star, told me afterwards he could hear that "go, Go, GO!" ringing in his ears throughout the game.

NOTES OF TROOP "F" 103RD CAVALRY OF NEW CASTLE

The captain announced today that the quarterly federal drill pay of over $1,100 has been received at the armory and will be distributed to the men on Friday evening.

Former Sergt. Instructor Willard Miller who is now stationed at Ft. Meyer, Va., visited New Castle Monday and Tuesday. He was glad to hear that there have been new developments in the armory project.

Sergt. Steltz of Bellefonte, will continue his duties as sergeant instructor of the local outfit by coming out here monthly to inspect Troop F.

Maj. Wolfe and Capt. Shelton will be visitors here on Nov. 13.

The supply sergeant will be at the armory Thursday from 1 to 3 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9:30 in the evening for guardsmen who wish to hand in their summer uniforms. Pay checks will be withheld until uniforms are returned.

CANT HOOK INJURY FATAL TO FARMER

NEW SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 28.—Struck on the head by a cant hook while loading logs on the Jefferson Detrow farm, naer Columbiana, Allen Shaffer, 75, lifelond resident of this community, was instantly killed Tuesday.

Never Mind the Ball, Play the Game

It looks as if nobody was paying much attention to the ball as this picture was made during the grid battle between the University of Southern California and the University of California Bears at the Memorial Stadium, Berkeley, Cal. Shaver of the Southern Californians is shown punting the ball from behind his own goal line while a melee of tacklers and interference men goes on before him. Southern California won the game 6—0, keeping their unbeaten record intact and advancing another step towards the Pacific Coast Championship.

GREAT GRID TEAMS OF THE PAST

BY BILL RITT

NO. 2—CORNELL GROWS UP—1901.

Cornell, a mild, small pink in 1887 when the Lake Cayuga school turned to football became the Big Red in 1901 with one of the east's greatest pigskin patrols.

The Ithicans had passed through a rapid period of gridiron growth highlights of where were the development of such stars as Clint Wyckoff, Cornell's first All-American: Glenn L. (Pop) Warner, a great guard, and Win Osgood, a blond line blaster and victories over such formidable foes as Lafayette, Columbia and Michigan.

Came 1901 and Cornell's greatest year.

* * *

The first of the really "Big Red" elevens was captained by Bill Warner, kid brother of Pop, now Stanford coach, who had also captained Cornell in his day.

At the other guard post was Hunt, a fighting lineman. There were three first-class tackles—Torney and Lueder and Smith. Kent, known as Peewee, was a watchcharm center but a brilliant player.

Tydeman, a tow-headed terror, and Taussig, a black-haired behemoth, were the ends. Brewster was not only a shrewd field leader but a star ball carrier as well. Lightning legged were Finucane and Coffin at the halfback posts. Schoelkoph was all a fullback should be—he smashed through a line like a brick through a plateglass window.

* * *

This formidable phalanx opened the season against a hapless Colgate crew, crushing the Hamilton boys under a 17-0 score.

Bucknell held Cornell to six points but could not score and Union was crushed 24-0.

Next were the red warriors of Carlisle. The Indians never knew what hit them. The Big Red blaze seared through the Carlisle line, around it and scorched its way to the goal line to score 17 points to the Indians' none.

Oberlin was easy 29-0. Princeton—and disaster—followed for Cornell. With the score a tie, 6-6 Princeton was awarded a safety in the final minutes of the game to give the Tigers victory.

Maddened at this unexpected defeat, Cornell smashed Lehigh 30-0, and Columbia 24-0 on successive week ends.

* * *

The season's windup was with Pennsylvania. The Red and Blue, ancient enemy of the Ithicans had never been defeated by Cornell

Coffin opened the holocaust with a brilliant 84 yard race to touchdown A Cornell end caught a Penn punt and trekked like a bullet over 85 yards for another score. Dazed, Penn tried to bolster a defense but the massacre was on.

Penn fought desperately but at game's end Cornell was triumphant 24-6. Penn's irritating superiority in previous seasons had been wiped out and the Big Red had won its spurs—a magnificent team had concluded one of the most brilliant campaigns in football history.

Sections Of Road May Be Abandoned

Viewers at the court house this morning took testimony on the proposed abandonment of sections of the old right of way of the Perry highway between McCracken's bridge south of Harlansburg and the Muddycreek bridge. When the Perry highway was improved it was moved east to eliminate grades, particularly on what is known as the Pumkintown hill. There are certain sections of the old road that it is proposed to abandon. The hearing was adjourned without any action being taken.

Talent is that which is in a man's power: genius is that in whose power a man is.—Lowell.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Market Is Unsettled In Early Trading

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—All sections of the market dropped off to lower price levels in the first hour today behind a sharp and persistent selling wave which flowed in at the opening bell.

Losses in the speculative favorites ranged from 1 to 6 points. New York Central and Pennsylvania broke through to new low price levels, while Union Pacific, a large holder of other rail shares, dropped back 6 points to 100. Atchison lost 3½ points.

United States Steel was under pressure and fell off 2¼ points to 65. American Tel. and Tel. lost 3 points at 134¾. Consolidated Gas, at the head of the utility, reacted 2¼ to 70 and J. I. Case lost about 2 points at 48¾. Auburn Auto, leading the activity in the high-priced specialties, sold off 6½ points at 118.

The prospect of a dividend cut for Pennsylvania Railroad later in the day and the unfavorable third-quarter earnings report for United States Steel Corporation unsettled the market at the beginning of the new session, accounting largely for the early outpouring of selling. British election results pointed to the probability of higher tariff walls against imports of all kinds.

HEARING ON ROAD DAMAGE CASE HELD

Hearing was held before viewers at the court house this morning on a claim of Bertha Lampas for damages to her property by reason of the building of route 265 near Enon. It is claimed that the property was damaged when the roadway was moved close to the house.

The White House, in Washington is considered the most valuable residence property in the world.

KIWANIS ENJOYS COEN'S MESSAGE

"Game Conservation" Theme Of Timely Talk By State Warden Today

What effort it takes to provide sufficient game for Lawrence county sportsmen to hunt each year in the neighboring woodlands was recounted today in the address which Frank L. Coen, county game protector, gave before the Kiwanis club.

Coen spoke following the club's customary luncheon in the Elks' club.

Taking "Game Conservation" for his subject, the state-employed guardian showed just how careless hunting methods bring destructive results. He asked cooperation from the sportsmen in bringing game law violations to his attention.

Speaking of the amount of game distributed this year, Coen declared that 1,020 rabbits, 550 ringneck pheasants, 28 racoons and 12 squirrels had been released in Lawrence county prior to the breeding season last spring. He referred to the necessarily large amount of preparation demanded before each hunting season.

One of his chief duties as game warden, it was brought out, is to promote friendly feelings between hunters and farmers. Hunters must respect their rights if hunting grounds here are not to be closed entirely.

The name of W. F. Moody was substituted today in the list of club nominees for president, following the withdrawal of Judge J. A. Chambers as a candidate. Moody and C. M. England will be candidates. The election occurs November 11.

Guests of the Kiwanians included Charles A. Jones Phillipsburg, and Alderman W. E. Marshall, this city.

Two Are Killed In Auto Crashes

Young Woman And Man Are Victims Of Westmoreland Accidents

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 28.—Automobile accidents in Westmoreland county today claimed the lives of two persons, a man and a woman, and serious injuries to three others.

The dead: Miss Frances Williams, 25, of Pitcairn, and Steve Iwaniszk, 54, of New Alexandria.

The injured: Lillian Painter, 24, Pitcairn, in Westmoreland hospital with a fractured ankle; and lacerations; Carl Kemerer, 25, Pitcairn, taken home after injuries were treated at hospital; W. R. Portzer, 25, Pitcairn, the driver, minor injuries.

Miss Williams was dead upon her arrival at the hospital, having suffered a fracture of the skull and internal injuries.

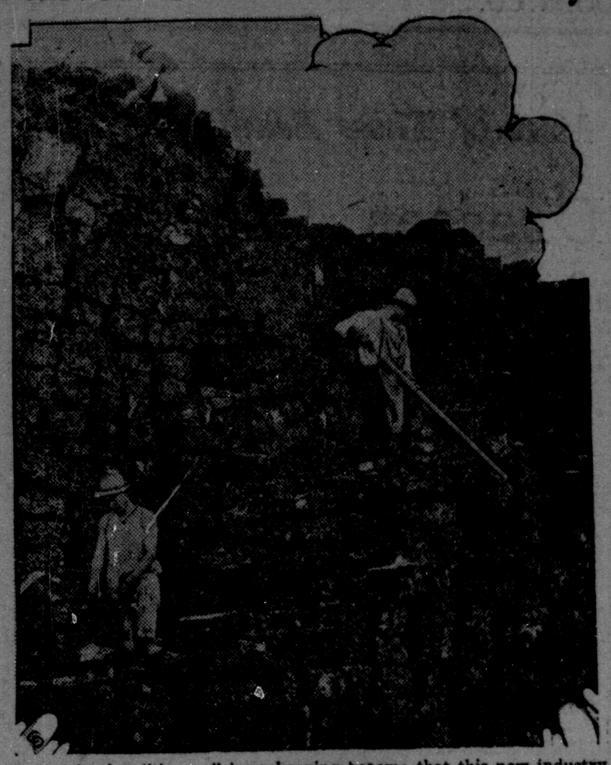
Portzer was driving the machine enroute to Pitcairn early this morning, when he lost control and the car swerved into a telegraph pole, overturning.

Iwaniszk was killed when struck by a car while he was on his way to work. The car did not stop.

SUIT IS FILED TO RECOVER ON BILL

The Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Manufacturing Company has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Ralph J. Herge, trading as the Herge Radio and Elecceric Shop, for $300, alleged to be for merchandise furnished by the plaintiff to defendant.

Wives Create New Industry



So popular has "tin can" housekeeping become that this new industry has been created in Los Angeles, where thousands of empty cans are thrown away every month by wives who can't be bothered with preparing "old-fashioned" meals. The problem of what to do with the mountain of cans in the city dump has been solved with huge magnets which extract the metal containers from the other debris. The tin is then fed to presses and compressed into bales above. These will soon make more tin cans for more tinned food for more "tin" housewives.

School Children Perform Tonight

"Autumn Revue" Benefit To Be Staged Tonight And Thursday Night

Senior high school auditorium should be filled to capacity tonight for the first evening performance of the "Autumn Revue" which is being presented by the students of the public schools for the benefit of the school relief fund.

Tuesday afternoon a matinee was held which was both a dress rehearsal for the cast and an opportunity for the school children to see what their fellow students could do. Tonight is really the premier of the production and the advance reports indicate that it is well worth the price of admission.

Not only is the show worth seeing, but the receipts of the performances will go to the relief fund which will be used in providing shoes and food for unfortunate youngsters this winter.

The "Autumn Revue" is a series of variety sketches which have been built up in the various schools under the direction of Miss Gladys Rich and many of them show some charming originality. Music, comedy, and dramatics combine to offer a real evening's entertainment. The revue will be presented tonight and Thursday night.

Bridge Job Cost Is Less Than Contract

It is not often that a construction job costs less than the contract price but such seems to be the case on the contract for repairs to the East Washington street bridge. The job was let to Burns & Ferry at a price of $11,031.31, and the final settlement shows that the contractors will receive $10,785.56. T. A. Gilkey, engineer, stated this morning that a credit of $245.75 was secured, owing to the fact that there was not quite as much excavating as had been anticipated.

White To Return Here On Thursday

City Solicitor Robert M. White is expected back in New Castle Thursday after a trip to Harrisburg and Pittsburgh where he attended hearings of the Public Service Commission on the application of the Harmony company for freight carrying certificates.

At the Harrisburg meeting Mr. White protested vigorously against the application for a certificate to carry freight on a direct route between New Castle and Pittsburgh.

ACCIDENTS REPORTED

R. Collins of Volant, Pa., R. D. No. 1, reported Tuesday that he was enroute west on Croton avenue at Crawford avenue, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license JJ799 going east on Croton, ran into and damaged his car.

Theodore H. Maytag Is Killed In Iowa

Was Member Of Board Of Taylor University And Known To Local Methodists

Rev. Sam Maitland, pastor of the Greenwood Methodist church, is in receipt of a telegram this morning informing him of the death of Theodore H. Maytag of Iowa, who was killed in an automobile accident while on his way to attend a Methodist conference being held in Iowa this week.

Mr. Maytag was known personally by Rev. Sam Maitland, as they have associated much in their work on the board of the Taylor University, of which they were members.

Thieves Ransack Home And Take Much Of Value

Take House And Bed Furnishings Valued At Five Hundred Dollars

Some time Tuesday, probably last night, the home of Cowden R. Moore, 217 Northview Ave. was thoroughly ransacked during the absence of the members of the household and clothing, bed furnishings, silverware and other articles to the value of approximately five hundred dollars taken.

The family had been in the country and did not return home until about one o'clock this morning, when they discovered that their home had been entered.

Among the missing articles were table linens, blankets, bed clothing of all kinds, silverware, a suit of clothing, dresses, in fact everything of value in a household, which could be transported with ease.

Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch made the investigation and are working on the case.

Sportsmen Will Meet Thursday

Meeting To Take Place At Y. M. C. A.—Stream Pollution To Be Up

Sportsmen and men who are only casually interested in sport are invited to the get-together of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association which will be held Thursday evening, October 29, in the Y. M. C. A. The affair will open the winter activities of the Sportsmen's association and President Andy Dodds is anxious that a good crowd be present.

Five reels of Canadian outdoor pictures will be shown and a supply of doughnuts and cider will be on hand to take care of the material needs of the guests.

There is no charge for the party Thursday evening and any man interested in outdoor life is cordially invited to attend. It is probable also there will be some discussion concerning the pollution of the Slippery Rock creek which just now is attracting considerable attention from sportsmen who want to keep the stream clean.

The American railroads last year spent $300,000,000 for improvements in their safety devices.

Dilks To Make Record Attempt

Plans To Run From Meadville To New Castle, Next Week

Earl Lin Dilks, New Castle's own long distance runner, whose feats of racing against horses have astounded athletes, fair officials and sporting enthusiasts, will attempt to make the 62½ mile run from Meadville to this city early next week, running between a motorcycle and an automobile in an effort to lower the world's record.

The American Indian road record for this distance is 9 hours, 37 minutes, held jointly by Tabiro and San Miguel, who in Nov., 1926, spanned the highways from Panchua to Mexico City.

Dilks' manager for his coming run will be Garfield Davis of New Castle. Davis was with the runner over the New Castle-Erie road in 1928 when Dilks laid claim to the world's record for 82-mile road work by the margin of 1 hour and 2 minutes, his time being 13 hours and 14 minutes.

Other officials who will conduct the Meadville-New Castle race against time will be Corporal L. J. Lawton of the local State Highway Patrol sub station and John Travers, manager of a local shop. Corp. Lawton will head the procession in a side car motorcycle and assist the runner thru traffic. Dilks will run between the motorcycle and the test car driven by Travers.

Thayer Jury Is Debating Verdict

Canton Case Went To Jury Late Tuesday Afternoon After Trial

(International News Service)

CANTON, O., Oct. 28.—Debating the case for nine hours without arriving at a verdict, the jury for the trial of Albert I. Thayer, of New Castle, Pa., on charges of soliciting a bribe of $7,500, returned to the courtroom shortly before noon today to ask Judge E. H. Diehl for further instructions.

The case was given to the jury late yesterday, and after failing to reach an agreement was taken to a hotel at 10 o'clock last night. Deliberations were resumed at 9 a. m. today.

Thayer was charged with soliciting a bribe from George F. S. Mebourne, while both men were employd on the construction of the Molly Stark hospital here. Thayer, an architect, attempted to establish an alibi as his defense during the trial, by contending that he was not in Canton at the time the indictment charged the bribe was demanded.

Take Castaways From Island In Pacific Ocean

Three American Young Men, Marooned Explorers Endure Hardships Of Island

ARE DRESSED IN LION CLOTHES

(International News Service)

PANAMA CITY, Oct. 28.—Rescued by the United States Gunboat Sacramento, three Americans who had been marooned since April 15 on the Cocos Island, 500 miles southwest of here in the Pacific Ocean, were enroute today to Chatham Bay, Pacific entrance of the Panama Canal.

The castaways, Paul Stachwick, Huron, S. D.; Gordon Brawner, Springfield, Ill., and Earl Palliser, San Diego, Cal., took refuge on the island when their sailing boat was wrecked.

They had been living on cocoanuts, fish and wild pig, and had no clothing except for lion cloths when taken abroad the American gunboat.

A radio dispatch from the rescue ship said the men were in excellent physical condition despite the hardships they had suffered.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

After many moons silence, Ray Perry of Pittsburgh, California, is heard from again. When he was here Ray had two weaknesses, football and quartet singing. He still has the football weakness for he wants to know how come New Castle dropped a few this season. And he modestly admits that he is a Golden State booster.

A lot of married men had a night out last night. There was a male tea party held and after attending it I'm convinced that it is possible to put in an entire social evening without playing bridge or arguing Prohibition. Neither were in evidence at the party and yet forty men had a good time all evening.

No doubt you'll be down in Slabtown Thursday night. The annual Hallowe'en parade is on, and if it follows the usual line there won't be room enough down there to park an idea about eight o'clock. If you have a costume, get i the parade and win a ham or a basket of groceries.

Now that Hamilton street is resurfaced, you can drive over it without pulverizing your springs. It wasn't an expensive job, but it's a job well done and the people of Hamilton street and the streets running into it are once again connected with the outside world.

The Pittsburgh police department can now be classified as a gold plated force. In making arrangements for the motorcade to Turtle Creek, the department was asked to provide thee or four cops to guide the motorcade through the traffic of Penn avenue and over the 40th street bridge.

The answer was that the department would be delighted to provide four men for that purpose, for $1.00. Figure that one out if you can. The work would have taken the four men not over an hour at the outside.

If four Pittsburgh cops are worth $1.00 for a scant hour's work, how much should a bushel of parsnips bring if the bid is in spades.

CITY EMPLOYEES GIVEN REDUCTION

MONONGAHELA, Pa., Oct. 28.—Ordinances providing a 10 per cent reduction in salaries of all city employees except those fixed by third class city laws were passed on first reading by the city council. Final passage is expected next week. Seventeen employees will be affected and an annual saving of $3,000 is anticipated.

Moorhead Gives Blevins Support

"But when a long train of abuses and usurpations pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under obsolute Despotism, it is their Right, it is their Duty, to throw off such Government and to provide new Guards for their future Security." From Declaration of Independence, 1776.

This was the answer of the American Colonists to the tyranies of King George, the 3rd.

This is my answer to the political, close corporation headed officially by William A. Eakin.

Had the Political Gang headed by W. A. Eakin withheld my name from their senile political advertisements I might have passed them by in the silence they so richly deserve. It is true that after the announcement of the fourth and final ballot of the convention held October 3rd, showing a vote of 65 for McCaslin and 64 for me, believing that none but legal ballots had been cast or counted, I did move to make his nomination unanimous. This is the usual perfunctory course to pursue in cases like this. However I found that two County Officials had procured two illegal and unqualified votes and had them cast and counted for McCaslin under the supervision of W. A. Eakin, Chief Clerk to the County Commissioners and Chairman of the Republican County Committee.

Because of this I know I was nominated by the legal voters of this convention. As challenged or unchallenged these votes should not have been counted. This illegal voting constituted a fraud against me, and the legal majority of the committee there present, as well as the Republican electorate of the county.

Believing this I would not be true to my sense of justice, fairness and decency without resenting the same.

I am therefore against this handpicked candidate for County Controller and am unqualifiedly for Mr. John C. Blevins for County Controller. I firmly believe the electorate of Lawrence County will keep this new office clean by electing Mr. Blevins another Republican, a clean man, an honest man, a man of integrity and a man of determination, who if elected will be an "uncontrolled controller." This is the kind of a man who must be elected, else the whole object and intention of the office will be perverted and will have failed.

To my many friends, I wish to thank you for your loyal support. Your offers of continued support can best be expressed by voting for John C. Blevins for County Controller, thereby saving this new and extremely important office unsullied for service for the clean and honest people of the county.

Scottish Rite Members To Hold General Meeting

Meeting In Cathedral Will Be Preceded By Dinner On November 4

In order to keep the members of the New Castle Consistory informed of the financial condition of The Cathedral, and to assist the Board of Directors of the Cathedral Association in improving the financial situation, a general meeting of the membership of the Scottish Rite bodies has been called for Wednesday evening, November 4.

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30, at which time Hon. James J. Davis will be a guest and possibly former governor John S. Fisher, in addition to many prominent members of the Masonic fraternity outside the membership of the local body.

There will be entertainment following the dinner, besides addresses by these prominent men, and the members will be informed what has been done in the management of the Cathedral Building during the past two years and what the prospects are for the coming two or three years.

This will give an opportunity for any members who have questions to ask to present them. Reservations for the dinner must be made prior to November 2, 1931.

Mrs. Anna Eves, Department Instructor, Makes Her Official Visit To Local Tent

The Eliza Winans McBride Tent 20 of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, held their regular meeting in the City Building Tuesday evening with a large attendance of the members and president, Mrs. Maude Fisher, in the chair.

Mrs. Jessie Crooks, department president; Mrs. Pearl Cook, department secretary, and Mrs. Anna Eves of Tyrone, department inspector, were escorted into the room by the colors and introduced. Two new members were initiated.

Mrs. Crooks, the department president, made her official visit to the tent and Mrs. Eves inspected the ceremonies.

Donations for the Hawkins Home at Swissvale were received at this time and a number of the members will attend the harvest home dinner Thursday at that place and attend the dedication of the room Tent 20 has furnished. Dinner will be served at noon at the home and local persons will take part in the program.

Mrs. Anna Eves was presented with a gift from Tent 20, with Mrs. Rose Tripp, past president, making the presentation speech.

Visitors present Tuesday evening included Commander D. M. Clarke of G. A. R. post 100; past commander, C. B. Hamilton; Ralph Campbell of the Sons of Veterans and Mr. Granis, also of the Sons organization.

Plans were made for a card party on Tuesday, Nov. 10' with Mrs. Pearl Cook as the chairlady.

Lunch was served by the committee: Mrs. Emma McKissick, Mrs. Margaret Hammond and Anna Patterson, with Hallowe'en decorations adorning the tables.

Tuesday, Nov. 10, will mark the date of the next regular meeting.

German Youth Fill Colleges; One-Fifth Girls

By WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—If the present rush of German youth of the Universities continues almost every German will be a graduate within the next fifty years.

According to the latest statistics on German colleges and universities the number of students has more than doubled in the last twenty-five years, so that there is now one student for every six hundred inhabitants in the country.

While the total number of students was 50,000 in 1906 it has now risen to approximately 100,000, including girls. The number of girl students amounts to more than one fifth of the total of German students. The steadily growing number of girl students and the lack of jobs available for youngsters leaving the schools have mainly contributed to the steady growth of the German "academic proletariat."
